Rebuilding The Nest A New Commitment To The American Family:

War Over the Family David Popenoe, 2017-09-29 One of the most surprising and controversial social debates of the past two decades has been about the meaning and importance of marriage and the family in contemporary American life Referred to by some as a culture war over the family the debate has pitted those concerned about the weakening of the traditional married parent nuclear family especially in its impact on children against those arguing that nothing has gone wrong with families that they are merely diversifying David Popenoe has been one of the most influential figures in laying out for a wide audience the importance of family decline and what it means for our children our society and our future Beyond

Rhetoric DIANE Publishing Company, 1995-10 Presents the Commission's findings conclusions and recommendations Part 1 focuses on the crisis facing the nation's children and families Part 2 presents the Commission's agenda for the 1990's organized into chapters focused on the broad policy areas that are most vital to children and families Part 3 summarizes the Commission's vision for a better society and their recommendations for building the necessary commitment to achieve it Photos and graphs

Family Policy Matters Karen Bogenschneider, 2003-01-30 Drawing on hundreds of studies in the last 20 years the new edition of Family Policy Matters brings a fresh perspective to family policy underscoring why it is needed and outlining how policymaking should be approached Author Karen Bogenschneider proposes a theoretical framework for conceptualizing policy issues in a way that holds the potential for overcoming controversy and identifying common ground This new edition includes updates on the most current research including new issues that have changed the political landscape for families e g strengthening marriage initiative same sex marriage an updated section on state statutes or Governor's orders that require family impact analysis a new chapter on the history of family policy in this century a new appendix on how to conduct a family impact analysis and two new case studies on writing family policy newsletters for state policymakers and teaching family impact analysis to the general public Instructor's Manual with sample syllabi for both undergraduate and graduate courses suggested readings assignments and class activities discussion questions daily lesson plans instructor insights special presentations to enrich one's class and PowerPoint slides The targeted audience includes researchers interested in seeing their research and ideas acted upon in the policy world family professionals who work to connect research and policymaking and instructors interested in making family policy come alive for undergraduate and graduate students This book is an ideal textbook for family policy courses

Family Leave Policy: The Political Economy of Work and Family in America Steven K. Wisensale, 2015-05-15 Written in an accessible case study format this groundbreaking work explores the formulation implementation and evaluation of family leave policy in the United States from its beginnings at the state level in the early 1980s through the adoption of the federal Family and Medical Leave Act of 1993 and beyond to the present day With a political economy perspective the book identifies the major economic and social forces affecting both the family and the workplace And drawing on original primary research it examines how the political system has responded to this evolving issue with various policy initiatives Family Ministry Diana R. Garland,1999-12-20 This book by Diana Garland provides a multifaceted well informed sense of both the Christian purpose of family and the complex world our families inhabit Winner of the 2000 Academy of Parish Clergy Book of the Year award Family Homelessness Karleen Jackson,2021-12-24 First published in 2000 This book examines the multiple factors which contribute to family homelessness and uses quantitative and qualitative analyses to identify those factors which represent the major supports and barriers to homeless exit and housing stability Results show that while family homelessness is not caused by a single issue but a combination of issues including alcohol substance abuse untreated mental illness domestic violence family configuration lack of community or social supports and or lack of affordable housing options community and social supports provide the single most significant impact on the ability of families to exit homelessness and maintain stable housing Quantitative data suggests that investing in community social supports for homeless families could facilitate their exit from homelessness and increase housing stability for families at risk while reducing those supports might increase homelessness Qualitative data indicates that supportive relationships are instrumental to understanding that while homelessness is a terrible experience those who experience homelessness are not terrible people Furthermore recognizing that a loss of housing does not necessarily mean the loss of one s symbolic representation of home could assist families in viewing homelessness as a transformational learning experience rather than a traumatic failure Family David Cheal,2003 This international collection features the most influential scholarship published during the past few decades on the concept of the family and related issues An invaluable resource for students and researchers alike the four volumes cover the following themes Vol 1 Family Groups Vol 2 Family and Gender Issues Vol 3 Family Ties Vol 4 Family and Society The scope offers an international range of material and includes key work from the USA Europe Canada Australia and Asia Human Behavior in the Social Environment from an African American Perspective Letha A See,2013-04-03 In Human Behavior in the Social Environment from an African American Perspective leading black scholars come together to discuss complex human behavior problems faced by African Americans and to force the abandonment of conceptualization theories made without consideration of the Black experience Challenging you to engage in different thinking and develop new theories for addressing the needs of African Americans this book highlights the assets of black individuals families and communities and guides you through program interventions and public policies that strengthen and empower African Americans You will learn to enhance your clients coping strategies and resilience by factoring in their strengths rather than focusing on their weaknesses Human Behavior in the Social Environment from an African American Perspective contextualizes community behavior patterns gender roles and changing contemporary identities to challenge your assumptions about African American culture and communities and convince you to rethink your intervention strategies and methods To further help you fine tune your service delivery this book leads you through discussions on help seeking behaviors of young street males the association of sociocultural risk factors with suicides

the use of emotive behavior therapy to help African Americans cope with the prospect of imminent death advocating for changes in institutions and systems which negatively impact the lives of the poor and the oppressed how social work has ignored one segment of the African American community young girls in urban settings psychological consequences of coming of age in a hostile environment Social workers community based groups policymakers and other helping professionals owe it to their clients to shrug off culturally incompetent services and care Using Human Behavior in the Social Environment from an African American Perspective as a guide you will learn to redress your programs and policies with a sensitivity to the factors and mechanisms that maximize the buoyancy of disadvantaged groups over various stages of their life development

Toward More Family-Centered Family Sciences Howard M. Bahr, Kathleen S. Bahr, 2009-03-16 Much academic writing on families reflects the ideal of non involvement and distanced subject matter Toward More Family Centered Family Sciences suggests that the family sciences in their effort to be scientific have perpetuated this distance between researcher and subject to the detriment of both The authors argue that family and kinship ties are transcendent ties boundary crossing in numerous ways They place an emphasis on family love in contrast and in addition to romantic love and criticize current approaches for neglecting the importance of transcendent concepts such as love commitment respect and sacrifice in the development and well being of family structures Drawing from insights both inside and outside of academia the authors seek to reincorporate transcendent concepts into the study of the family as a unit of society They argue for a more collaborative family centered family science and offer recommendations for how family researchers might work to change the scientific monologue about families to a systemic dialogue with families

Alone Together Paul R. Amato, Alan Booth, David R. Johnson, Stacy J. Rogers, 2009-06-30 Based on two studies of marital quality in America twenty years apart Alone Together shows that while the divorce rate has leveled off spouses are spending less time together The authors argue that marriage is an adaptable institution and in accommodating the changes that have occurred in society it has become a less cohesive yet less confining arrangement
