Assessing Risk Assessment Christian Hugo Hoffmann, 2017-11-14 Christian Hugo Hoffmann

undermines the citadel of risk assessment and management arguing that classical probability theory is not an adequate foundation for modeling systemic and extreme risk in complex financial systems He proposes a new class of models which focus on the knowledge dimension by precisely describing market participants own positions and their propensity to react to outside changes The author closes his thesis by a synthetical reflection on methods and elaborates on the meaning of decision making competency in a risk management context in banking By choosing this poly dimensional approach the purpose of his work is to explore shortcomings of risk management approaches of financial institutions and to point out how they might be overcome

Apocalyptic Narratives Hauke Riesch, 2021-04-30 Linking literature from the sociological study of the apocalyptic with the sociology and philosophy of science Apocalyptic Narratives explores how the apocalyptic narrative frames and provides meaning to contemporary secular and scientific crises focussing on nuclear war general environmental crisis and climate change in both English and German speaking cultural contexts In particular the book will use social identity and representation theories the sociologies of risk and Lakatos philosophy of science to trace how our cultural background and apocalyptic tradition shape our wider interpretation communication and response to contemporary global crisis The set of environmental and other challenges that the world is facing is often framed in terms of apocalyptic or existential crisis Yet apocalyptic fears about the near future are nothing new This book looks at the narrative connections between our current sense of crisis and the apocalyptic The book will be of interest to readers interested in environmental crisis and communication the sociology and philosophy of science and existential risk but also to readers interested in the apocalyptic and its contemporary relevance
