Gallery and Museum Education: Purpose, Pedagogy and Practice Purnima Ruanglertbutr, 2014-12-01 This special edition of the Journal of Artistic and Creative Education JACE brings together authors from across Australia discussing issues central to the ongoing development and importance of education within museums What are the distinctive characteristics and significance of museum education How does learning occur in museums and what does it look like Who is engaged in museum education and where does it take place What are some of the benefits of museum education This edition explores these broad questions through nine articles that individually address the role of museum learning as providing a transformative experience in a rich hands on and diverse environment The authors present a wide array of case studies and examples from their institutions and their research providing practical and invigorating discussions on the purpose pedagogy and practice of museum education At a time when there are significant cuts being made to education budgets in Australia thereby often limiting excursions to museums and other cultural sites it seems timely to publish a special edition that sheds light on the power of learning in museums and to make a case for museum learning Moreover museums are already producing effective learning experiences that are highly appreciated by their users and these deserve to be celebrated This celebration will hopefully lead to increased appreciation and understanding of the educational possibilities in museums and galleries of why professionals have chosen to work in particular ways and the outcomes of their work

Museums and Higher Education Working Together Ms Catherine Speight, Ms Jos Boys, Professor Anne Boddington, 2013-12-28 Over the last twenty years the educational role of the museum has come to be central to its mission There are now far more educational opportunities new spaces new interfaces both digital and physical and a growing number of education and interpretation departments educational curators and public engagement programmes Despite these developments however higher education has remained a marginal collaborator compared to primary and secondary schools and to other forms of adult learning This has meant that the possibilities for partnerships between universities colleges museums and galleries has remained relatively unexplored especially in relation to their potential for generating innovative patterns of research and learning This book addresses the key issues which are preventing such partnerships and examines how to enable more effective and creative connections between museums and higher education The authors identify conceptual and practical barriers and explore whether current academic models are fit for purpose They argue that as pressures mount on public educational resources around the world there needs to be an urgent increase in the exchange of knowledge across these sectors and the forging of world class scholarly partnerships Examples of research undertaken internationally offer best practice models for collaboration and integration This book will be compulsory reading for museum and educational specialists and those interested in engaging in museum higher education partnerships It will also be of interest to those involved in policy and decision making in education the museum sector and national and local government

Museums and Higher Education Working Together Jos Boys, 2016-04-22 Over the last twenty years the educational role of the museum has come to be central to its mission There are now far more educational opportunities new spaces new interfaces both digital and physical and a growing number of education and interpretation departments educational curators and public engagement programmes Despite these developments however higher education has remained a marginal collaborator compared to primary and secondary schools and to other forms of adult learning This has meant that the possibilities for partnerships between universities colleges museums and galleries has remained relatively unexplored especially in relation to their potential for generating innovative patterns of research and learning This book addresses the key issues which are preventing such partnerships and examines how to enable more effective and creative connections between museums and higher education The authors identify conceptual and practical barriers and explore whether current academic models are fit for purpose They argue that as pressures mount on public educational resources around the world there needs to be an urgent increase in the exchange of knowledge across these sectors and the forging of world class scholarly partnerships Examples of research undertaken internationally offer best practice models for collaboration and integration This book will be compulsory reading for museum and educational specialists and those interested in engaging in museum higher education partnerships It will also be of interest to those involved in policy and decision making in education the museum sector and national and local government Purposeful

Janes, 2009-05-12 Are Museums Irrelevant Museums are rarely acknowledged in the global discussion of climate change environmental degradation the inevitability of depleted fossil fuels and the myriad local issues concerning the well being of particular communities suggesting the irrelevance of museums as social institutions At the same time there is a growing preoccupation among museums with the marketplace and museums unwittingly or not are embracing the values of relentless consumption that underlie the planetary difficulties of today Museums in a Troubled World argues that much more can be expected of museums as publicly supported and knowledge based institutions The weight of tradition and a lack of imagination are significant factors in museum inertia and these obstacles are also addressed Taking an interdisciplinary approach combining anthropology ethnography museum studies and management theory this book goes beyond conventional museum thinking Robert R Janes explores the meaning and role of museums as key intellectual and civic resources in a time of profound social and environmental change This volume is a constructive examination of what is wrong with contemporary museums written from an insider s perspective that is grounded in both hope and pragmatism The book s conclusions are optimistic and constructive and highlight the unique contributions that museums can make as social institutions embedded in their communities and owned by no one

Museums and Social Change Adele Chynoweth, Bernadette Lynch, Klaus Petersen, Sarah Smed, 2020-07-09 Museums and Social Change explores the ways museums can work in collaboration with marginalised groups to work for social change and in so doing rethink the museum Drawing on the first hand experiences of museum practitioners and their partners around the world the volume demonstrates the impact of a shared commitment to collaborative reflective practice Including analytical discussion from practitioners in their collegial work with women the homeless survivors of institutionalised child abuse and people with disabilities the book draws attention to the significant contributions of small specialist museums in bringing about social change It is here the book argues that the new museum emerges when museum practitioners see themselves as partners working with others to lead social change this is where museums can play a distinct and important role Emerging in response to ongoing calls for museums to be more inclusive and participate in meaningful engagement Museums and Social Change will be essential reading for academics and students working in museum and gallery studies librarianship archives heritage studies and arts management It will also be of great interest to those working in history and cultural studies as well as museum practitioners and social activists around the world

Representing the Sporting Past in Museums and Halls of Fame Murray G. Phillips, 2013-06-17 We live in a museum age and sport museums are part of this phenomenon In this book leading international sport history scholars examine sport museums including renowned institutions like the Olympic Museum in the Swiss city of Lausanne the Babe Ruth Birthplace and Museum in Baltimore the Marylebone Cricket Club Museum in London the Croke Park Museum in Dublin and the Whyte Museum in Banff These institutions are examined in a broad context of understanding sport museums as an identifiable genre in the museum age and more specifically in terms of how the sporting past is represented in these museums Historians explain debate and critique sport museums with the intention of understanding how this important form of public history represents sport for audiences who see museums as institutions that are inherently reliable and trustworthy

Museums and Design Education Rebecca Reynolds, 2016-04-15 How can museum educators and higher education tutors enhance the way HE students use museums There are many examples in the UK of museums and universities working together in productive and innovative ways but these relationships tend to be based on individual enthusiasm and opportunistic arrangements Despite the growing importance of museum education departments higher education tends to be overlooked by museums This book looks at the interaction between design students and museums and explores issues projects and emerging ideas about how museums can better support HE students It illustrates the general lessons that can be learnt both strategic and practical which can help to bring about long term and constructive relationships between museums and universities in order to enable effective student learning
