Antiheroines of Contemporary Media Melanie Haas, N. A. Pierce, Gretchen Busl, 2020-12-02 This volume of essays provides a critical foray into the methods used to construct narratives which foreground antiheroines a trope which has become increasingly popular within literary media film and television Antiheroine characters engage constructions of motherhood womanhood femininity and selfhood as mediated by the structures that socially prescribe boundaries of gender sex and sexuality Within this collection scholars of literary cultural media and gender studies address the complications of representing agency autonomy and self determination within narrative texts complicated by age class race sexuality and a spectrum of privilege that reflects the complexities of scripting women on and off screen within and beyond the page This collection offers perspectives on the alternate narratives engendered through the motivations actions and agendas of the antiheroine while engaging with the discourses of how such narratives are employed both as potentially feminist interventions and critiques of access hierarchy and power

Mediating Moms Elizabeth Podnieks, 2012 Women's studies cultural studies Imagining Motherhood in the Twenty-First Century Valerie Heffernan, Gay Wilgus, 2020-12-17 Images representations and constructions of mothers have historically shaped and continue to shape the way we imagine the institution of motherhood and the experience of mothering The various contributions included in this volume consider the diversity of maternal images and narratives that circulate in literature the arts and popular culture and analyse how they reflect on and influence the cultural meaning of motherhood in the contemporary era Mindful of the fact that the images of motherhood that we see in popular media on television and in literature are not mere background noise to our daily lives the various chapters explore how they influence our understanding of what it means to be a mother affect our expectations of motherhood and of mothers frame our experience of mothering and even inform our reproductive decisions Including insights from media studies cultural studies literary studies and the performing and visual arts this book explores how engaging with diverse representations of mothers and mothering contributes to a broader and deeper interdisciplinary understanding of how motherhood is constructed in our time The chapters in this book were originally published as a special issue of the journal Women A Cultural Review Maternal Narratives in Public Contexts Catherine A. Dobris, Rachel Davidson, Kim White-Mills, 2024-12-15 Maternal Narratives in Public Contexts Shaping Perspectives and Enacting Identities brings together critical research on the construction and enactment of mothering and motherhood in public spheres The book is divided into two parts in the first part authors examine how prevailing ideals of motherhood influence twenty first century culture by exploring iterations of maternal identity in various media forms from Dr Spock's self help guide to film and small screen entertainment In the second part the authors investigate how tropes of motherhood manifest and operate in academia the workplace and in political spheres Ultimately this book explores how maternal identities are both formed and articulated in public discourse arguing that rhetorical influences inform the ways in which we define recognize and enact maternal identities and the sociocultural ramifications that result within communication contexts Scholars of communication media studies film and television studies cultural studies rhetoric and women's and gender studies will find this book of particular interest Women in Leadership and Work-Family Integration Volume Two Kerri Cissna-Heath, Margaret J. Weber, 2016-08-17 Today women are assuming greater roles within the workplace and men are assuming greater roles within the home Both spheres have to be seen as a place where males and females are competent Gersick suggests that women have to let go of the traditional identities related to social role family and work Both men and women have to step into new identities and develop new roles Will the home look different and the workplace be a different environment Absolutely men will do their work in their way within the family and home while women will clarify their identity within the workplace Helgessen and Johnson 2010 describe the female vision which views the world differently than men Women also bring a unique perspective to the workplace This book encourages us to explore embrace and celebrate these new identities within the workplace and the family

Brown Bodies, White Babies Laura Harrison, 2016-09-20 Brown Bodies White Babies focuses on the practice of cross racial gestational surrogacy in which a woman through in vitro fertilization using the sperm and egg of intended parents or donors carries a pregnancy for intended parents of a different race Focusing on the racial differences between parents and surrogates this book is interested in how reproductive technologies intersect with race particularly when brown bodies produce white babies While the potential of reproductive technologies is far from pre determined the ways in which these technologies are currently deployed often serve the interests of dominant groups through the creation of white middle class heteronormative families Laura Harrison providing an important understanding of the work of women of color as surrogates connects this labor to the history of racialized reproduction in the United States Cross racial surrogacy is one end of a continuum in which dominant groups rely on the reproductive potential of nonwhite women whose own reproductive desires have been historically thwarted and even demonized Brown Bodies White Babies provides an interdisciplinary analysis that includes legal cases of contested surrogacy historical examples of surrogacy as a form of racialized reproductive labor the role of genetics in the assisted reproduction industry and the recent turn toward reproductive tourism Joining the ongoing feminist debates surrounding reproduction motherhood race and the body Brown Bodies White Babies ultimately critiques the new potentials for parenthood that put the very contours of kinship into question

Surrogacy and the Reproduction of Normative Family on TV Lulu Le Vay, 2019-05-23 This book examines the proliferation of surrogacy storylines on TV exploring themes of infertility motherhood parenting and family It investigates how despite reproductive technologies ability to flex contours of family the shows narratives work to uphold the white heterosexual genetically reproduced family as the ideal In dialogue with responses from a range of female viewers both mothers and non mothers the book scrutinises the construction of family ideology on television with studies including Coronation Street 1960 present Giuliana is homosexuality only acceptable when it echoes heterosexual norms Are female characters only fulfilled when they are genetic mothers Does heterosexual romance override technology in the cure for infertility While the answers to these questions may suggest that television still conforms to heteronormative narratives this book importantly demonstrates that audiences desire alternative happy endings that show infertile female characters more positively and recognise alternative kinship formations as meaningful
