“Gear” level is the most important and critical part of the whole machine. In performance it is directly linked to the whole equipment's service life and wear operation function. When a certain gear level is scratched like or a non-standard state, the lower intensity will be 3-5 times or even 10 times the normal wear, thus greatly reducing the service life. The appearance is presented with irregular wear (like permanent peeling), which can seriously shorten the life of the gear and thus greatly extend the service life of the gear head.
