Public Lands, Public Debates Char Miller, 2012 Includes bibliographical references and index Interpreting the Environment at Museums and Historic Sites Debra A. Reid, David D. Vail, 2019-09-19 Interpreting the Environment at Museums and Historic Sites is for anyone who wants to better understand the environment that surrounds us and sustains us who wants to become a better steward of that environment and who wants to share lessons learned with others The process starts by focusing attention on the environment the physical space that constitutes the largest three dimensional object in museum collections It involves conceptualizing spaces and places of human influence spaces that contain layer upon layer documenting human struggles to survive and thrive This evidence exists in natural environments as well as city centers The process continues by adopting an environment centric view of the spaces destined to be interpreted This mind set forms the basis for devising research plans that document how humans have changed destroyed conserved and sustained spaces over time and the ways that the environment reacts Interpretation built on this evidence then becomes the basis for minds on engagement with the places that humans inhabit and the spaces that they have changed and continue to manipulate Interpreting the Environment at Museums and Historic Sites provides a tool kit designed to help you research environmental history document evidence of human influence on land and the environment over time and tailor that knowledge to new public engagement It proposes a multi disciplinary approach that requires expertise in the humanities as well as the sciences and social sciences to best understand space and place over time It incorporates case studies of the theory and method of environmental history to explore how human goals take lasting shape in the environment creating working environments getting water generating and harnessing power growing food traveling and trading building things and preserving natural landscapes Features include the Interpreting the Environment Tool Kit to help you launch the good work of interpreting the environment Raw Materials the evidence landscape ecosystems artifacts and the built environment Preparation methods thinking like a naturalist scientist thinking like a historian combining approaches Planning envisioning the goal proactive message stewardship sustainability Partnerships sharing work strength in numbers allying across disciplinary divides united in efforts to inform the public about their individual and collective effects on the landscape and the environment Potential educating the public about people and places is part of a world wide goal with the cumulative effect of saving the planet one story at a time A Timeline and Bibliographic essay round out the book s resources The Land Speaks Deborah Jean Lee, 2017 The Land Speaks explores the intersections of two vibrant fields oral history and environmental studies The fourteen oral histories collected here range North America examining wilderness and cities farms and forests rivers and arid lands The contributors argue that oral history can capture communication from nature and provide tools for environmental problem solving Nature Unbound Randy T Simmons, Ryan M. Yonk, Kenneth J. Sim, 2016-03-01 What if what we think we know about ecology and environmental policy is just wrong What if environmental laws often make things worse What if the very idea of nature has been hijacked by politics What if wilderness is something we create in our minds as opposed to being an actual description of nature In 1934 former U S Forest Service official Aldo Leopold a godfather to the modern environmental movement wrote that restrictive laws had largely failed in their mission to conserve America s forests rivers and other natural resources Less than forty years later however as various events pushed environmental concerns into the public spotlight lawmakers from both parties championed legislation far more sweeping and restrictive than any Leopold had witnessed How well did these restrictive laws work to right environmental wrongs Why did so many miss the mark And how should we go about improving our policies In Nature Unbound authors Randy Simmons Ryan M Yonk and Kenneth J Sim offer a devastating critique of federal environmental policy by scrutinizing it through the lenses of biological ecology and political ecology This powerful framework they show reveals that environmental policy has been guided since the late 1960s by demonstrably false assumptions responsible for a host of ineffective or wasteful command and control policies on air pollution water pollution endangered species wilderness renewable energy and more The mistakes have also empowered political entrepreneurship in ways that have encroached on property rights burdened the general public and degraded the civic landscape More than a critique of false assumptions and flawed policies Nature Unbound offers bold principles to help us rethink environmental objectives align incentives with goals and affirm the notion that human beings are an integral part of the natural order and merit no less consideration than Earth s other treasures Ultimately nothing less can succeed in our efforts to restore natural resources and revitalize our social and political ecosystem

Seeking the Greatest Good Char Miller, 2013-09-22 President John F Kennedy officially dedicated the Pinchot Institute for Conservation Studies on September 24 1963 to further the legacy and activism of conservationist Gifford Pinchot 1865 1946 Pinchot was the first chief of the United States Forest Service appointed by Theodore Roosevelt in 1905 During his five year term he more than tripled the national forest reserves to 172 million acres A pioneer in his field Pinchot is widely regarded as one of the architects of American conservation and an adamant steward of natural resources for future generations Author Char Miller highlights many of the important contributions of the Pinchot Institute through its first fifty years of operation As a union of the United States Forest Service and the Conservation Foundation a private New York based think tank the institute was created to formulate policy and develop conservation education programs Miller chronicles the institution s founding a donation of the Pinchot family at its Grey Towers estate in Milford Pennsylvania He views the contributions of Pinchot family members from the institute s initial conception by Pinchot s son Gifford Bryce Pinchot through the family s ongoing participation in current conservation programming Miller describes the institute s unique fusion of policy makers scientists politicians and activists to increase our understanding of and responses to urban and rural forestry water quality soil erosion air pollution endangered species land management and planning and hydraulic fracturing Miller explores such innovative programs as Common Waters which works to protect the local Delaware River Basin as a drinking water source for millions EcoMadera which trains the residents of Cristobal Colon in Ecuador in conservation land management and sustainable wood processing and the Forest Health Human Health Initiative which offers health care credits to rural American landowners who maintain their carbon capturing forestlands Many of these individuals are age sixty five or older and face daunting medical expenses that may force them to sell their land for timber Through these and countless other collaborative endeavors the Pinchot Institute has continued to advance its namesake's ambition to protect ecosystems for future generations and provide vital environmental services in an age of a burgeoning population and a disruptive climate

This Contested Land McKenzie Long, 2022-10-18 One woman's enlightening trek through the natural histories cultural stories and present perils of thirteen national monuments from Maine to Hawaii now available in paperback This land is your land When it comes to national monuments the sentiment could hardly be more fraught Gold Butte in Nevada Organ Mountains Desert Peaks in New Mexico Katahdin Woods and Waters in Maine Cascade Siskiyou in Oregon and California these are among the thirteen natural sites McKenzie Long visits in This Contested Land an eye opening exploration of the stories these national monuments tell the passions they stir and the controversies surrounding them today Starting amid the fragrant sagebrush and red dirt of Bears Ears National Monument on the eve of the Trump Administration's decision to reduce the site by 85 percent Long climbs sandstone cliffs is awed by Ancestral Pueblo cliff dwellings and is intrigued by 4 000 year old petroglyphs She hikes through remote pink canyons recently removed from the boundary of Grand Staircase-Escalante skis to a backcountry hut in Maine to view a truly dark night sky snorkels in warm Hawaiian waters to plumb the meaning of marine preserves volunteers near the most contaminated nuclear site in the United States and witnesses firsthand the diverse forms of devotion evoked by the Rio Grande In essays both contemplative and resonant This Contested Land confronts an unjust past and imagines a collaborative future that bears witness to these regions enduring Indigenous connections From hazardous climate change realities to volatile tensions between economic development and environmental conservation practical and philosophical issues arise as Long seeks the complicated and often overlooked or suppressed stories of these incomparable places Her journey mindfully undertaken and movingly described emphasizes in clear and urgent terms the unique significance of and grave threats to these contested lands

The Green

Years, 1964-1976 Gregg Coodley ,David Sarasohn,2021-09-30 In The Green Years 1964 1976 Gregg Coodley and David Sarasohn offer the first comprehensive history of the period when the United States created the legislative legal and administrative structures for environmental protection that are still in place over fifty years later Coodley and Sarasohn tell a dramatic story of cultural change grassroots activism and political leadership that led to the passage of a host of laws attacking pollution under President Johnson At the same time with Stewart Udall as secretary of the interior the Wilderness Act the Wild and Scenic Rivers Act and other land protection measures were passed and the department shifted its focus from western resource development to broader national conservation issues The magnitude of what was accomplished was without precedent even under conservation minded presidents like the two Roosevelts The fast paced story the authors tell is not only about the Democratic Party in this era there was still a vital Republican conservation tradition In the 1960s Republicans were chronologically as close to Teddy Roosevelt as to Donald Trump In both the House and Senate and in the Nixon and Ford administrations Republicans played vital roles It was President Nixon who established the Environmental Protection Agency and signed into law the 1970 Clean Air Act revisions in 1972 to the Clean Water Act and the 1973 Endangered Species Act Under Nixon actions were taken to protect the oceans forests coastal zones and grasslands while regulating chemicals pesticides and garbage The authors analyze the full range of transformations during the Green Years from the creation of entirely new pollution control industries to backpacking becoming mass recreation to how revelations about chemical exposure spurred the natural food movement And not least the tectonic shift in the political landscape of the United States with the western states becoming Republican bastions and centers of ongoing backlash against the federal government The Green Years 1964 1976 is the story of environmental progress in the midst of war and civil unrest and of the lessons we can learn for our future

Between Ruin and Restoration Daniel E. Orenstein,Alon Tal,Char Miller,2012-12-30 The environmental history of Israel is as intriguing and complex as the nation itself Situated on a mere 8 630 square miles bordered by the Mediterranean Sea and Persian Gulf varying from desert to forest Israel s natural environment presents innumerable challenges to its growing population The country s conflicted past and present diverse religions and multitude of cultural influences powerfully affect the way Israelis imagine question and shape their environment Zionism from the late nineteenth onward has tempered nearly every aspect of human existence Scarcities of usable land and water coupled with border conflicts and regional hostilities have steeled Israeli s survival instincts As this volume demonstrates these powerful dialectics continue to undergird environmental policy and practice in Israel today Between Ruin and Restoration assembles leading experts in policy history and activism to address Israel s continuing environmental transformation from the biblical era to the present and beyond with a particular focus on the past one hundred and fifty years The chapters also reflect passionate public debates over meeting the needs of Israel s population and preserving its natural resources The chapters detail the occupations of the Ottoman Empire and British colonialists in eighteenth and nineteenth century Palestine as well as Fellaheen and pastoralist Bedouin tribes and how they shaped much of the terrain that greeted early Zionist settlers Following the rise of the Zionist movement the rapid influx of immigrants and ensuing population growth put new demands on water supplies pollution controls sanitation animal populations rangelands and biodiversity forestry marine policy and desertification Additional chapters view environmental politics nationally and internationally the environmental impact of Israel s military and considerations for present and future sustainability

Framing Nature Yolonda Youngs, 2024-06
Winner of the 2024 John Brinkerhoff Jackson Prize from American Association of Geographers The Grand Canyon of the Colorado River is an internationally known feature of the North American landscape attracting more than five million visitors each year A deep cultural visual and social history has shaped the Grand Canyon s environment into one of America s most significant representations of nature Yet the canyon is more than a vacation destination a movie backdrop or a scenic viewpoint it is a real place as well as an abstraction easily summoned in the minds of Americans The Grand Canyon or the idea of it is woven into the fabric of American cultural identity and serves as a cultural reference point an icon In Framing Nature Yolonda Youngs traces the idea of the Grand Canyon as an icon and the ways people came to know it through popular imagery and visual media She analyzes and interprets more than fourteen hundred visual artifacts including postcards maps magazine illustrations and photographs of the Grand Canyon supplemented with the words and ideas of writers artists explorers and other media makers from 1869 to 2022 Youngs considers the manipulation and commodification of visual representations and shifting ideas values and meanings of nature exploring the interplay between humans and their environments and how visual representations shape popular ideas and meanings about national parks and the American West Framing Nature provides a novel interpretation of how places especially national parks are transformed into national and environmental symbols
