Person-centred Practice in Nursing and Health Care Brendan McCormack, Tanya McCance, 2017 Person-centred Nursing Research: Methodology, Methods and Outcomes Jan Dewing, Brendan McCormack, Tanya McCance, 2021-04-26 This book is the first ever to offer a contemporary collection of different perspectives on person centredness in international doctoral nursing research The research in the book is based on the ideas and values of personhood and person centeredness which have been used and can be seen to guide research approaches inform research designs and theorize research findings Further a specific framework for person centred nursing is embedded throughout the research studies presented in the text

The Person centred Nursing Framework PCNF developed by Brendan McCormack and Tanya McCance in 2010 is recognized as a nursing theory and this book further develops it as a basis for research and for advancing person centredness in nursing. The framework informs all stages of the research process from design through to dissemination. The book is structured into a number of highly engaging chapters written by doctoral candidates and recently graduated candidates. The opening and closing chapters written by the editors place the subsequent chapters in a global context of person centredness and nursing. The potential for person centred nursing research to be a global movement is recognized and debated. The subsequent chapters lead readers through philosophical ideas, methodologies and methods whilst also offering reflective and honest insights into learning how to become a person centred researcher. This field is growing and developing but yet there is no specific book available. As a result, researchers spend considerable time and effort translating existing research methodologies into person centred perspectives. This book fills this gap and acts as a key resource for future nurse researchers. The text is intended for and benefits nursing doctoral candidates, masters candidates and academic staff who teach and supervise research candidates; it may also appeal to other graduate learners. The book has international contributions which makes it appealing internationally.

Person-Centred Practice in Nursing and Health Care Brendan McCormack, Tanya McCance, 2016-08-08. Person centred Practice in Nursing and Health Care is a comprehensive and practical resource for all nurses and healthcare practitioners who want to develop person centred ways of working. This second edition, which builds on the original text Person Centred Nursing, has been significantly revised and expanded to provide a timely and topical exploration of an important subject which underpins all nursing and healthcare, edited by internationally renowned experts in the field. Person centred Practice in Nursing and Health Care looks at the importance of person centred practice (PCP) from a variety of practice, strategic and policy angles, exploring how the principles of PCP underpin a variety of perspectives including within leadership and in the curriculum. The book explores not only a range of methodologies but also covers a variety of different healthcare settings and contexts including working within mental health services, acute care, nursing homes, the community and working with children and people with disabilities. Key features:

- Significantly updated and expanded since the previous edition, taking into account the considerable changes in recent health care advancements including the Francis report.
- Builds on previous perspectives of person centredness in nursing and applies them in a broader nursing and health care context.
- Includes a stronger exploration on the role of the service user.
- Shows the use of life story and narrative approaches as a way of putting the individual's identity at the heart of the care relationship.
- Includes learning features such as links to current practice developments and reflective questions.
