New Found Lands Maps In The History Of Exploration:

New Found Lands Peter Whitfield, 2015-12-22 First Published in 1998 An exploration narrative can be a tale of adventure and endurance a technical account of navigation and seamanship or a political history of the overseas empires that were built up in the wake of the explorers In New Found Lands Peter Whitfield takes a different approach By focusing on the maps that the explorers themselves used Whitfield reveals how the both the explorers and their patrons understood their expanding world and their place in it what they were seeking and how they thought they could achieve it and how they integrated new knowledge into their evolving world view The maps in New Found Lands present the geographical ideas of the time making plain the power that came with increasing technical and geographical knowledge They also serve as evocative and poignant reminders of the limited knowledge of these explorers For up until very recent times as these maps show there have been areas of the world remaining to be explored and new found lands to discover This lavishly illustrated book progresses chronologically starting with the explorers of the ancient world covering the East the New World the Pacific Australia and the Modern Era It will enrich our understanding of the voyages of discovery undertaken over the past 2000 years and will delight any map or history lover Also includes 150 color and black and white maps

East Asian Cartographic Print Culture Alexander Akin, 2025-10-01 Alexander Akin examines how the expansion of publishing in the late Ming dynasty prompted changes in the nature and circulation of cartographic materials in East Asia Focusing on mass produced printed maps East Asian Cartographic Print Culture The Late Ming Publishing Boom and its Trans Regional Connections investigates a series of pathbreaking late sixteenth and early seventeenth century works in genres including geographical education military affairs and history analysing how maps achieved unprecedented penetration among published materials even in the absence of major theoretical or technological changes like those that transformed contemporary European cartography By examining contemporaneous developments in neighboring Choson Korea and Japan this book demonstrates the crucial importance of considering the East Asian sphere in this period as a network of communication and publication rather than as discrete national units with separate cartographic histories It also reexamines the Jesuit printing of maps on Ming soil within the broader context of the local cartographic publishing boom and its trans regional repercussions
