Greco, 2011-12-31

For decades university presses and other scholarly and professional publishers in the United States played a pivotal role in the transmission of scholarly knowledge Their books and journals became the gold standard in many academic fields for tenure promotion and merit pay Their basic business model was successful since this diverse collection of presses had a unique value proposition They dominated the scholarly publishing field with preeminent sales in three major markets or channels of distribution libraries and institutions college and graduate school adoptions and general readers i.e. sales to general retailers Yet this insulated world changed abruptly in the late 1990s What happened This book contains a superb series of articles originally published in The Journal of Scholarly Publishing by some of the best experts on scholarly communication in the western hemisphere Europe Asia and Africa These authors analyze in depth the diverse and exciting challenges and opportunities scholars universities and publishers face in what is a period of unusual turbulence in scholarly publishing The topics given attention include copyrights the transformation of scholarly publishing from a print format to a digital one open access scholarly publishing in emerging nations problems confronting journals and information on how certain academic disciplines are coping with the transformation of scholarly publishing This book is a must read for anyone interested in the scholarly publishing industry's past its current focus or future plans and developments Publishing from the South Sarah Nuttall, Isabel Hofmeyr, 2024-11-01 In 2022 Wits University Press marked its centenary making it the oldest most established university press in sub-Saharan Africa While in part modelled on scholarly publishers from the global North it has had to contend with the constraints of working under global South conditions marginalisation within the university budgetary limitations small local markets unequal access to international sales channels and the privileging of English language publishing over indigenous languages This volume explores what the Press has achieved and what its modes of reinvention might look like In widening and deepening our understanding of the Press as an example of a global South scholarly publisher this volume asks how publishing can contribute to a broader understanding of Southern knowledge production Featuring contributions from scholars publishers and authors this multi-voiced volume showcases the history of the Press's publishing activities over 100 years from documenting its evolution through book covers and giving credence to some of the leading black intellectuals and writers of the early 20th century and the success of those works in spite of their authors racial marginalisation to the role of women both in publishing and in the spaces afforded to women's writing on the

Press's list The collection concludes with essays by contemporary authors who detail not only their experiences of working with Southern publishers but also the politics and influences governing their decisions to choose the Press over a Northern publisher Publishing from the South shows the strategies deployed by the Press to professionalise Southern knowledge making and in the process demonstrating how university presses in the global South support the scholarly missions of their universities for both local and global audiences

Women in Scholarly Publishing Anna Kristina Hultgren, Pejman Habibie, 2023-09-29 Women in Scholarly Publishing explores the under researched topic of gender and scholarly publishing While often considered separately the relationship between gender and scholarly publishing has been neglected Bringing together experts across applied linguistics this book brings to the fore the challenges and opportunities faced by female academics in both Anglophone and non Anglophone contexts as they participate in the production and dissemination of knowledge Contributors show how female scholars' production and dissemination of knowledge intersect with gendered structures and disciplinary cultures in complex ways The key strands of work that this volume seeks to bring together include essentialism in gender studies and alternative perspectives on how gender should be viewed and studied in knowledge production and dissemination the specific ways in which the labour and conditions surrounding scholarly publication are gendered or perceived as gendered the examination of discourses texts and genres from a gender perspective and the continuing gendered and gendering impacts on career trajectories of women academics While women's barriers are documented across geopolitical contexts the book also shows how norms policies and practices can be challenged and alternative futures imagined The book will be of interest to researchers practitioners institutional decision makers writing mentors early career scholars and graduate students in a variety of fields
