A. Rogers, 2014-09-15 In the Sex and Race series first published in the 1940s historian Joel Augustus Rogers questioned the concept of race the origins of racial differentiation and the root of the color problem Rogers surmised that a large percentage of ethnic differences are the result of sociological factors and in these volumes he gathered what he called the bran of history the uncollected unexamined history of black people in the hope that these neglected parts of history would become part of the mainstream body of Western history Drawing on a vast amount of research Rogers was attempting to point out the absurdity of racial divisions Indeed his belief in one race humanity precluded the idea of several different ethnic races The series marshals the data he had collected as evidence to prove his underlying humanistic thesis that people were one large family without racial boundaries Self trained and self published Rogers and his work were immensely popular and influential during his day even cited by Malcolm X The books are presented here in their original editions The 'air of Liberty' Ineke Phaf-Rheinberger, 2008 The Caribbean imagination as framed within a Dutch historical setting has deep Portuguese African roots The Seven Provinces were the first European power in the first half of the 17th century to challenge the Iberian countries directly for a share in the slave trade This book analyzes the philosophy underlying this transoceanic link when contacts with Africa started to be developed The ambiguous morality of the air of liberty governing the Afro Portuguese past had its impact on the creole cultures white black Jewish of the Dutch territories of Suriname and Curacao Although this influence is gradually disappearing it is astonishing to witness the engagement with which writers and visual artists have interpreted this heritage in their different ways Recent narratives from Angola and Brazil offer an appropriate starting point for an examination of strategies of self representation and national consolidation in works by authors from the Dutch Caribbean In order to reveal this complex historical pattern the formerly Dutch related port communities are conceived of as cultural agents whose lettered cities Angel Rama have engaged in critical dialogue with the heritage of the South Atlantic trade in human lives Artists and writers discussed include colonial period Caspar Barlaeus David Nassy Frans Post and John Gabriel Stedman modern period Frank Martinus Arion Cola Debrot Gabriel Garcia Marquez Albert Helman Francisco Herrera Luque Boeli van Leeuwen Tip Marugg Alberto Mussa Pepetela Julio Perrenal and Mario Pinto de Andrade This is a notable achievement for it both draws attention to the region and challenges critics and historians to engage in cross regional and trans disciplinary research and analysis Saul Sosnowski      Mixing Race, Mixing Culture Monika Kaup, Debra Rosenthal, 2002-08-15 Over the last five centuries the story of the Americas has been a story of the mixing of races and cultures Not surprisingly the issue of miscegenation with its attendant fears and hopes has been a pervasive theme in New World literature as writers from Canada to Argentina confront the legacy of cultural hybridization and fusion This book takes up the challenge of transforming American literary and cultural studies into a comparative discipline by examining the dynamics of racial and cultural mixture and its opposite tendency racial and cultural disjunction in the literatures of the Americas Editors Kaup and Rosenthal have brought together a distinguished set of scholars who compare the treatment of racial and cultural mixtures in literature from North America the Caribbean and Latin America From various angles they remap the Americas as a multicultural and multiracial hemisphere with a common history of colonialism slavery racism and racial and cultural hybridity      Sex and Race: Why white and black mix in spite of opposition Joel Augustus Rogers, 1972      Presenting the Past Susan Porter Benson, Stephen Brier, Roy Rosenzweig, 1986 In recent years history has been increasingly popularized through television docudramas history museums paperback historical novels grassroots community history projects and other public representations of historical knowledge This collection of lively and accessible essays is the first examination of the rapidly growing field called public history Based in part on articles written for the Radical History Review these eighteen original essays take a sometimes irreverent look at how history is presented to the public in such diverse settings as children s books Colonial Williamsburg and the Statue of Liberty Presenting the Past is organized into three areas which consider the role of mass media Packaging the Past the affects of applied history Professionalizing the Past and the importance of grassroots efforts to shape historical consciousness Politicizing the Past The first section examines the large scale production and dissemination of popular history by mass culture The contributors criticize many of these Hollywood and Madison Avenue productions that promote historical amnesia or affirm dominant values and institutions In Professionalizing the Past the authors show how non university based professional historians have also affected popular historical consciousness through their work in museums historic preservation corporations and government agencies Finally the book considers what has been labeled people s history oral history projects slide shows films and local exhibits and assesses its attempts to reach such diverse constituents as workers ethnic groups women and gays Of essential interest to students of history Presenting the Past also explains to the general reader how Americans have come to view themselves their ancestors and their heritage through the influence of mass media popular culture and public history Author note Susan Porter Benson is Associate Professor and Chair of History at Bristol Community College in Massachusetts Stephen Brier is Director of the American Social History Project and Senior Research Scholar at the Graduate Center City University of New York Roy Rosenzweig is Associate Professor of History and Director of the Oral History Program at George Mason University in Virginia      Sex and Race; Joel Augustus Rogers, 1967      Great Events from History II.: 1955-1969

Sokolove,2013-07-10 As an artist Deborah Sokolove has often been surprised and dismayed by the unexamined attitudes and assumptions that the church holds about how artists think and how art functions in human life By investigating these attitudes and tying them to concrete examples Sokolove hopes to demystify art to bring art down to earth where theologians pastors and ordinary Christians can wrestle with its meanings participate in its processes and understand its uses In showing the commonalities and distinctions among the various ways that artists themselves approach their work Sanctifying Art can help the church talk about the arts in ways that artists will recognize As a member of both the church and the art world Sokolove is well positioned to bridge the gap between the habits of thought that inform the discourse of the art world and those quite different ideas about art that are taken for granted by many Christians When art is understood as intellectual technical and physical as well as ethereal mysterious and sacred we will see it as an integral part of our life together in Christ fully human and fully divine      Mixed Feelings in France Ewelina Pepiak,2024-11-30 While multicultural comedies criticise hegemonic whiteness and outdated stances on race relations they simultaneously perpetuate the colonial aesthetic register by deploying a republican gaze an ironic meta narrative perspective on ethnic minorities Ewelina Pepiak analyses how gender and ethnicity are represented in seven contemporary French comedies 2008 2018 including mixed race couples focusing on a trope of m tissage biological and cultural mixing and white femininity As analyses of ethnic and gender representations remain scarce due to the slow emergence of postcolonial studies in France this study adds significant insights to the postcolonial debate
