Globalization and the Seduction of Africa's Ruling Class K. Martial Frindéhié, 2014-01-10 Assessing development thinking from a multidisciplinary perspective, this work argues that Africa is undeveloped not in spite of globalization but precisely because of globalization's saintly mission of unbridled liberalization and Euro-American teleology which has reduced the African governing class to a body of abandonment, neurotics, co-conspirators in the First World's human and economic genocides. The work suggests subsequently that provided Africans remain impervious to the anti-Asian agitation which is sweeping the Euro-American world today, they have invaluable lessons in standpoint development to learn from India's and China's experiences with liberalism as well as constructive alliances to establish with these emerging transitional nations.

Sign and Taboo Robert Muponde, Mandivavarira Maodzwa-Tarvinga, 2003 Yvonne Vera's Nehanda 1993 signalled the presence of a new and remarkable writer. Four subsequent novels have confirmed that she was the most important African novelist to emerge during the 1990s. Critics from Zimbabwe, South Africa, Britain, the Caribbean and the United States demonstrate through a diversity of theoretical approaches the originality of her work. Yvonne Vera's dense and poetic writing records public and private experiences of moments in Zimbabwe's history through the consciousness of her
