

Principios de Electrónica

The background of the cover is a close-up, high-angle photograph of a microchip. The chip's surface is covered in a complex grid of small, square and rectangular features, which are illuminated with a variety of colors including red, orange, yellow, and blue, creating a vibrant, almost abstract pattern. The overall tone of the image is dark, with the colors of the chip standing out against a deep blue and purple background.
