Creating Caring and Nurturing Educational Environments for African American Children Vivian Morris, Curtis Morris, 2000-01-30 The history of the education of African American children in one Alabama town is reconstructed over a period of 100 years from the First Reconstruction period to the Second Reconstruction period Governor George Wallace s stand in the schoolhouse door Lessons learned from this case study in addition to 15 years of desegregated education in the community provides a perspective for educational policymakers to consider as they attempt to plan effective schools in the 21st century for all children in America Many have viewed segregated schools for African American students as dens of educational pathology with poor teachers and administrators poorly operated academic programs and activities dilapidated school buildings and scarce resources Until the last two decades little had been written about the internal functioning of these schools or the positive impact of their efforts from the perspective of their students families teachers or administrators Despite being underfunded understaffed and issued second hand books and equipment this school and community worked together as did many other African American schools and communities to create effective schooling for children This study addresses four major questions 1 What kinds of educational experiences did teachers and principals view as important for the successful education of African American children 2 How did the school interact with parents and the community 3 How did the educational environment change when African American children began attending desegregated schools 4 What can we learn from this successful school for African American children as well as their experiences in the desegregated setting that will provide a perspective for educational policymakers as we plan effective schools for all children in this country The findings from this case study present a perspective on which educational policymakers can build as we plan caring nurturing and equitable learning environments for children in schools in all communities News Digest ,1986 Bali with Kids ,

The Good News About Bad Behavior Katherine Reynolds Lewis,2018-04-17 The current model of parental discipline is as outdated as a rotary phone Why don t our kids do what we want them to do Parents often take the blame for misbehavior but this obscures a broader trend in our modern highly connected age children have less self control than ever About half of the current generation of children will develop a mood or behavioral disorder or a substance addiction by age eighteen Contemporary kids need to learn independence and responsibility yet our old ideas of punishments and rewards are preventing this from happening To stem this growing crisis of self regulation journalist and parenting expert Katherine Reynolds Lewis articulates what she calls The Apprenticeship Model a new theory of discipline that centers on learning the art of self control Blending new scientific research and powerful individual stories of change Lewis shows that if we trust our children to face consequences they will learn to adapt and moderate their own behavior She watches as chaotic homes become peaceful bewildered teachers see progress and her own family grows and evolves in light of these new ideas You ll recognize your own family in Lewis s sensitive realistic stories and you ll find a path to making everyone in your home more capable kinder and happier including yourself God's Good News Through Puppets Mitchell Matthews,2005-06
