A Cultural History of Plants in the Modern Era Stephen Forbes,2023-12-14 A Cultural History of Plants in the Modern Era covers the period from 1920 to today a time when population growth industrialization global trade and consumerism have fundamentally reshaped our relationship with plants Advances in agriculture science and technology have revolutionised the ways we feed ourselves whilst urbanization and industrial processing have reduced our direct connection with living plants At the same time our understanding of both ecology and conservation have greatly increased and our appreciation of the meanings and aesthetics of plants continue to suffuse art and everyday culture The modern era has witnessed a revolution in both the valuation and the destruction of the natural world more than ever before we understand that the vitality of our relationship with plants will shape our future The 6 volume set of the Cultural History of Plants presents the first comprehensive history of the uses and meanings of plants from prehistory to today The themes covered in each volume are plants as staple foods plants as luxury foods trade and exploration plant technology and science plants and medicine plants in culture plants as natural ornaments the representation of plants Stephen Forbes is an independent scholar and writer based in Australia Volume 6 in the Cultural History of Plants set General Editors Annette Giesecke University of Delaware USA and David Mabberley University of Oxford UK Landscape Design/landscape Architecture Henry Gilbert,1991 Landscape Design/landscape

Architecture, January 1970-November 1988 Henry Gilbert,1989 Public Garden Management: a Global Perspective BIJAN DEHGAN,2014-04-15 Public Gardens Management A Global Perspective provides essential information about public gardens and what is involved in designing managing and maintaining one Although suitable as a textbook its audience will include anyone with direct or peripheral responsibility for administration or supervision of a complex organization that requires scientific knowledge as well as public relations and business acumen It may also prove useful for homeowners for there is no fundamental difference between growing plants in a public garden or a home garden a fact reflected in the extensive reference citations The topic is multidisciplinary and as old as the beginning of human civilization when the concept of mental and physical restoration was realized by early man while he she was in a natural but well ordered garden environment Thus began the art of garden making Many volumes have been written on every applicable subject discussed in this and similar publications Indeed the voluminous literature on history design horticulture and numerous related subjects is nothing short of overwhelming Accordingly anyone involved in management of public gardens whether as a director or area supervisor and irrespective of the type and size of such facility would have to have familiarity with various aspects of garden organization and administration However despite the enormous number and diversity of such publications there are very few books that deal with the multiplicity of the topics in such a manner as to be practical in approach and cover most relevant and unified issues in a single book These volumes provide the essential background information on plants animals management maintenance fundraising and finances as well as history art design education and conservation They also cover a host of interrelated subjects and responsible organization of such activities as creating a childrens garden horticultural therapy conservatories zoological gardens and parks hence administration of multidimensional public gardens Nearly 500 full color plates representing illustrations from gardens in more than 30 countries are provided to assist and guide students and other interested individuals with history and the fundamental issues of public garden management The 15 chapters begin with the need for public gardens types of public gardens historical backgrounds as well as design diversity Numerous quotations are included from many garden lovers landscape architects philosophers and others The authors primary aim in writing this book was based on the confidence that a relevant reference between the encyclopedic nature of some and the specific subject matter of others could be used to provide fundamental information for management of public as well as private gardens The boundary between botanical and zoological gardens and parks is no longer as distinct as it once was In part it is because a garden is not a garden without plants and in part it has become apparent that for all practical intents and purposes all animals need plants for their survival Visitors of zoological gardens expect to see more than just animals zoos are landscaped grounds Moreover most communities find it financially difficult to simultaneously operate a botanical garden or an arboretum as well as a zoological garden and city parks A number of public gardens are currently referred to as botanical and zoological garden Population density and the publics desires and expectations as well as financial requirements are among the reasons for some major city parks such as Golden Gate in San Francisco Central Park in New York City and Lincoln Park in Chicago which integrate botanical or zoological divisions as well as museums and recreational facilities While this book attempts to provide basic principles involved in public garden management it does not claim to be a substitute for broader familiarity Roberto Burle Marx Lauro Cavalcanti, Farès El-Dahdah, Francis Rambert, 2011 Roberto Burle Marx Sao Paulo 1909 Rio de Janeiro 1994 is known as a landscape architect but also as a painter botanist gardener chef and jewellery designer He considered the garden to be one of the fine arts as the adaptation of the biome to civilisation s natural requirements This book introduces the realm of the full sensory experience Burle Marx s work with plants becomes highly pictorial everything is drawn coloured and constructed In this symbiosis between aesthetics and botany Burle Marx is the master of both species and spaces His work is the embodiment of the nature city a concept developed from the garden cities of the late 19th century which has become compromised in the 21st century due to the compact city model This new publication focuses on Burle Marx s scientific interest in the landscape and his relationship with the environment Concepts that continue to be of major significance in contemporary landscape architecture such as ecology garden as an art form and landscape design in the urban structure are some of the subjects the book deals with The visual information of the book is complemented by the texts by Fares El Dahdah Francis Rambert Jacques Leenhardt Jose Tabacow Lelia Coelho Frota Andre Correa do Lago Dorothee Imbert Valerie Fraser and Gilles Clement
