No Speed Limit Stuart Bladon, 2015-10-05 During his sixty years as a motoring journalist Stuart Bladon test drove almost every car on the road Working for Autocar and later as a freelance writer he was granted access to some of the oddest vehicles off the road as well including the three wheeled Bond Minicar in which he was very nearly killed The best part of any car test however was finding out how fast they would go

In 1970 he set what was for a long time Autocar's fastest road test maximum speed at 172mph. Going back to the days when the only speed limit was the 30mph restriction in built up areas each chapter of this book brings a motoring story of travel testing and adventure. Since a fond aunt began teaching him to drive at the age of 7 Stuart Bladon has enjoyed a lifelong passion for cars. This book recounts the many motors and the colourful escapades of a life spent very near if not over the speed limit.

Political Economy of Malaysia's Industrial Policy Firdausi Suffian, 2021-02-22. This book examines the national automotive policy in Malaysia to help readers gain an understanding of the country's industrial policy making processes. Addressing a gap in analysis of the political economy of the national automotive policy, the research presented combines the new institutional theory and the developmental state approach to provide new insights into elite policymakers' measures to shield domestic automotive enterprises from pro-market reforms. The formation of the national car project marks a turning point for Malaysia's industrial development as a country which it envisions will lead to it becoming a major player in the global automotive market. However, the domestic institutional factors embedded in ethno-economic interests and patronage constrain national car makers, limiting their potential to grow and instead causing a slowdown in the industry. Allowing readers to understand the background to Malaysia's heavy industrialisation programme and the birth of its national car projects, this book critically discusses the significance of institutional context in policy outcomes and highlights how institutions and policies have impacted growth or decline. It is a valuable resource relevant to analysts, researchers and students who are interested in the political economy of the national industrial policy and automotive industry in Malaysia and beyond.
