Real Social Science Applied Phronesis:

Real Social Science Bent Flyvbjerg, Todd Landman, Sanford Schram, 2012-04-19 Real Social Science presents a new hands on approach to social inquiry The theoretical and methodological ideas behind the book inspired by Aristotelian phronesis represent an original perspective within the social sciences and this volume gives readers for the first time a set of studies exemplifying what applied phronesis looks like in practice The reflexive analysis of values and power gives new meaning to the impact of research on policy and practice Real Social Science is a major step forward in a novel and thriving field of research This book will benefit scholars researchers and students who want to make a difference in practice not just in the academy Its message will make it essential reading for students and academics across the social sciences Values,

Rationality, and Power: Developing Organizational Wisdom Brad C. Anderson, 2019-10-21 This book presents an analysis of organizational wisdom via an embedded single case study of a group s attempt to develop and spread a medical innovation within a Canadian healthcare authority By offering a unique insight into how values rationality and power interact in a real social setting the book explores how they create positive change Social Science Research Ethics for a

Globalizing World Keerty Nakray, Margaret Alston, Kerri Whittenbury, 2015-10-14 Research in the humanities and social sciences thrives on critical reflections that unfold with each research project not only in terms of knowledge created but in whether chosen methodologies served their purpose Ethics forms the bulwark of any social science research methodology and it requires continuous engagement and reengagement for the greater advancement of knowledge Each chapter in this book will draw from the empirical knowledge created through intensive fieldwork and provide an account of ethical questions faced by the contributors placing them in the context of contemporary debates surrounding the theory and practice of ethics The chapters have been thematically organized into five sections Feminist Ethics Cross Cultural Reflections and Its Implications for Change Researching Physical and Sexual Violence in Non Academic Settings A Need for Ethical Protocols Human Agency Reciprocity Participation and Activism Meanings for Social Science Research Ethics Emotions Conflict and Dangerous Fields Issues of Safety and Reflective Research and Social Science Education Training in Ethics or Ethical Training and Ethical Publicizing This inter disciplinary volume will interest students and researchers in academic and non academic settings in core disciplines of Anthropology Sociology Law Political Science International Relations Geography or inter disciplinary degrees in Development Studies Health Studies Public Health Policy Social Policy Health Policy Psychology Peace and Conflict studies and Gender Studies The book features a foreword by His Holiness The Dalai Lama

Theory and Method in Higher Education Research Jeroen Huisman, Malcolm Tight, 2019-10-07 This volume of Theory and Method in Higher Education Research contains analyses and discussions of amongst others disability frameworks rhythms research loose coupling mixed methods internet mediated research critical whiteness and selection bias Seeing the World and Knowing God Paul S. Fiddes, 2013-07-25 This book aims to create a Christian theology of wisdom for the present day in discussion with two sets of conversation partners The first are writers of the wisdom literature in ancient Israel and the Jewish community in Alexandria Here special attention is given to the biblical books of Proverbs Job and Ecclesiastes The second conversation partners are philosophers and thinkers of the late modern age among them Jacques Derrida Emmanuel Levinas Julia Kristeva Paul Ricoeur and Hannah Arendt In the late modern period there has been a reaction against an inherited conception of the conscious and rational self as mastering and even subjugating the world around and there has been an attempt to overcome the consequent split between the subject and objects of observation Paul S Fiddes enters into dialogue with these late modern concerns about the relation between the self and the world proposing that the wisdom which is indicated by the ancient Hebraic concept of okmah integrates a practical wisdom of handling daily experience with the kind of wisdom which is attunement to the world and ultimately to God as creator and sustainer of all Fiddes brings detailed exegesis of texts from the ancient wisdom literature into interaction with an account of the subject in late modern thought in order to form a theology in which seeing the world is knowing a God whose transcendent reality is always immanent in the signs and bodies of the world He thus argues that participation in a triune relational God shapes a wisdom that addresses problems of a dominating self and opens the human person to others Democratizing Public Management Marta Struminska-Kutra, 2018-08-23 This book argues that contemporary society in general and public administration specifically can benefit from more reflexive learning processes through democracy and public involvement It identifies the most central social practices dilemmas and challenges for public management as well as the mechanisms needed to enact institutional change Offering a model of reflexivity and learning in the face of public dispute it explores phenomena such as problem solving democratization public learning and uncertainty to address certain tensions in governance theory and practice Through a range of well sourced case studies this book demonstrates how institutions can manage difficult situations by not only resolving the conflict but addressing the underlying problem It uses both theoretical and practical approaches to observe the micro foundations of political behavior and its institutional underpinnings and will be a valuable resource for public administration researchers practitioners and graduate students seeking empirical studies of learning processes in the public sphere Jane Addams on Inequality and Political Friendship Wynne Walker Moskop, 2019-06-14 In this book Wynne Walker Moskop addresses the practical and theoretical problem of how unequal political friendships evolve toward arrangements the parties consider reciprocal and just a problem neglected by scholars of democracy who associate reciprocity and justice only with equal parties Jane Addams insisted that Hull House was not a charity with philanthropic aspirations rather it had to bring two classes to a shared purpose and more egalitarian relation. The problem was and still is how. Drawing on several bodies of scholarship including Addams's writings, secondary works about her collaborations, literature on Aristotelian political friendship and feminist scholarship on the global migration of care workers, Moskop shows the importance of Addams's practices to the continuing relevance of unequal economic relations for shaping political friendship. Contributing to a lively conversation about Addams's work as a pragmatist thinker and social reformer that began three decades ago, Jane Addams on Inequality and Political Friendship is an invaluable resource to students of democratic theory, feminist political theory and philosophy and American pragmatism. It illuminates the importance of overlooked conditions for friendship and justice in unequal relations given people's ongoing subordination because of race, class, gender and citizenship status in the U.S. and transnationally.

Critical Realism for Health and Social Research May-Britt Solem, Dag Jenssen, 2024-12-11. This book, which is aimed at the health care and social work care field, looks at the relationship between different levels of research projects. As the social sciences can be based on quite different assumptions or philosophies² about what the social world is like and how knowledge about it can be obtained, this book will help students navigate the need for consistency between empirical work, the research question, research design, values and philosophy of science. Based on a critical realist perspective, the book seeks to elucidate and to reflect on such connections and to argue for the requirements of coherence as well as taking a critical look at the dilemmas that arise in health and social care work research. Comprised of 13 chapters which cover theoretical frameworks, research questions, objectives of the study, research ethical considerations, values and the question of validity, it shows how these must be interlinked if a project is to have a good design. It will be of interest to researchers, PhD candidates and master's students in the field of health care and social work care.

NL ARMS Netherlands Annual Review of Military Studies 2019 Wim Klinkert, Myriame Bollen, Marenne Jansen, Henk de Jong, Eric-Hans Kramer, Lisette Vos, 2019-07-16. This book has as its subject matter the academic education of officers and builds on the signing of the Bologna Declaration in 1999 by twenty-nine European ministers for Education and Science who thereby agreed to coordinate higher education across Europe by, for instance, the implementation of the Bachelor's and Master's system. In the meantime, military academies have also introduced the BaMa system into their programs for officers' education, which marks a transition from the old days when officers' education took place within a national military system under military command and was firmly grounded in principles, traditions and needs as professed by the Ministries of Defence and the armed forces in particular. So the Bologna Declaration can be seen as crucial leverage for the development of in-house academic degree programs as a fundamental part of officers' education. With this volume, the editors of NL ARMS 2019 strive to offer a platform to both academics and military and civilian practitioners as well as to combinations of these to reflect and share their thoughts on officers' education before and after Bologna, both in The Netherlands and abroad. To this end, controversies and challenges affecting various aspects and systems of officers education have been grouped into five themes. Respectively the first four themes comprise institutional settings and change, educational philosophy, educational challenges and reflective practices, and didactical solutions. The fifth theme, international perspectives, provides insights into the strategic environments and challenges faced by sister academies as well as ways to further officers education across Europe such as offered by Erasmus programs. All the editors of this year's volume are affiliated with the Faculty of Military Sciences of the Netherlands Defence Academy in Breda, The Netherlands.
