GENERAL DESCRIPTION

Your SOMMERKAMP TS-2800X transceiver has been designed for continuous heavy duty mobile and base station application on AM, FM, LSB (Lower Single Sideband), USB (Upper Single Sideband) or CW (Morse Key).

It can be operated with a microphone and internal speaker or headset, speaker/microphone combination, telephonedial incorporating automatic voice operated transmit/receive switching, external selective calling with automatic answer-back. One more special feature of your TS-2800X is that you can operate this transceiver also with an additional external remote microphone by which you can control channel selection, volume, squish and observe at the same time digital LED channel indication and S/R/F meter.

The transceiver is designed to operate with a 13.8V DC power supply as a base station or mobile station. Its straight forward 100 channel capability allows it to operate on any channel within 25.905 and 26.940 MHz.

RECEIVER SECTION

The receiver section is designed to receive either AM/FM, FR/T3, SSB/USB and CW/A3 signals in the 25.905 to 26.940 MHz band.

The unique combination of low noise Field Effect Transistors (FET), a combination of ceramic filters, L/C filters and crystal filter, efficient noise limiter (ANL) and a high quality speaker amplifier will give you exceptional reception quality.

In addition, the above combination of the latest technology provides you with a sensitivity and unwanted signal rejection and noise suppression available previously only in space and military communication equipment. Power supply of the receiver RF, IF and oscillator section is stabilized by an extreme sharp cut-off Zener diode to obtain the high sensitivity and unwanted signal rejection. The efficient series gate noise limiter, which virtually cuts off the audio output during ignition noise pulses, is defeatable to make even the weakest signal audible which otherwise would be cut off by the threshold level of the ANL switching diode.

The high squish sensitivity is achieved by using a separate squish detector and switching circuit with a carefully balanced hysteresis.

The transformerless HiFi quality audio amplifier will drive any load between 8 ohms and indefinite such as internal speaker or external speaker/microphone or headset combinations having the above impedances.

Thanks to the delta tune and VCO control, the reception coverage in all entire frequencies is possible.
