Joint Venture Agreements in the People's Republic of China Pompiliu Verzariu, Daniel D. Stein, 1982 ARGE - Construction Partnership in Germany: Legal Issues in Cooperation of Different Engineering Firms Kenan Kaya, 2013-05-21

This survey investigates and evaluates the legal framework which an engineer faces when stepping into an ARGE partnership with other planning offices ARGE in the German construction industry an established form of partnership becomes more and more important in acquiring and accomplishing construction projects The ARGE underlies the regulations of the German Partnership under Civil Law consequently the ARGE partners are jointly and individually liable for the contract Thus the principal of the overall project enjoys fundamental advantages He reduces his risk should it come to an insolvency of an ARGE partner he increases competition and he gets services out of one hand Engineering firms who want to participate in these projects have to handle their capacities and risks Presently many engineering firms are not interested in participating in ARGE partnerships as they see no reason for a voluntary sharing of liability and want to be responsible and liable only for services they performed Therefore engineering firms are interested in an ARGE agreement which divides the responsibilities and liabilities in consideration of the rendered services In external discussions with principals ARGE partner could not change the joint and individual liability Principals will not deal with the limitation of ARGE partners liabilities However other regulations could be defined in internal arrangements Besides the law related aspects it is advisable to redefine other regulations in the ARGE agreement Partners for example should define a fulfillment obligation In case of insolvency of one partner the other partners still have to fulfill the contract If there are services which they cannot carry out by themselves they have to involve other partners

Joint Ventures in the People's Republic of China Margaret M. Pearson,1992-09-21 When Chinese leaders announced in late 1978 that China would open to the outside world they embarked on a strategy for attracting private foreign capital to spur economic development. At the same time they were concerned about possible negative repercussions of this policy. Margaret Pearson examines government efforts to control the terms of foreign investment between 1979 and 1988 and more broadly the abilities of socialist states in general to establish the terms of their own participation in the world economy. Drawing on interviews with Chinese and foreigners involved in joint ventures, Pearson focuses on the years from 1979 through 1988 but she also comments on the fate of the open policy following the economic retrenchment and political upheavals of the late 1980s. Since the policy of opening was launched in Beijing in 1979, some Chinese leaders have favoured foreign investment while others have feared that it would carry ideas and institutions that would corrupt Chinese socialism. This study of Chinese policies toward foreign invested enterprises (FIEs) during the 1980s broadly charts significant changes in the impact of these competing views on policy. Pearson's overview and analysis provide thought provoking perspectives. Pearson furnishes excellent evidence that throughout the 1980s the pressure for reform was so great that the conservatives had to retreat repeatedly despite their concerns about the decline of collectivist values and the Maoist dream. Stanley Lubman, The China Quarterly

The Role of Law in China's Economic Development, 1978-2011 Jia Hu, 2024-03-29 This book concerns how China's legal institutions promoted its economic growth and demonstrates that the law has played different roles at various stages of China's economic transformation: a signal of legal paradigm shifts in reaction to the changing political and economic pursuits. By decomposing the role of law in the process, the author argues that while the Chinese economy was transforming from a planned economy to a market oriented one, the law also made its adjustment as a response. The Chinese legal system was evolving from the one consisting of primarily substantive laws to the one filled with high level formal laws by the end of the last century. The above observation of legal formalization is further consolidated by introducing the particularities of China's legal education in those years, a topic rarely dealt with yet of significance to comprehensively understand the Chinese legal system in practice. Overall, the present book argues against the modernization theory and determinism that would anticipate a similar developmental path globally and shows that the relationship between law and economic development is contingent. Therefrom, this study weighs in the law and development debate and breaks a perception of static law in the economy by rejecting the conventional perception of established legal institutions as a precondition of modernity. Hence, this book could appeal to legal scholars and sociologists interested in reevaluating western theories of free economy and its relationships to the law. In addition, scholars interested in research methodology would find the perspective of paradigm shifts in interpreting China's transformations a helpful analytical framework in research. Moreover, policymakers and legislators concerned about the characteristics of law for economic results would also find the book useful.

Handbook of Research on Special Economic Zones as Regional Development Enablers Figueiredo, Paulo Guilherme, Leandro, Francisco José, Li, Yichao, 2021-10-15 Special economic zones (SEZs) are important doorways for countries to attract foreign investment and promote trade. A strong correlation between the creation of SEZs and economic development indicators has also been identified in previous studies at the municipal level in China. Thus the fundamental question that needs to be explored is to what extent SEZs can play the role of development enablers in different regions, development states and institutional settings. The Handbook of Research on Special Economic Zones as Regional Development Enablers discusses the diverse and international track records in the implementation of SEZs, the interplay of SEZ models and local institutional infrastructure and stakeholders, and the SEZ models that can best fit certain development states and/or settings. Covering topics such as the Belt and Road Initiative, local and national economies and regional integration, this book is essential for government officials, development officers, scholars, students, researchers, entrepreneurs, public decision makers, aid agencies, company executives, investors and academicians. China, the EU and International Investment Law Yuwen Li, Tong Qi, Cheng Bian, 2019-11-11. This book provides an original and critical analysis of the most contentious subjects being negotiated in the China EU Comprehensive Agreement on Investment (CAI). It focuses on the pathway of reforming investor-state dispute settlement (ISDS) from both Chinese and European perspectives in the context of the China EU CAI and beyond. The book is divided into three parts. Part I examines key and controversial issues of the China EU CAI negotiations, including market access, sustainable development and human rights, as well as comparing distinct features between the China EU CAI and the China US BIT. Part II concentrates on the institutional reform of investor-state arbitration with an extensive analysis of the EU's approach to replacing the private nature of investment arbitration with the public nature of an investment court. Part III addresses the core substantive and procedural issues concerning ISDS, such as the role of domestic courts in investment dispute settlement, the status of state-owned enterprises (SOEs) as investors, transparency and the protection of victims in investment dispute resolution. This book will be of interest to scholars and practitioners in the field of international investment and trade law, particularly investment dispute settlement.
