Rifle Green In The Crimea An Account Of The Rifle:

Rifle Green in the Crimea George Caldwell, Robert Cooper, 1994 Imagining Soldiers and Fathers in the Mid-Victorian Era Susan Walton, 2017-11-30 Beginning with the premise that women's perceptions of manliness are crucial to its construction The author focuses on the life and writings of Charlotte Yonge as a prism for understanding the formulation of masculinities in the Victorian period Yonge was a prolific writer whose bestselling fiction and extensive journalism enjoyed a wide readership The author situates Yonge's work in the context of her family connections with the army showing that an interlocking of worldly and spiritual warfare was fundamental to Yonge's outlook For Yonge all good Christians are soldiers and Walton argues persuasively that the medievalised discourse of sanctified violence executed by upright moral men that is often connected with late nineteenth century Imperialism began earlier in the century and that Yonge's work was one major strand that gave it substance Of significance Yonge also endorsed missionary work which she viewed as an extension of a father's duties in the neighborhood and which was closely allied to a vigorous promotion of refashioned Tory paternalism The author's study is rich in historical context including Yonge's connections with the Tractarians the effects of industrialization and Britain's Imperial enterprises Informed by extensive archival scholarship Walton offers important insights into the contradictory messages about manhood current in the mid nineteenth century through the works of a major but undervalued Victorian author The Great Redan at Sebastopol James W. Bancroft, 2023-04-06 On 18 June 1855 the 40th anniversary of the Battle of Waterloo British assault troops moved out of their trenches before Sebastopol in the Crimea and attacked the formidable Russian bastion known as the Great Redan They came under such a murderous fire from the Russian defenders that the attack faltered and the British were eventually forced to fall back As they did so they left over 1 000 comrades dead and dying out in the open and at the mercy of enemy snipers The Siege of Sebastopol saw the development of trench warfare for the first time Using eyewitness accounts and unpublished letters the author tells the story of how the men coped with the terrible conditions as they prepared for the assault as well as the events during and after the fighting Among the anecdotes is an officer who had the ingenious idea of warming up cannon balls in the camp fires and taking them into the tents at night to keep warm and he went on to live for over a hundred years Well known for his depth of research the author questions a number of points regarding the Great Redan that are commonly believed to be historical fact Quoting the father of Alexander the Great it was the Russians who soon after the assault on the Great Redan first referred to the British as An army of lions led on by donkeys For over 100 years it was stated in many publications that the most Victoria Crosses awarded for a single action was the eleven presented for actions during the defense of Rorke's Drift during the Zulu War in 1879 However as the author reveals twenty of the lions who fought at the Great Redan received Britain's highest gallantry award in whole or in part for their actions on 18 June 1855 The book includes biographical tributes to many of the men who were killed in action gives details of the places where they are commemorated and provides biographies with all the up to date information concerning the twenty Victoria Cross recipients Sharpshooter in the Crimea Michael Springman,1990-12-31 The letters home to his family by Gerald Goodlake a young officer in the Coldstream Guards make remarkable reading They vividly describe the ill preparedness of the British Army and the dire conditions experienced by all ranks in the Crimea Goodlake s views on senior officers were frank to say the least Most important Goodlake s initiative and courage in organising and leading what were Special Forces were rewarded by the award of one of the first Victoria Crosses Goodlake served in the Crimea from early 1854 to the end two years later The Pattern 1853 Enfield Rifle Peter Smithurst,2011-07-20 The Pattern 1853 Enfield Rifle was the first rifled firearm issued to every soldier in the British Army and gave the infantry a revolutionary increase in firepower First issued in 1853 the Enfield proved itself worthy during both the Crimean War and the Indian Mutiny where its long range durability and interchangeable parts made it a perfect campaign rifle However it was during the American Civil War that the Enfield saw the greatest use with over a million rifles being sold to the armies of both the North and South This title takes an in depth look at the design the history the mechanics and the use of one of the most important firearms of the 19th century Annual Bibliography of British and Irish History ,1993 The Rifle Brigade Chronicle for ... ,1894 The Victoria Crosses of the Crimean War James W. Bancroft,2017-09-30 All 111 VC recipients of the Crimean War are profiled in this detailed military history with forty five portraits In 1854 Great Britain went to war against the Russia Empire on the Crimean Peninsula To honor the British soldiers who showed extraordinary valor in that conflict the Victoria Cross was introduced Now drawing on four decades of accumulated research historian James Bancroft tells the stories of these first VC recipients for the first time Bancroft describes who the men were how they gained the Victoria Cross and their postwar lives He also includes detailed information on burial places memorials and dates of awards and promotions The 111 men profiled here performed deeds of exceptional courage Among them are heroes who put themselves in mortal danger by picking up live shells that could have blown them apart at any moment gallant troopers who took part in a cavalry charge they knew was doomed and valiant individuals who had the audacity to sneak into unknown territory The Rifle Brigade Chronicle Great Britain.
