Ritual And Spontaneity In The Psychoanalytic Process A Dialectical Constructivist View:

Ritual and Spontaneity in the Psychoanalytic Process Irwin Z. Hoffman, 2014-06-03 The psychoanalytic process is characterized by a complex weave of interrelated polarities transference and countertransference repetition and new experience enactment and interpretation discipline and personal responsiveness the intrapsychic and the interpersonal construction and discovery In Ritual and Spontaneity in the Psychoanalytic Process Irwin Z Hoffman through compelling clinical accounts demonstrates the great therapeutic potential that resides in the analyst's struggle to achieve a balance within each of these dialectics According to Hoffman the psychoanalytic modality implicates a dialectic tension between interpersonal influence and interpretive exploration a tension in which noninterpretive and interpretive interactions continuously elicit one another It follows that Hoffman's dialectical constructivism highlights the intrinsic ambiguity of experience an ambiguity that coexists with the irrefutable facts of a person's life including the fact of mortality The analytic situation promotes awareness of the freedom to shape one's life story within the constraints of given realities Hoffman deems it a special kind of crucible for the affirmation of worth and the construction of meaning in a highly uncertain world The analyst in turn emerges as a moral influence with an ironic kind of authority one that is enhanced by the ritualized aspects of the analytic process even as it is subjected to critical scrutiny An intensely clinical work Ritual and Spontaneity in the Psychoanalytic Process forges a new understanding of the curative possibilities that grow out of the tensions the choices and the constraints inhering in the intimate encounter of a psychoanalyst and a patient Compelling reading for all analysts and analytic therapists it will also be powerfully informative for scholars in the social sciences and the humanities

The Transformational Self Harold K. Bendicson, 2018-05-01 This book is an attempt to add to the theoretical discussion regarding the nature of the intrapsychic and interpersonal transformational changes associated with the transition from adolescence to young adulthood The author introduces the concept of the Transformational Self a phase specific dimension of the neural self and demonstrates the enhanced explanatory power that it offers in attempting to examine the sometimes dramatic shifting self states accompanying the metamorphosis from adolescence into young adulthood A necessary precondition for the emergence of the Transformational Self is the maturation of the pre frontal cortex and its enhanced neural connectivity With this biological achievement executive functioning a strengthened ego self capacity can arrive at a mature level of external stabilization and internal intrapsychic structuralization Conceptualized in self referencing metaphor and expressed and reinforced through long term potentiation repeated firing patterns of synchronous neural assemblies the late adolescent reconfigured self state becomes a true developmental potentiality evidenced by the use of different self and other representations

Moments of Meeting in Psychoanalysis Susan

Lord, 2017-08-09 There are moments of connection between analysts and patients during any therapeutic encounter upon which the therapy can turn Moments of Meeting in Psychoanalysis explores how analysts and therapists can experience these moments of meeting shows how this interaction can become an enlivening and creative process and seeks to recognise how it can change both the analyst and patient in profound and fundamental ways The theory and practice of contemporary psychoanalysis and psychoanalytic psychotherapy has reached an exciting new moment of generous and generative interaction As psychoanalysts become more intersubjective and relational in their work it becomes increasingly critical that they develop approaches that have the capacity to harness and understand powerful moments of meeting capable of propelling change through the therapeutic relationship. Often these are surprising human moments in which both client and clinician are moved and transformed. Moments of Meeting in Psychoanalysis offers a window into the ways in which some of today's practitioners think about, encourage, and work with these moments of meeting in their practices. Each chapter of the book offers theoretical material, case examples, and a discussion of various therapists' reflections on and experiences with these moments of meeting. With contributions from relational psychoanalysts, psychotherapists, and Jungian analysts and covering essential topics such as shame, impasse, mindfulness, and group work, this book offers new theoretical thinking and practical clinical guidance on how best to work with moments of meeting in any relationally oriented therapeutic practice. Moments of Meeting in Psychoanalysis will be of great interest to psychoanalysts, psychoanalytic psychotherapists, psychologists, social workers, workers in other mental health fields, graduate students, and anyone interested in change processes.
