Road Scars Robert Matej Bednar, 2020-07-21 Despite the ubiquity of automobility the reality of automotive death is hidden from everyday view There are accident blackspots all over the roads that we use and go past every day but the people that have died there or been injured are not marked unless by homemade shrines and personal memorialization Nowhere on the planet is this practice as densely actioned as in the United States Road Scars is a highly visual scholarly monograph about how roadside car crash shrines place the collective trauma of living in a car culture in the everyday landscapes of automobility Roadside shrines or road trauma shrines are vernacular memorial assemblages built by private individuals at sites where family and friends have died in automobile accidents either while driving cars or motorcycles or being hit by cars as pedestrians bicyclists or motorcyclists Prevalent for decades in Latin America and in the American Southwest roadside car crash shrines are now present throughout the U S and around the world Some are simply small white crosses almost silent markers of places of traumatic death Others are elaborate collections of objects texts and materials from all over the map culturally and physically all significantly brought together not in the home or in a cemetery but on the roadside in drivable public space a space where private individuals perform private identities alongside each other in public and where these private mobilities sometimes collide with one another in traumatic ways that are negotiated in roadside shrines This book touches on something many of us have seen but few have explored intellectually

Dying, Assisted Death and Mourning, 2009-01-01 Dying and death are topics of deep humane concern for many people in a variety of circumstances and contexts However they are not discussed to any great extent or with sufficient focus in order to gain knowledge and understanding of their major features and aspects The present volume is an attempt to bridge the undesirable gap between what should be known and understood about dying and death and what is easily accessible Included in the present volume are chapters arranged in three sections First there are chapters on aspects of dying written by people who have professional experience and personal insights into the nature of the processes at work and the ways it should be treated Secondly there are chapters on assisted death Euthanasia that illuminate the practices involved in the professional assistance given to persons who suffer from an incurable illness and who do not want their painful life to be medically extended Thirdly there are chapters on mourning examined in a variety of cultural contexts These provide insights for different ways of maintaining the presence of the dead in the life of the living life in the hearts

Memorials to Shattered Myths Harriet Senie, 2016 Memorials to Shattered Myths Vietnam to 9 11 traces the evolution and consequences of a new hybrid paradigm which grants a heroic status to victims of national tragedies and by extension to their families thereby creating a class of privileged participants in the permanent memorial process Harriet F Senie suggests that instead the victims families be able to determine the nature of an interim memorial one that addresses their needs in the critical time between the murder of their loved ones and the completion of the permanent memorial She also observes that the memorials discussed herein are inadvertently based on strategies of diversion and denial that direct our attention away from actual events and reframe tragedy as secular or religious triumph In doing so they camouflage history and seen as an aggregate they define a nation of victims exactly the concept they and their accompanying celebratory narratives were apparently created to obscure

Cultural Psychology of Recursive Processes Zachary Beckstead, 2015-05-01 Cultural Psychology of Recursivity illustrates how recursivity often neglected in the social sciences can be an important concept for illuminating meaning making processes Recursivity is a fascinating though abstract concept with a wide array of often incompatible definitions Rooted in mathematics and linguistics this book brings recursion and recursive processes to the foreground of psychological processes One unifying claim among the diverse chapters in this book is that recursion and recursive processes are at the core of complex social and psychological processes Recursion is bound up with the notion of re turning re examining re flecting and circling back and these processes allow for human beings to simultaneously distance themselves from the here and now settings by imaging the past and future while being immersed in them The objective of this book is not simply to celebrate the complexity of human living but to extend the notion of recursion recursivity and recursive processes into the realm of social and psychological processes beyond the arenas in which these ideas have currently thrived Cultural Psychology of Recursivity shows that in spite of the difficulty in defining recursivity self referencing looping transformation generativity complexity and holism constitute its core characteristics and provide the basis for which authors in this book explore and elaborate this concept Still each contribution has its own unique take on recursivity and how it is applied to their phenomenon of investigation Chapters in this book examine how recursive processes are related to and basic aspects of play and ritual imitation identity exploration managing stigma and commemorative practices This book is intended for psychologists sociologists and mathematicians Use of the book in post graduate and graduate level of university teaching is expected in seminar format teaching occasions

Memorial Mania Erika Doss, 2022-12-22 In the past few decades thousands of new memorials to executed witches victims of terrorism and dead astronauts along with those that pay tribute to civil rights organ donors and the end of Communism have dotted the American landscape Equally ubiquitous though until now less the subject of serious inquiry are temporary memorials spontaneous offerings of flowers and candles that materialize at sites of tragic and traumatic death In Memorial Mania Erika Doss argues that these memorials underscore our obsession with issues of memory and history and the urgent desire to express and claim those issues in visibly public contexts Doss shows how this desire to memorialize the past disposes itself to individual anniversaries and personal grievances to stories of tragedy and trauma and to the social and political agendas of diverse numbers of Americans By offering a framework for understanding these sites Doss engages the larger issues behind our culture of commemoration Driven by heated struggles over identity and the politics of representation Memorial Mania is a testament to the fevered pitch of public feelings in America today
