

It's not funny.

I am serious.

I know.

And you're really
that willing?

So ready for this
to be the end...

...for this to be
the twilight of your life,
though your life has barely started. You're ready to give up everything.

Human Extinction Émile P. Torres,2023-06-15 This volume traces the origins and evolution of the idea of human extinction from the ancient Presocratics through contemporary work on existential risks Many leading intellectuals agree that the risk of human extinction this century may be higher than at any point in our 300 000 year history as a species This book provides insight on the key questions that inform this discussion including when humans began to worry about their own extinction and how the debate has changed over time It establishes a new theoretical foundation for thinking about the ethics of our extinction arguing that extinction would be very bad under most circumstances although the outcome might be on balance good Throughout the book graphs tables and images further illustrate how human choices and attitudes about extinction have evolved in Western history In its thorough examination of humanity s past this book also provides a starting point for understanding our future Although accessible enough to be read by undergraduates Human Extinction contains new and thought provoking research that will benefit even established academic philosophers and historians

Adaptation in the Age of Media Convergence Johannes Fehrle, Werner Schäfke-Zell, 2025-10-01 This collection considers new phenomena emerging in a convergence environment from the perspective of adaptation studies The contributions take the most prominent methods within the field to offer reconsiderations of theoretical concepts and practices in participatory culture transmedia franchises and new media adaptations The authors discuss phenomena ranging from mash ups of novels and YouTube cover songs to negotiations of authorial control and interpretative authority between media producers and fan communities to perspectives on the fictional and legal framework of brands and franchises In this fashion the collection expands the horizons of both adaptation and transmedia studies and provides reassessments of frequently discussed BBC's Sherlock or the LEGO franchise and previously largely ignored phenomena self censorship in transnational franchises mash up novels or YouTube cover videos

The Web as History Niels Brügger, Ralph Schroeder, 2017-03-06 The World Wide Web has now been in use for more than 20 years From early browsers to today's principal source of information entertainment and much else the Web is an integral part of our daily lives to the extent that some people believe if it's not online it doesn't exist

While this statement is not entirely true it is becoming increasingly accurate and reflects the Web's role as an indispensable treasure trove. It is curious therefore that historians and social scientists have thus far made little use of the Web to investigate historical patterns of culture and society despite making good use of letters, novels, newspapers, radio and television programmes and other pre-digital artefacts. This volume argues that now is the time to ask what we have learnt from the Web so far. The 12 chapters explore this topic from a number of interdisciplinary angles through histories of national web spaces and case studies of different government and media domains as well as an introduction that provides an overview of this exciting new area of research.
