A Legal View of the Seizure of Messrs. Mason and Slidell (Classic Reprint) Pseud Prolege, 2017-09-17 Excerpt from A Legal View of the Seizure of Messrs Mason and Slidell All the facts of this case have not yet been officially communicated We will assume however that the English mail steam packet Trent was visited beyond the distance of a marine league from the shore and that the neutral waters within that distance were not used by the United States cruiser in watching her Opportunity for the exercise of a belligerent right in the adjacent seas Mr Webster the most distinguished American expounder of international law in his official correspondence with Lord Ashburton declared that a vessel on the high seas beyond the distance of a marine league from the shore is regarded as part of the territory of the nation to which she belongs He also in a subsequent letter to the same functionary held the following language The ocean is the sphere of the law of nations and any merchant vessel on the seas is by that law under the protection of the laws of her own nation and may claim immunity unless in cases in which that law allows her to be entered or visited The maritime right of visitation and search of neutral merchant vessels is a pure belligerent right and can have no existence on the high seas during peace It is allowed by the law of nations only in times of war 1 for contraband 2 for military persons and 3 for despatches About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works

Our Home and Foreign Policy (Classic Reprint) Henry St. Paul, 2017-11-28 Excerpt from Our Home and Foreign Policy Distrustful as we are not of the British people but of the British government we must state that England which cannot be starved into war or even recognition by the want of Omtou came never nearer making a hostile diversion in our favor as when the Pirate Wilkes insulted her again by the seizure of Messrs Mason and Slidell About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works A

Repertory of Convulsions (Classic Reprint) Ellis Monroe Santee, 2018-08-26 Excerpt from A Repertory of Convulsions During the first three months of my practice I had the misfortune to have three cases of convulsions and as I had been taught to rely largely upon my repertories and all of them were almost blank upon this subject I was compelled to depend upon the concomitants and my limited knowledge of Materia Medica I have purposely omitted the lists of remedies said to be indicated by certain pathological names because I do not believe in such prescribing. If the totality of the symptoms is covered by a certain remedy it will cure no matter whether the name of the malady be catalepsy, eclampsia or epilepsy. E. M. S.
