From Siege to Surgical: Major William T. James Jr.,2015-11-06 This study investigates what effect the evolution of urban combat from World War II to the present has had on current urban combat doctrine Urban combat operations have played a pivotal role in the conflicts of the twentieth century and will continue to be a crucial part of future U S power projection operations It is imperative that lessons learned from previous urban combat operations be studied for applicability to current urban combat doctrine The study analyzes the urban battles of Aachen Manila Seoul Hue JUST CAUSE and Mogadishu to identify salient lessons for conducting successful offensive urban combat operations then reviews current U S Army urban combat doctrine The study then evaluates current doctrine using identified salient lessons to determine their effect The study finds that the primary impacts of previous urban combat operations on current doctrine are that doctrine now embraces the idea of varied conditions for urban combat and validates the concept of fighting as a combined arms team in a built up area The study further finds that FM 90 10 Military Operations on Urban Terrain is obsolete and that key procurement decisions have left U S forces without critical weapons that have proven decisive in urban combat In Order

To Win, Learn How To Fight: The US Army In Urban Operations Major Christopher S. Forbes,2015-11-06 The urgent requirement for US Army preparedness in conducting urban operations UO is very real As global urbanization continues to increase the contemporary threat environment makes operations in cities impossible to avoid The past decade has demonstrated through the American experiences in Mogadishu and Russian experiences in Grozny less capable forces will attempt to use urban terrain asymmetrically to even the balance of power against technologically superior military forces While we have always had a serious requirement to conduct urban operations the very nature of the cold war which was successful by its deterrence prevented us from ever having to face the reality of fighting such urban engagements In the post cold war era the U S Army is forced to face the realities of fighting in the urban environment It is not enough to speak of preparing for future urban operations the future is here today and the Army must be prepared to engage in urban operations even as it moves towards the objective force Being prepared means having solid doctrine realistic training programs and facilities and appropriate equipment to ensure success on the urban battlefield when the time comes to fight there The Battle of Manila Nicholas Evan Sarantakes,2025 Douglas MacArthur had a special relationship with the city of Manila Many years before when he had decided to make a career in the U S Army like his father and had bounced around the globe he kept coming back to the city He received his first promotion in Manila and contracted malaria so severe the Army had to send him back to the United States The city was a constant in a life without many others He was by any measure an exceptional soldier At the U S Military Academy he earned an athletic letter in baseball became the First Captain of the Corps of Cadets and finished first in a class of ninety three Commissioned in the Corps of Engineers he had first assignment in the Philippines Armor in Battle Robert S. increasingly urbanized world urban terrain has become a greater factor in military operations Simultaneously advances in military technology have given military forces sharply increased capabilities The conflict comes from how urban terrain can negate or degrade many of those increased capabilities What happens when advanced weapons are used in a close range urban fight with an abundance of cover Storming the City explores these issues by analyzing the performance of the US Army and US Marine Corps in urban combat in four major urban battles of the mid twentieth century Aachen 1944 Manila 1945 Seoul 1950 and Hue 1968 Alec Wahlman assesses each battle using a similar framework of capability categories and separate chapters address urban warfare in American military thought In the four battles across a wide range of conditions American forces were ultimately successful in capturing each city because of two factors transferable competence and battlefield adaptation The preparations US forces made for warfare writ large proved generally applicable to urban warfare Battlefield adaptation a strong suit of American forces filled in where those overall preparations for combat needed fine tuning From World War Two to Vietnam however there was a gradual reduction in tactical performance in the four battles
