Operative Manual of Endoscopic Surgery 2 A. Cuschieri, G. Buess, J. Perissat, 2013-11-11 The second volume of Operative Manual of Endoscopic Surgery covers some of the operative endoscopic procedures which have been introduced into clinical practice since the publication of Vol 1 In the general section we have included an updated chapter on instrumentation and new chapters on anaesthetic management of patients undergoing endoscopic surgery and on video image and recording Both topics are of importance to the practice of endoscopic surgery and have not been adequately covered in the reported literature Volume 2 deals with endoscopic procedures in the chest and abdomen There have been significant advances in thoracoscopic surgery during the past 2 years particular references made to anatomical pulmonary resections and oesophageal resections As far as the gastrointestinal tract is concerned we have included gastric and allied operations but have not covered the colorectal region as we believe that more evaluation is needed before definitive accounts can be written on endoscopic colorectal resections especially for cancer For this reason we have decided to defer this important topic to Vol 3 which is in preparation The same applies to laparoscopic repair of abdominal hernias The same layout has been adopted as in Vol 1 of the series with heavy emphasis on illustrative representation of the operative steps and techniques In the diagrams on sites of trocar cannulae we have indicated not only the site and size but also the functional role of each port Manual of In-house Training Joel F. Schaffer, 2012-12-06 Seymour Glagov The last meeting devoted exclusively to an examination of the atherosclerotic plaque took place in Chicago 25 years ago under the joint auspices of the Council on Arteriosclerosis of the American Heart Association and the Chicago Heart Association The proceedings were published subsequently in a volume entitled Evolution of the Atherosclerotic Plaque edited by Richard J Jones 1 Both experimental and human lesions were considered and several provocative new approaches to the disorder were discussed The electron microscope was being applied systematically to the study of blood vessels at that time so that details of the infrastructure and cellular composition of the artery wall and of atherosclerotic lesions were presented in some detail There was as one result of these explorations considerable discussion of morphologic evidence suggesting that the principal cell involved in the atherogenic process was neither the fibroblast nor the macrophage as had been supposed but the smooth muscle cell In particular the findings indicated that this cell could incorporate lipid and become a foam cell Popular Photography ,1993-02 Popular Photography ,1992-11
