in Cities By analysing new dynamics of radicalisation through land seizure the politicisation of parklands and tourism the strategic manipulation of archaeological and historical narratives and material culture and through examination of general appropriation of Jerusalem's varied rituals memories and symbolism for factional uses the book reveals how possibilities of co-existence are seriously threatened in Jerusalem Shedding new light on the key role played by everyday urban life and its spatial settings for any future political agreements about the city and its religious sites this book is a useful reference work for students and scholars of Middle East Studies Architecture Religion and Urban Studies

Modern Art in Cold War Beirut Sarah Rogers, 2021-06-14 Modern Art in Cold War Beirut Drawing Alliances examines the entangled histories of modern art and international politics during the decades of the 1950s and 1960s Positing the Cold War as a globalized conflict fraught with different political ideologies and intercultural exchanges this study asks how these historical circumstances shaped local debates in Beirut over artistic pedagogy the social role of the artist the aesthetics of form and ultimately the development of a national art Drawing on a range of archival material and taking an interdisciplinary approach Sarah Rogers argues that the genealogies of modern art can never be understood as isolated national histories but rather that they participate in an ever-contingent global modernism This book will be of particular interest to scholars in art history Cold War studies and Middle East studies

Losing Site Dr Shelley Hornstein, 2013-06-28 As Ruskin suggests in his Seven Lamps of Architecture We may live without architecture and worship without her but we cannot remember without her We remember best when we experience an event in a place But what happens when we leave that place or that place no longer exists This book addresses the relationship between memory and place and asks how architecture captures and triggers memory It explores how architecture exists as a material object and how it registers as a place that we come to remember beyond the physical site itself It questions what architecture is in the broadest sense assuming that it is not simply buildings Rather architecture is considered to be the mapping of physical mental or emotional space The idea that we are all architects in some measure as we actively organize and select pathways and markers within space is central to this book's premise Each chapter provides a different example of the manifold ways in which the physical place of architecture is curated by the architecture in our mental space our imaginary toolbox when we think of a place and look at a photograph or visit a site and describe it later or send a postcard By connecting architecture with other disciplines such as geography visual culture sociology and urban studies as well as the fine and performing arts this book puts forward the idea that a conversation about architecture is not exclusively about formal isolated buildings but instead must be deepened and broadened as spatialized visualizations and experiences of place

Photography and Making Bedouin Histories in the Naqab, 1906-2013 Emilie Le Febvre, 2023-12-22

Introducing a novel anthropological study of photography in the Middle East Emilie Le Febvre takes us to the Naqab Desert where Bedouin use photographs to make and respond to their own histories She argues Bedouin presentations of the past are selective but increasingly reliant on archival documents such as photographs which spokespersons treat as evidence of their local histories amid escalating tensions in Israel These practices shape Bedouin visual historicity that is the diverse ways people produce their pasts in the present with images This book charts these processes through the afterlives of six photographs c 1906 2013 as they circulate between the Naqab s entangled visual economies a transregional landscape organised by cultural ideals of proximity and assemblages of Bedouin iconography Le Febvre illustrates how representational contentions associated with tribal civic and Palestinian Israeli politics influence how images do history work in this society She concludes Bedouin visual historicity is defined by acts of persuasion during which photographs authenticate alternating history projects Here Bedouin value photographs not because they evidence singular narratives of the past Rather the knowledges inscribed by photography are multifarious as they support diverse constructions of history and society with which members mediate a wide range of relationships in southern Israel This book bridges studies of anthropology photography Palestinian Israeli politics and Bedouin Middle East history
