Hearden, 2023-03-13 This two volume collection of primary documents covers societies that developed writing systems in different geographical regions during that last 5 000 years While comprehensive in scope this reader focuses on a central theme the unequal allocation of wealth and power both within individual societies and between different polities ranging from small city states to large territorial empires The documents reveal that people living at different times and in different places have used similar methods to achieve similar political and economic objectives By reflecting uniformities as well as diversities in ideas and actions these documents undermine assertions of Western intellectual cultural or moral superiority These readings also show that the expanding supply of goods and services resulting from technological innovations has led to increasing social economic and political racial and gender inequality Selected to give students a deeper understanding of how and why inequalities have emerged in societies around the globe each document will be introduced by a brief explanation of its historical context And each document presented in chronological order will be followed by 3 or 4 review questions giving students an opportunity to test their understanding of its main points Teaching World History in the Twenty-first Century: A Resource Book Heidi Roupp, 2015-02-12 This practical handbook is designed to help anyone who is preparing to teach a world history course or wants to teach it better It includes contributions by experienced teachers who are reshaping world history education and features new approaches to the subject as well as classroom tested practices that have markedly improved world history teaching Reading Primary Sources Miriam Dobson, Benjamin Ziemann, 2008-09-03 How does the historian approach primary sources How do interpretations differ How can they be used to write history Reading Primary Sources goes a long way to providing answers for these questions In the first part of this unique volume the chapters give an overview of both traditional and new methodological approaches to the use of sources analyzing the way that these have changed over time The second part gives an overview of twelve different types of written sources including letters opinion polls surveillance reports diaries novels newspapers and dreams taking into account the huge expansion in the range of written primary sources used by historians over the last thirty years This book is an up to date introduction into the historical context of these different genres the ways they should be read the possible insights and results these sources offer and the pitfalls of their interpretation All of the chapters push the reader beyond a conventional understanding of source texts as mere reflections of a given reality instead fostering an understanding of how each of the various genres has to be seen as a medium in its own right Taking examples of sources from around the globe and also including a student friendly further reading section this is the perfect companion for every student of history who wants to engage with sources
