Muslims In The First World War A Brief History:

Commemorating Muslims in the First World War Centenary Meghan Tinsley, 2021-11-22 Commemorating Muslims in the First World War Centenary engages with the explosion of public commemorations in Britain and France in the wake of the First World War centenary alongside the hyper visibility of British and French Muslims in political and popular discourse Bringing these two phenomena together it draws on national commemorations of the First World War centenary in Britain and France alongside eleven local field sites that foregrounded Muslims to make sense of how national memory changes when it seeks to include a previously excluded group Through an identification of three distinct narratives which correspond to three ways of situating Muslims in relation to the nation mourning mobilisation and melancholia it intervenes in debates surrounding memory nationhood and belonging to make sense of the centenary as an extended exercise in nation building at a moment when the borders of British and French national identity were openly and violently contested With particular attention to sites of melancholia the author shows how certain sites disrupt national memory and refrain from producing any cohesive narrative to repair that which has been fractured An exploration of the ways in which commemoration pushes nations to grapple with their past and present without prescribing any tidy solution this book will appeal to scholars of sociology and anthropology with interests in memory studies nationalism and postcolonial studies

A Brief Guide to Islam Paul Grieve, 2013-02-07 Exploring the beliefs history and politics of the ordinary people of Muslim countries Grieve cuts through the complexities as he examines all aspects of Islam He also addresses the big issues can Islam support true democracy Is true democracy what the West really wants for Muslim countries or are we merely seeking a cover of legitimacy for a policy of might is right Paul Grieve is an unbeliever he is not a born again Muslim a proselytizer or a frustrated desert romantic His aim is to inform The result is an accessible but never simplistic guide that challenges stereotypical views from women and banking to war and Malcolm X Complete with advice for visitors to Muslim countries and with carefully chosen primary sources maps and illustrations this is the ideal summary for the reader looking for an unbiased overview of the religious and political world issues that have become part of our everyday lives

A Brief History of France Cecil Jenkins, 2011-05-26 When we think of France we often evoke images of fine food and wine the elegant boulevards of Paris the chic beaches of St Tropez Yet as the largest country in Europe it is a place of huge diversity The idea of Frenchness emerged from over 2000 years of history and it is a riveting story from Roman conquest to the present day Cecil Jenkins tells the story of the formation of this nation through its people great events and culture Through this narrative he charts why the French began to see themselves as so different from the rest of Europe and why today they face the same problems of identity as many other nations

A Brief History of Pakistan James Wynbrandt, 2009 From the Publisher A Brief History of Pakistan attempts to answer these questions in a concise yet thorough account By illuminating the nation's past this book offers readers a detailed perspective of Pakistan today and enables them to consider soundly how the country once a birthplace of civilization might change in the future A Brief History of India Alain Daniélou, 2003-02-11 Daniélou's powerful rebuttal to the conventional view of India's history which calls for a massive reevaluation of the history of humanity. Explores historical occurrences from each major time period starting with the first appearance of man 30 000 years ago. Couples the clarity and perspective of an outsider with the unique and specific knowledge of an insider. By the internationally recognized Hindu scholar and translator of The Complete Kama Sutra 200 000 copies sold Alain Daniélou approaches the history of India from a new perspective as a sympathetic outsider yet one who understands the deepest workings of the culture. Because the history of India covers such a long span of time rather than try to create an exhaustive chronology of dates and events Daniélou instead focuses on enduring institutions that remain constant despite the ephemeral historical events that occur. His selections, synthesis and narration create a thoroughly engaging and readable journey through time with a level of detail and comprehensiveness that is truly a marvel. Because of the continuity of its civilization its unique social system and the tremendous diversity of cultures, races, languages and religions that exist in its vast territory India is like a history museum. Its diverse groups maintained their separate identities and never fully supplanted the culture and knowledge of their predecessors. Even today one may encounter in India primitive Stone Age people whose technology has remained at what is considered prehistoric levels. Thus Daniélou's examination of India reveals not only the diversity and historical events and trends of that country but also the history of all mankind. Through Daniélou's history of India we learn from whence we came, what we have discovered over the years in the fields of science, arts, technology, social structures, religions and philosophical concepts and what the future may hold for us. The Ashgate Research Companion to Modern Imperial Histories John Marriott, 2016-03-23 Written by leading scholars this collection provides a comprehensive and authoritative overview of modern empires. Spanning the era of modern imperial history from the early sixteenth century to the present it challenges both the rather insular focus on specific experiences and gives due attention to imperial formations outside the West including the Russian, Japanese, Mughal, Ottoman and Chinese. The companion is divided into three broad sections. Part I Times surveys the three main eras of modern imperialism. The first was that dominated by the settlement impulse with migrants many voluntarily and many more by force making new lives in the colonies. This impulse gave way most especially in the nineteenth century to a period of busy and rapid expansion which was less likely to promote new settlement and in which colonists more frequently saw their sojourn in colonial lands as temporary and related to the business mostly of governance and trade. Lastly in the twentieth century in particular empires began to fail and to fall. Part II Spaces studies the principal imperial formations of the modern world. Each chapter charts the experience of a specific empire while at the same time placing it within the complex patterns of wider imperial constellations. The individual chapters thus survey the broad dynamics of change within the empires themselves and their relationships with other imperial formations and reflect critically on the ways in which these topics have been approached in the literature. In Part III Themes scholars think critically about some of the key features of imperial expansion and decline These chapters are brief and many are provocative They reflect the current state of the field and suggest new lines of inquiry which may follow from more comparative perspectives on empire The broad range of themes captures the vitality and diversity of contemporary scholarship on questions of empire and colonialism encompassing political economic and cultural processes central to the formation and maintenance of empires as well as institutions ideologies and social categories that shaped the lives both of those implementing and those experiencing the force of empire In these pages the reader will find the slave and the criminal the merchant and the maid the scientist and the artist alongside the structures which sustained their lives and their livelihoods Overall the companion emphasises the diversity of imperial experience and process Comprehensive in its scope it draws attention to the particularities of individual empires rather than over generalising as if all empires at all times and in all places behaved in a similar manner It is this contingent and historical specificity that enables us to explore in expansive ways precisely what constituted the modern empire

Islam and World History Edmund Burke, Robert J. Mankin, 2018-11-05 Published in 1974 Marshall Hodgson's The Venture of Islam was a watershed moment in the study of Islam By locating the history of Islamic societies in a global perspective Hodgson challenged the orientalist paradigms that had stunted the development of Islamic studies and provided an alternative approach to world history Edited by Edmund Burke III and Robert Mankin Islam and World History explores the complexity of Hodgson's thought the daring of his ideas and the global context of his world historical insights into among other themes Islam and world history gender in Islam and the problem of Muslim universality In our post 9 11 world Hodgson's historical vision and moral engagement have never been more relevant A towering achievement Islam and World History will prove to be the definitive statement on Hodgson's relevance in the twenty first century and will introduce his influential work to a new generation of readers
