HEALTH AND DISEASE ACROSS A HUNTER-GATHERER CONTINENT

STEPHEN WEBB

Palaeopathology Of Aboriginal Australians Health And Disease Across A Hunter Gatherer Continent

Harry Lourandos

Palaeopathology Of Aboriginal Australians Health And Disease Across A Hunter Gatherer Continent:

Palaeopathology of Aboriginal Australians Stephen Webb, 1995-04-28 Using data collected from all parts of the continent this book is a study of the health of Australia's original inhabitants over 50 000 years. It represents the first continental survey of its kind and is the first to quantify and describe important aspects of Australian hunter gatherer health. Major categories of disease described are stress osteoarthritis, fractures, congenital deformations, neoplasms, and non-specific and treponemal infections. The author also describes some surgical techniques used by Aboriginal people. A broad-ranging book offering fresh insight into the study of Australian prehistory and Aboriginal culture, the book also illuminates the origins and ecology of human disease.

Continent of Hunter-Gatherers Harry Lourandos, 1997-02-28 This book challenges traditional perceptions of Australian Aboriginal prehistory that the environment is the major determinant of hunter-gatherers. That Aborigines were egalitarian and culturally homogeneous and therefore experienced few economic and demographic changes. Harry Lourandos argues that the social and economic processes of hunter-gatherers were complex and that the prehistoric period was dynamic and revolutionary. Lourandos presents prehistoric data, reviews archaeological and ethnohistorical evidence, and analyses environmental, demographic, and socially oriented perspectives, drawing from them an original hypothesis. He addresses initial colonisation, the role of Tasmanian Aborigines, the role of fire, faunal extinctions, the intensification debate, horticultural origins, plant exploitation, and the significance of Australian prehistory in the study of other prehistoric hunter-gatherer societies.

The Cambridge Encyclopedia of Hunters and Gatherers Richard B. Lee, Richard Heywood, Richard Daly, 1999-12-16 Hunting and gathering is humanity's first and most successful adaptation. Until 12 000 years ago, all humanity lived this way. Surprisingly, in an increasingly urbanized and technological world, dozens of hunting and gathering societies have persisted and thrive worldwide, resilient in the face of change. Their ancient ways, now combined with the trappings of modernity, are the subject of this encyclopedia. The encyclopedia is divided into three parts. The first contains case studies by leading experts of over fifty hunting and gathering peoples in seven major world regions. There is a general introduction and an archaeological overview for each region. Part II contains thematic essays on prehistory, social life, gender, music, and art, health, religion, and indigenous knowledge. The final part surveys the complex histories of hunter-gatherers' encounters with colonialism and the state and their ongoing struggles for dignity and human rights as part of the worldwide movement of indigenous peoples.

The Oxford Handbook of the Archaeology of Indigenous Australia and New Guinea Ian J. McNiven, Bruno David, 2023 The Oxford Handbook of the Archaeology of Indigenous Australia and New Guinea reviews and brings together the latest findings on the archaeology of the Australia-New Guinea region. In 42 new chapters commissioned for this book, 77 leading researchers present the archaeological evidence for Australia and New Guinea's deep time history. The stories told reveal the astounding richness of Australia and New Guinea's Indigenous cultural history, stories of tens of thousands of years of Aboriginal, Torres Strait Islander, and New Guinean adaptation, cultural know-how, and creative ingenuity

The Social Archaeology of Australian Indigenous Societies Bruno David, Bryce Barker, Ian J.

McNiven, 2006 The Social Archaeology of Indigenous Societies presents original and provocative views on the complex and dynamic social lives of Indigenous Australians from an historical perspective Building on the foundational work of Harry Lourandos the book critically examines and challenges traditional approaches which have presented Indigenous Australian past as static and tethered to ecological rationalism The book reveals the ancient past of Aboriginal Australians to be one of long term changes in social relationships and traditions as well as the active management and manipulation of the environment The book encourages a deeper appreciation of the ways Aboriginal peoples have engaged with and constructed their worlds It solicits a deeper understanding of the contemporary political and social context of research and the insidious impacts of colonialist philosophies In short it concerns people both past and present The Social Archaeology of Indigenous Societies looks beyond the stereo

Madness, Disability and Social Exclusion

Jane Hubert, 2013-12-02

A unique work that brings together a number of specialist disciplines such as archaeology anthropology disability studies and psychiatry to create a new perspective on social and physical exclusion from society A range of evidence throws light on such things as the causes and consequences of social exclusion stigma marginality and dangerousness It is an important text that breaks down traditional academic disciplinary boundaries and brings a much needed comparative approach to the subject

The

Archaeology of the Aru Islands, Eastern Indonesia Sue O'Connor, Peter Marius Veth, Matthew Spriggs, 2007-02-01 This volume describes the results of the first archaeological survey and excavations carried out in the fascinating and remote Aru Islands Eastern Indonesia between 1995 and 1997 The naturalist Alfred Russel Wallace who stopped here in search of the Birds of Paradise on his voyage through the Indo Malay Archipelago in the 1850s was the first to draw attention to the group The results reveal a complex and fascinating history covering the last 30 000 years from its early settlement by hunter gatherers the late Holocene arrival of ceramic producing agriculturalists later associations with the Bird of Paradise trade and the colonial expansion of the Dutch trading empires The excavations and finds from two large Pleistocene caves Liang Lemdubu and Nabulei Lisa are reported in detail documenting the changing environmental and cultural history of the islands from when they were connected to Greater Australia and used by hunter gatherers to their formation as islands and use by agriculturalists The results of the excavation of the late Neolithic Metal Age midden at Wangil are discussed as is the mysterious pre Colonial fort at Ujir and the 350 year old ruins of forts and a church associated with the Dutch garrisons

Hunter-Gatherer Adaptation and Resilience

National Museums and the Origins of Nations

Sheila Watson, 2020-10-28

National Museums and the Origins of Nations provides the first international survey of origins stories in national museums and examines the ways in which such museums use the distant past as a vehicle to reflect the concerns of the political present Offering an international comparison of institutions in China North and South America the Middle East Europe and Australia the book argues that national museums tell us more about what sort of community a nation wishes to be today than how and why that nation came into being Watson also reveals the ways in which narrative and exhibition design attempt to engage the visitor in an emotional experience designed to promote loyalty to and pride in the nation or to remind visitors who are not citizens that they do not belong These narratives of origin are it is claimed based on so called factual accuracies but this book reveals that they are often selective emotional and rarely critiqued within institutions At a time when nationalism is very much back on the political agenda this book highlights how museums reflect current political and social concerns National Museums and the Origins of Nations will appeal to academics and students engaged in the study of museums heritage politics nationalism and history
