Public Health Aspects Migrant Synthesis:

What Strategies to Address Communication Barriers for Refugees and Migrants in Health Care Settings Have Been Implemented and Evaluated Across the WHO European Region? Centers of Disease Control, 2018-10-11 The provision of effective health care to linguistically and culturally diverse migrant populations has been identified as a crucial public health issue This scoping review examines strategies which have been implemented and evaluated to address communication barriers experienced by refugees and migrants in health care settings across the WHO European Region Four main types of strategy were identified cultural mediation interpretation translation of health information and guidance and training for health care providers These have been used to support access to health care management of specific diseases and promotion of health across a wide variety of health care settings Intersectoral collaboration was seen as important in the development and implementation of strategies Policy considerations include the development of national policies and the promotion of intersectoral dialogue to augment the knowledge base and resolve the common issues identified such as provision of training and confusion regarding the roles of mediators interpreters that affect strategy implementation and evaluation The Economic Geography of Cross-Border Migration Karima Kourtit, Bruce Newbold, Peter Nijkamp, Mark Partridge, 2020-12-07 This handbook presents a collection of high quality authoritative scientific contributions on cross border migration written by a carefully selected group of recognized migration experts from around the globe In recent years cross border migration has become an important and intriguing issue from both a scientific and policy perspective In the age of migration the volume of cross border movements of people continues to rise while the nature of migration flows in terms of the determinants length of stay effects on the sending and host countries and legal status of migrants is changing dramatically Based on a detailed economic geographical analysis this handbook studies the motives for cross border migration the socio economic implications for sending countries and regions the locational choice determinants for cross border migrants and the manifold economic geographic consequences for host countries and regions Given the complexity of migration decisions and their local or regional impacts a systematic typology of migrants motives legal status level of education gender age singles or families etc is provided together with an assessment of push factors in the place of origin and pull factors at the destination On the basis of a solid analytical framework and reliable empirical evidence it examines the impacts of emigration for sending areas and of immigration for receiving areas and provides a comprehensive discussion of the policy dimensions of cross border migration Refugee, Migrant and Ethnic Minority Health Osnat Keidar, Emmanouil Pikoulis, Aristomenis Exadaktylos, David Shiva Srivastava, 2019-10-07 International migration particularly to Europe has increased in the last few decades making research on aspects of this phenomenon including numbers challenges and successes particularly vital This Special Issue highlights this necessary and relevant area of research It presents 37 articles including studies on diverse topics relating to the health of refugees and migrants Most articles 28 present studies focusing on European host countries The focus on Europe is justified if we take into consideration the increased number of refugees and migrants who have come to Europe in recent years However there are also articles which present studies from countries in other continents The topics discussed in the Issue include healthcare utilization infectious diseases mother and child health mental health and chronic diseases Finding from the included articles indicate that further development of guidelines and policies at both local and international levels is needed Priorities must be set by encouraging and funding in depth research that aims to evaluate the impact of existing policies and interventions Such research will help us formulate recommendations for the development of strategies and approaches that improve and strengthen the integration of migrants and refugees into the host countries

Oxford Textbook of Migrant Psychiatry Dinesh Bhugra,2021-02-04 Migrant psychiatry is an evolving subdiscipline within cultural psychiatry that deals with the impact of migration on the mental health of those who have migrated and those who work with these groups and provide services to them Stress related to migration affects migrants and their extended families either directly or indirectly The process of migration is not just a phase but leads on to a series of adjustments including acculturation which may occur across generations Factors such as changes in diet attitudes and beliefs and overall adjustment are important in settling down and making the individuals feel secure This period of adjustment will depend upon the individual migrant s pre migration experiences migration process and post migration experiences but also upon an individual s personality social support and emotional response to migration Socio demographic factors such as age gender educational and economic status will all play a role in post migration adjustment In order to understand the impact on individuals not only the type of migration and different stressors but also the types of psychological mechanisms at a personal level and the resources and processes at a societal level need to be explored Despite the number of refugees and asylum seekers around the world increasing at an astonishing rate the mental health needs of migrants are often ignored by policy makers and clinicians The Oxford Textbook of Migrant Psychiatry is designed to serve as the comprehensive reference resource on the mental health of migrants bringing together both theoretical and practical aspects of the mental health needs of refugees and asylum seekers for researchers and professionals Individual chapters summarise theoretical constructs related to theories of migration the impact of migration on mental health and adjustment collective trauma individual identity and diagnostic fallacies The book also covers the practical aspects of patient management including cultural factors ethnopsychopharmacology therapeutic interaction and therapeutic expectation and psychotherapy Finally the book will examine special clinical problems and special patient groups Part of the authoritative Oxford Textbooks in Psychiatry series this resource will serve as an essential reference for psychiatrists mental health professionals general practitioners primary care physicians social workers policy makers and voluntary agencies dealing with refugees and asylum seekers

the Prevention Diagnosis Treatment and Care of Tuberculosis Among Refugees and Migrants in the WHO European Region?

Who Regional Office for Europe, 2018-06-28 The WHO European Region has faced high rates of external and internal migration in recent years with concerns that this is contributing to the burden of tuberculosis TB multidrug resistant TB MDR TB and TB HIV coinfection in some countries This report examines evidence of effective and efficient service packages for the prevention diagnosis and treatment of TB to inform strategies to address the TB burden in refugee and migrant populations Significant regional variations were identified in both migration levels and TB burden in refugees and migrants as well as in approaches to TB control with low quality of evidence in many cases While it is unlikely that a single strategy package will be effective for all situations the evidence highlights some common approaches that could guide policy making and service development TB elimination targets for the Region will not be met unless inequalities in access to screening and treatment for migrants are addressed alongside efforts to tackle TB globally
