Eudora Welty--a bibliography of her work Noel Polk, 1993-01-01 Artificial Color Catherine Keyser, 2018-11-23 In Artificial Color Catherine Keyser examines the early twentieth century phenomenon wherein US writers became fascinated with modern food global geographies nutritional theories and technological innovations African American literature of the 1920s and 1930s uses new food technologies as imaginative models for resisting and recasting oppressive racial categories In his masterwork Cane 1923 Jean Toomer follows sugar from the boiling pots of the South to the speakeasies of the North Through effervescent and colorful soda he rejects the binary of black and white in favor of a dream of artificial color and a new American race In his serial science fiction Black Empire 1938 39 George Schuyler associates hydroponics and raw foods with racial hybridity and utopian futures The second half of the book focuses on white expatriate writers who experienced local food cultures as sensuous encounters with racial others Ernest Hemingway and Gertrude Stein associate regional European races with the ideal of terroir and aspire to transplantation through their own connoisseurship In their novels set in the Mediterranean F Scott and Zelda Fitzgerald both dramatize the white body s susceptibility to intoxicating and stimulating substances like wine and coffee For Scott Fitzgerald the climatological and culinary corruption of the South produces the tragic fall of white masculinity For Zelda by contrast it exposes the destructiveness and fictitiousness of the white feminine purity ideal During the Great Depression and the Second World War African American writers Zora Neale Hurston and Dorothy West exposed the racism that shaped the global food industry and the precarity of black labor Their engagement with food however insisted upon pleasure as well as vulnerability the potential of sensuous flesh and racial affiliation In its embrace of invention and interconnection Catherine Keyser contends this modern fiction reveals that far from being stable whiteness may be the most obviously artificial color of them all

Witnessing Sadism in Texts of the American South Claire Raymond, 2019-10-28 Looking at works by Carrie Mae

Weems Toni Morrison Emily Dickinson Flannery O Connor Dorothy Allison Carson McCullers and Zora Neale Hurston Claire Raymond uncovers a pattern of femininity constructed around representations of sadistic violence in American women s literature and photography from the late nineteenth and twentieth centuries Dickinson s poetry is read through its relationship to the Southern Agrarian critics who championed her work While the representations of violence found in Carrie Mae Weems s installation From Here I Saw What Happened and I Cried Morrison s Beloved Dickinson s poetry O Connor s A View of the Woods and A Good Man Is Hard to Find Allison s Bastard Out of Carolina McCullers Ballad of the Sad Caf and Hurston s Mules and Men are diverse in terms of artistic presentation all allude to or are set in the antebellum and Jim Crow South In addition all involve feminine characters whose subjectivity is shaped by the practice of seeing acts of violence inflicted where there can be no effective resistance While not proposing an equivalence between representing violence in visual images and written text Raymond does suggest that visual images of violence can be interpreted in context with written evocations of violent imagery Invoking sadism in its ethical sense of violence enacted on a victim for whom self defense and recourse of any kind are impossible Raymond s study is ultimately an exploration of the idea that a femininity constructed by the positioning of feminine characters as witnesses to sadistic acts is a phenomenon distinctly of the American South that is linked to the culture s history of racism
