Security Sector Reform And Post Conflict Peacebuilding:

Security Sector Reform and Post-conflict Peacebuilding Albrecht Schnabel, Hans-Georg Ehrhart, 2005 Military and police forces play a crucial role in the long term success of rebuilding efforts in post conflict societies Yet while charged with the long term task of providing a security environment conducive to rebuilding war torn societies internal security structures tend to lack civilian and democratic control internal cohesion and effectiveness and public credibility They must be placed under democratic control and restructured and retrained to become an asset not a liability in the long term peacebuilding process External actors from other nations regional organizations and the United Nations can be of assistance in this process by creating a basic security environment preventing remnants of armed groups from spoiling the fragile peacebuilding process and by facilitating reform of the local security sector This book offers examples and analyses by an international group of academics and practitioners with direct experiences with security sector reform programs The case studies offer the reader a useful laboratory in which comparisons can be made and observations tested It will be useful to policymakers interested in understanding the complexity of addressing security sector reform and civil military relations W Andy Knight University of Alberta Canada

Rebuilding the Security Sector in Post-conflict Societies Judy Smith-Höhn, 2010 In Liberia and Sierra Leone strategies to reform and reconstruct the security sector have centred on re establishing the state s monopoly on the use of force However little attention is given to the array of non state actors that often play a major role in how individuals and communities experience security Rebuilding the Security Sector in Post Conflict Societies Perceptions from Urban Liberia and Sierra Leone seek to address this gap by applying a human security approach to security provision across these two contexts A key point of departure is that in the long run there can be no alternative within post conflict societies to a locally owned security sector Operationalising the concept of local ownership means that internationally supported security sector reform SSR activities need to reflect these local realities As explored within this study fostering synergies between state and non state security actors may therefore offer an important avenue to support more sustainable legitimate SSR efforts Judy Smith H hn is a senior researcher at the Institute for Security Studies in Pretoria South Africa Prior to her present position she was a research fellow at the GIGA Institute of African Affairs in Hamburg Germany and later a senior researcher at the Centre for Conflict Resolution in Cape Town in South Africa Her thematic emphases lie in the areas of violent conflict and its prevention and security sector reform within a regional focus on Liberia Sierra Leone Zambia and Zimbabwe She has published nationally and internationally on topics ranging from security sector reform and postconflict peacebuilding to democratic transformation in South Africa She holds a PhD from the University of Leipzig Germany and a Diplom masters degree in Political Science from the University of Hamburg Germany

The Politics of Security Sector Reform Magnus Ekengren, 2016-02-24 Security Sector Reform SSR is increasingly becoming a cornerstone in international security and development cooperation Indeed the concept has often been seen as a panacea for many of the biggest threats to the world such as failed states terrorism and poverty In particular this book focuses on the complexities of implementation of SSR across the globe and the actual and potential role for the European Union EU to play in SSR As suggested in the title of the book this involves not only opportunities but challenges to be overcome as well There are three core themes to this book Policy Policies and Practice By presenting the themes in this particular order a greater appreciation of the influences on the process of SSR from conception to implementation is relayed to the reader This volume appeals to audiences interested in the EU as a global actor and the interrelationships between foreign security defence and development policies

Security Sector Reform in Conflict-Affected Countries Mark Sedra, 2016-11-03 This book examines the evolution impact and future prospects of the Security Sector Reform SSR model in conflict affected countries in the context of the wider debate over the liberal peace project Since its emergence as a concept in the late 1990s SSR has represented a paradigm shift in security assistance from the realist regime centric train and equip approach of the Cold War to a new liberal holistic and people centred model The rapid rise of this model however belied its rather meagre impact on the ground This book critically examines the concept and its record of achievement over the past two decades putting it into the broader context of peace building and state building theory and practice It focuses attention on the most common celebrated and complex setting for SSR conflict affected environments and comparatively examines the application and impacts of donor supported SSR programming in a series of conflict affected countries over the past two decades including Afghanistan Sierra Leone the Democratic Republic of Congo East Timor and Bosnia Herzegovina The broader aim of the book is to better understand how the contemporary SSR model has coalesced over the past two decades and become mainstreamed in international development and security policy and practice This provides a solid foundation to investigate the reasons for the poor performance of the model and to assess its prospects for the future This book will be of much interest to students of international security peacebuilding statebuilding development studies and IR in general

Security Sector Reform Albrecht Schnabel, Hans Born, 2011-11-07 The persistent gap between theory and practice in SSR can be a source of much irritation and disappointment at failures to implement SSR norms as well as in response to concepts and strategies that seem unhelpfully far removed from local realities This paper compares ideal case SSR environments with real life conditions of implementing SSR Through offering suggestions for better practice in SSR implementation it shows that the art of applied SSR can be learned

The Rule of Law and Security Sector Reform Marc Krupanski, 2012-05-15 There is a clear need to better understand the relationship between two concepts at the heart of peacebuilding the Rule of Law RoL and Security Sector Reform SSR If it is acknowledged in principle that they are interdependent in practice enduring conceptual ambiguities and contradictions undermine latent synergies As a consequence international donor agencies are under increasing pressure to demonstrate the benefits of their RoL and SSR assistance This SSR Paper moves the RoL SSR debate forward through examining these activities jointly within a peacebuilding context It proposes a heuristic framework that helps to rationalize this relationship on a conceptual level demonstrating that RoL and SSR are interdependent and mutually reinforcing The resulting framework provides a basis for the development of coherent policies that can support the development of coordinated complementary programmes on the ground

The United Nations and Security Sector Reform Adedeji Ebo, Heiner Haenggi, 2020 Multilateral organizations the United Nations UN in particular have played and continue to play an important role in shaping the security sector reform SSR agenda both in terms of policy development and the provision of support to a wide range of national SSR processes This volume presents a variety of perspectives on UN support to SSR past and present with attention to policy and operational practice Drawing from the experience of UN practitioners combined with external experts on SSR this volume offers an in depth exploration of the UN approach to SSR from a global perspective

Intergovernmental Organisations and Security Sector Reform David Murray Law, David Law, 2007 Intergovernmental organisations IGOs play a crucial role in security sector reform and governance SSR G In virtually all instances of recent and current SSR programme delivery IGOs have either led the SSR effort or supported the lead provided by other actors How this role is played is of vital importance for the prospects of fostering durable security and development in a wide range of countries This volume looks at a selection of organisations that have been in the forefront of SSR activity or that have the potential for significantly developing their SSR agendas in the future These IGOs are the Organisation for Economic Cooperation and Development OECD the European Union EU the North Atlantic Treaty Organisation NATO the Organisation for Security and Co operation in Europe OSCE the Council of Europe CoE the Economic Organisation of West African States ECOWAS the World Bank WB and the International Monetary Fund IMF This year s volume is divided into four parts conceptual issues case studies on how IGOs have approached SSR in programme areas that are particularly representative of their overall action case studies on the way various actors primarily but not exclusively IGOs have worked with each other in implementing SSR and supporting its implementation and conclusions drawn from the various case studies as well as policy recommendations for future IGO work in the area of SSR G

DDR and SSR in War-to-Peace Transition Christopher von Dyck, 2016-05-03 While disarmament demobilization and reintegration DDR and security sector reform SSR have become integral statebuilding tools in post conflict states the existing empirical literature examining their relationship has focused on supply side considerations related to the programming of both processes In practice though DDR and SSR are implemented in the wider context of war to peace transitions where the state is attempting to establish a monopoly over the use of force and legitimize itself in the eyes of domestic and international communities This paper therefore assumes that to identify opportunities and constraints for establishing closer practical linkages between DDR and SSR it is important to take the local politics into consideration It examines two past externally driven peacebuilding interventions in West Africa namely Liberia and Sierra Leone featuring cases in which the central state had essentially fragmented or collapsed Through this comparative analysis the paper aims to provide a stepping stone for future studies examining demand side considerations of DDR and SSR in post conflict contexts
