Quantitative Aspects Of Ruminant Digestion And Metabolism Cabi:

Quantitative Aspects of Ruminant Digestion and Metabolism John Michael Forbes, James France, 1993-01-01 Ruminant animals have evolved a set of stomachs harboring microorganisms which are capable of digesting fibrous materials such as cellulose in plants They account for almost all of the milk and more than half of the meat consumed worldwide Therefore a great deal of research has been conducted on the digestive system of ruminants and on the metabolism of products of digestion As qualitative knowledge increased it became possible to develop quantitative approaches initially using complex statistical analyses but more recently by constructing mechanistic mathematical models This book brings together quantitative approaches used in the study of mechanisms of ruminant digestion and metabolism Written by leading authorities from the UK United States Canada and Australia it is aimed at research workers and advanced students in animal sciences

Ruminant physiology Y. Chilliard, F. Glasser, Y. Faulconnier, F. Bocquier, I. Veissier, M. Doreau, 2023-09-04 This book contains the proceedings of the XIth International Symposium on Ruminant Physiology The papers address ruminant comparative physiology the rumen ecosystem and metagenomics nutrient digestion and absorption methanogenesis tissue metabolism and gene expression pregnancy lactation and growth adaptation to heat stress nitrogen use nutrition and reproduction nutrition and welfare and nutrition for sustainable ruminant production These topics are in line with the current challenges for animal breeding production efficiency meat and milk quality environment greenhouse gases nitrogen use animal welfare and health The contributions come from research teams in 49 countries of all continents showing a world wide interest in ruminant nutrition and physiology They show the latest techniques and results on ruminant nutrition physiology including fundamental and integrative approaches presented in the book on the following sections 1 Digestion and absorption 2 Metabolism and hormonal regulations 3 Nutrition and reproduction 4 Nutrition and welfare Proceedings from past ISRP symposia have had a major influence on research and teaching in animal science over the years Without a doubt this book which is of interest to all professionals and researchers who are concerned with ruminant nutrition and physiology will contribute to this fine tradition

Nutrient Requirements of Domesticated Ruminants, Primary Industries Standing Committee, 2007-08-16 Nutrient Requirements of Domesticated Ruminants draws on the most up to date research on the energy protein mineral vitamin and water requirements of beef and dairy cattle sheep and goats It defines the responses of animals in weight change milk production and wool growth to quantitative and qualitative changes in their feed supply It has particular application to grazing animals Factors affecting the intake of feed are taken into account and recommendations are given according to the production systems being used for instance the feed intake of a grazing animal is affected by a larger number of variables than a housed animal Examples of the estimation of the energy and nutrients required for the different production systems are given as well as the production expected from predicted feed intakes The interactions between the grazing animal the pasture and any supplementary feeds are complex involving herbage availability diet selection and substitution To facilitate the application of these recommendations to particular grazing situations readers are directed to decision support tools and spreadsheet programs Nutrient Requirements of Domesticated Ruminants is based on the benchmark publication Feeding Standards for Australian Livestock Ruminants published in 1990 by CSIRO PUBLISHING on behalf of the Standing Committee on Agriculture It provides comprehensive and useful information for graziers livestock advisors veterinarians feed manufacturers and animal nutrition researchers The recommendations described are equally applicable to animals in feedlots or drought yards Energy and protein metabolism and nutrition in sustainable animal production James W. Oltjen, E. Kebreab, Hélène Lapierre, 2013-11-04 As world population increases demand for food and particularly animal products is expected to grow substantially Because of limited area for expansion of animal agriculture and growing consumer concern for the environmental impact of animal production gains in animal efficiency will have to be part of the solution This book addresses key issues of how energy and protein are utilized and interact in farm animals from the molecular to the whole animal and even to the herd or group level of organization It contains state of the art research and reviews on several topics of nutrient utilization and metabolism from top scientists worldwide Key issues addressed include energy protein interactions methodology such as in vitro and in vivo techniques regulation including pre natal programming and endocrine regulation modeling and systems biology including a tribute to the late Professor R Lee Baldwin of the University of California Davis a leader in the field products and health of animals tissue metabolism and environmental sustainability in agriculture This book is a valuable resource for researchers students policy makers producers and industry professionals believing that a better understanding of metabolism and nutrition of farm animals is part of the solution

Nutrient Requirements of Domesticated Ruminants Mike Freer, Hugh Dove, 2007 This publication represents a revision of the report entitled Feeding standards for Australian livestock Ruminants that was issued in 1990 by CSIRO Publishing in conjunction with the Standing Committee on Agriculture Introduction Biology of Metabolism in Growing Animals Douglas Burrin, PhD, Harry J. Mersmann, PhD, 2005-04-19 The book is intended to provide in depth reviews of the recent advances in major areas of metabolism in growing domestic animals The study of metabolism represents a nexus of biological phenomenon that integrates the impact of nutrition physiology endocrinology immunology biochemistry and cell biology in an organism The development of new methodological techniques and experimental approaches have provide scientists with a greater understanding of how key nutrients or substrates are metabolized at the cellular organ and whole animal level This book presents contributions from leading scientists in nutrition and physiology that highlight important new developments in interorgan and tissue specific metabolism of protein and amino acids lipids and fatty acids and carbohydrates in monogastric and ruminant species Authors will describe the impact of specific biochemical pathways and expression of critical enzymes routes of nutrient or substrate input and anatomical or structural influences on the rates of metabolism in a given tissue or cell type Major substrates fuels for oxidative metabolism key signaling pathways and intracellular molecules that regulate the major metabolic processes will be described Also included is how the metabolism of growing animals is influenced by ontogeny stage of differentiation and major changes in diet or the environment The concepts and specific findings in each area are discussed in the context of their impact on the nutrient requirements growth environmental impact health and well being of animals The book will be a useful reference for research scientists teachers and students interested in and advanced understanding of metabolism in growing animals The book is written by leading experts and highlights some of the most recent advances in the field of metabolism It is a useful reference for researchers and advanced level graduate students in nutrition physiology and animal science Presents recent advances in the field of metabolism Energy and protein metabolism and nutrition I. Ortigues-Marty, 2023-08-28 This book is the result of the 2nd International Symposium on Energy and Protein Metabolism and Nutrition It presents the latest results on energy and protein metabolism and nutrition It is oriented towards livestock science but also addresses general aspects of protein and energy metabolism as applied to animals or biomedical sciences The book is based around the following five key topics Nutrition and mitochondrial functions Regulation of body composition and or product quality by tissue metabolism Omics in metabolism and nutrition studies Coordination between tissues for the metabolic utilisation of nutrients From the parts to the whole or how to use detailed information to answer applied questions Widely different approaches ranging from fundamental to integrative approaches are applied to key concepts of nutrition Fundamental research is translated into practical outcomes through active links with applied research and practical applications The newest research techniques and methods are also addressed and the outcomes presented provide an integrated view of this topic The conclusions may eventually be integrated into systems of nutritional recommendations as new nutritional challenges emerge This book will be of interest to all professionals and researchers who concern themselves with developments in animal and human nutrition Alimentación Del Venado Cola Blanca Roque Gonzalo Ramírez Lozano, 2012-09-06 El venado cola blanca Odocoileus virginianus es un animal silvestre que habita prácticamente en todo el Continente Americano En México prácticamente en todo el país excepto en la Península de Baja California Tiene alrededor de 500 000 años en su forma actual y 20 millones de evolución Econmicamente es considerado el trofeo de cacería mayor más importante en todo el mundo Presenta dimorfismo sexual al mostrar diferencias de forma coloración y tamaño entre machos y hembras Tiene hábitos crepusculares pueden encontrarse en grupos de 2 a 6 y hasta 15 individuos Tiene un órgano conocido como vomeronasal Es un órgano auxiliar del sentido del olfato que le da al venado un sexto sentido y que es usado principalmente durante el apareamiento para detectar sustancias secretadas por las hembras Tiene hgado pero no tiene vesícula biliar Su carne es magra y bajo contenido de colesterol Es rumiante y herbívoro Forrajea la vegetación para consumir hojas brotes frutos y semillas así como hongos El hábitat se encuentra prácticamente en todos los hábitats siempre que estos le proporcionen suficiente refugio y alimento No es común en las partes más secas y abiertas del matorral xerófilo ni en las partes más densas y húmedas del bosque tropical perennifolio Los microbios en el rumen además de que sintetizan las vitaminas hidrosolubles del complejo B y la K que es liposoluble hacen posible que el venado obtenga nutrientes que no son disponibles a los animales no rumiantes y convierten nitrógeno no proteico a proteína bacteriana rica en aminoácidos

Mathematical Modelling in Animal Nutrition J. France, E. Kebreab, 2008-01-01 Mathematical modelling is increasingly applicable to the practical sciences Here mathematical approaches are applied to the study of mechanisms of digestion and metabolism in primary animal species It also explores common themes between species and provides an integrated approach to mathematical modelling in animal nutrition

Physiology of Domestic Animals Oystein V. Sjaastad, Olav Sand, Knut Hove, 2010 This textbook is primarily targeted towards students of veterinary animal and agricultural sciences but it is also well suited for university courses in general and mammalian physiology The textbook emphasizes functional aspects of physiology The book contains color illustrations short clarifying statements placed in the margin questions and clinical examples
