

Pregraduation Experience Record Guide

*How to record your pregraduation experience
for consideration as credit toward the experience
requirement for licensing*

Introduction

Graduates of an undergraduate engineering program accredited by the Canadian Engineering Accreditation Board are eligible to receive credit of up to 12 months for engineering experience acquired before graduation toward the required 48 months of work experience for licensing. To be eligible for consideration, the pregraduation experience must:

- be acceptable and verifiable engineering experience;
- have been gained following the half-way point in your studies (i.e. following completion of 50 per cent of the academic program); and
- be related to your area of study and area of practice on graduation.

It's mandatory that you be exposed to the application of theory during the work period. Acceptable engineering experience exposes you, to a greater or lesser extent, to five quality-based criteria:

- Application of Theory;
- Practical Experience;
- Management of Engineering;
- Communications Skills; and
- Social Implications of Engineering.

Although all five criteria need not be fulfilled in each pregraduation position, you must demonstrate substantial exposure to Application of Theory and at least a reasonable exposure to the remaining elements.

Recording your pregraduation experience

The Pregraduation Experience Record Form included as part of this guide gives you a format for recording your pregraduation experience. However, you may also choose to prepare your pregraduation experience record using your own format, as long as you provide the following information:

- your name, university attended, expected graduation date, program of study and PEO Student Membership Program (SMP) number (if applicable);
- start and end dates of the reported work periods (day/month/year);
- your job title and the company name;
- a brief description of your job responsibilities, emphasizing the engineering duties you performed;
- an explanation of how you applied engineering theory in this position, including estimating the percentage of time spent applying theory;
