Security and Sustainable Development in Myanmar Helen James, 2006-09-27 Helen James considers security in Myanmar Burma She uses the ideas put forward in the United Nations Development Programme's 1994 report of human as opposed to state and security going on to argue that freedom from want and freedom from fear of the regime are in fact mutually supportive ideas and that the security of the people and the security of the state are in fact in a symbiotic relationship with each other Presenting new and significant information of the security concept of Myanmar Burma James original work considers economic development health education environmental issues the drugs trade human rights minority peoples and political social and economic reforms arguing that improved governance the development of civil society and economic development would both strengthen the state and ensure the security and well being of its citizens Security, Development and Nation-Building in Timor-Leste Vandra Harris, Andrew Goldsmith, 2012-03-29 Despite Timor Leste's high expectations when it became independent from Indonesia in 2002 the country is ranked among the least developed countries in the world It has found itself at the centre of international attention in the last decade with one of the biggest interventions in UN history as well as receiving amongst the highest per capita rates of bilateral assistance in the Asia Pacific region This book draws together the perspectives of practitioners policy makers and academics on the international efforts to rebuild one of the world's newest nations The contributors consider issues of peace building security and justice sector reform as well as human security in Timor Leste locating these in the broader context of building nation stability and development The book includes two demographic studies that can be used to critically examine the nation's possible future Engaging in deliberate consideration of both practical and theoretical complexities of international interventions this book will be of interest to academics and students in the fields of Development Security and Southeast Asian Studies Animism in Southeast Asia Kaj Arhem, Guido Sprenger, 2015-11-19 Animism refers to ontologies or worldviews which assign agency and personhood to human and non human beings alike Recent years have seen a revival of this concept in anthropology where it is now discussed as an alternative to modern Western naturalistic notions of human environment relations Based on original fieldwork this book presents a number of case studies of animism from insular and peninsular Southeast Asia and offers a comprehensive overview of the phenomenon its diversity and underlying commonalities and its resilience in the face of powerful forces of change Critically engaging with the current standard notion of animism based on hunter gatherer and horticulturalist societies in other regions it examines the roles of life forces souls and spirits in local cosmologies and indigenous religion It proposes an expansion of the concept to societies featuring mixed farming sacrifice and hierarchy and explores the question of how non human agents are created through acts of attention and communication touching upon the relationship between animist ontologies world religion and the state Shedding new light on Southeast Asian religious ethnographic research the book is a significant contribution to anthropological theory and the revitalization of the concept of animism in the humanities and social sciences Historical Dictionary of Burma (Myanmar) Donald M. Seekins, 2017-03-27

Burma Myanmar is a Southeast Asian country that is emerging from crisis after more than a half century of hard line military rule and cultural diplomatic and economic isolation With the dissolution of its military regime the State Peace and Development Council in 2011 a formally civilian but military dominated constitutional government was inaugurated By 2012 Burma's president retired General Thein Sein had established a working relationship with Daw Aung San Suu Kyi the leader of the country's pro democracy movement since 1988 and after a 2012 by election she and members of her opposition party the National League for Democracy NLD entered the new Union Parliament as legislators However even with the election victory of Daw Suu Kyi and the NLD in the General Election of November 2015 Burma faces daunting challenges it is still one of the poorest countries in Southeast fissured by longstanding ethnic conflicts that have made a nationwide peace agreement elusive and its people's security and the environment are threatened by foreign economic exploitation Religious discord is also widely evident as Buddhist militants instigate violence against the country's religious minorities especially Muslims Today Burma's prospects are the most hopeful they have been for over half a century as the country takes steps along the road to a more open society and economy This edition of the Historical Dictionary of Burma Myanmar encompasses not only current developments but also Burma's over 1 500 years old recorded history and the most important features of its cultures ethnicity religions society and economy This is done through a chronology an introduction and an extensive bibliography The dictionary section has over 700 cross referenced entries on important personalities politics economy foreign relations religion and culture Southeast Asia and the European Union Naila Maier-Knapp, 2014-09-19

Amidst the Eurozone crisis the European Union EU is stepping up its dialogue and engagement with and within Southeast Asia The EU's contemporary approach towards Asia emphasises the importance of open economies and common challenges of the 21st Century So called non traditional security issues have been portrayed increasingly as an avenue to share experiences and enhance cooperation between the EU and Southeast Asia This contemporary conceptual re orientation demands a closer look at the EU as an actor in Southeast Asia This book is the first contemporary monograph length discussion of the EU as a politico security actor in the region post Cold War Drawing upon the historical and institutional context and a broad range of empirical case studies it considers the non traditional security crises of the late 1990s and early 2000s in Southeast Asia as triggers for enhanced regional and inter regional cooperation In doing so the book construes new insights into our understanding of the EU as a global actor and its normative influence in regions far away from Europe Providing a crisis centric and sector specific analysis which is much needed the book will be of interest to scholars of Southeast Asian Politics and European Politics as well as policy makers The Politics of Aid to Burma Anne Decobert, 2015-11-19

For over sixty years conflict between state forces and armed ethnic groups was ongoing in parts of the borderlands of Burma Ethnic minority communities were subjected to systematic and widespread abuses by an increasingly complex patchwork of armed state and non state actors Populations in more remote and disputed border areas typically had little to no access to even basic healthcare and education services As part of its counter insurgency campaign the military state also historically restricted international humanitarian access to civilian populations in unstable border areas It was in this context that cross border aid to Burma had developed as an alternative mechanism for channelling assistance to populations denied aid through more conventional systems Yet by the late 2000s national and international changes had significant impacts on an aid debate which had important political and ethical implications Through an ethnographic study of a cross border aid organisation working on the Thailand Burma border this book focuses on the political and ethical dilemmas of humanitarian government It explores the ways in which aid systems come to be defined as legitimate or illegitimate humanitarian or un humanitarian in an international context that has witnessed the multiplication of often conflicting humanitarian systems and models It examines how an embodied history of violence can shape the worldviews and actions of local humanitarian actors as well as institutions created to mitigate human suffering It goes on to look at the complex and often invisible webs of local organisations international NGOs donors armed groups and other actors which can develop in a cross border and extra legal context a context where competing constructions of systems as legitimate or illegitimate are highlighted Exploring the history of humanitarianism from the local aid perspective of Burma this book will be of interest to students and scholars of Southeast Asian Studies Anthropology of Humanitarian Aid and Development Studies Brunei - History, Islam, Society and Contemporary Issues Ooi Keat Gin, 2015-12-14 Brunei although a relatively small state is disproportionately important on account of its rich resource base In addition in recent years the country has endeavoured to play a greater role in regional affairs especially through ASEAN holding the chair of the organisation in 2013 and also beyond the region fostering diplomatic political economic and educational ties with many nations This book presents much new research and new thinking on a wide range of issues concerning Brunei largely drawn from Bruneian academics Subjects covered include Brunei s rich history the sultanate formerly had much more extensive territories and was a key player in regional affairs the country s economy politics society and ethnicities and resource issues and international relations Social Activism in Southeast Asia Michele Ford, 2013 Social Activism in Southeast Asia examines the ways in which social movements operate in a region characterized by a history of authoritarian regimes and relatively weak civil society It situates cutting edge accounts of activism around civil and political rights globalization peace the environment migrant and factory labour the rights of middle and working class women and sexual identity in an overarching framework of analysis that forefronts the importance of human rights and the state as a focus for social activism Drawing on contemporary evidence from Cambodia Indonesia Malaysia Myanmar the Philippines Singapore Thailand and Timor Leste the book explores the ways in which social movement actors engage with their international allies the community and the state in order to promote social change As well as providing detailed and nuanced analyses of particular movements in specific areas of Southeast Asia the book addresses difficult questions about the politics strategies and authenticity of social movements

Ending Forced Labour in Myanmar Richard Horsey, 2011-02-28 The International Labour Organization's ILO efforts since the early 1990s to address the forced labour situation in Myanmar represent a rare example of success in influencing the behaviour of that regime and this book gives a first hand account of these efforts As the ILO's representative in the country the author was able to operate a complaint system for victims of forced labour resulting in prosecutions of government officials and an end to many abuses In addition to giving a fascinating insider's account of how this was achieved and the many challenges encountered the book examines in detail why one of the most repressive military regimes allowed the ILO to operate a complaints mechanism in the first place and why it felt the need to take action in response to some of those complaints This book will make a significant contribution to thinking on how to influence authoritarian regimes as well as understanding the dynamic of relations with Myanmar As such it is an essential read for scholars of international relations and global governance human rights

international law and Southeast Asian studies

Political Institutions in East Timor

Lydia Beuman, 2016-02-05 In 2002 East Timor became an independent state following a long conflict with Indonesia and went on to adopt a semi presidential form of government In a semi presidential system there is a directly elected fixed term president prime minister and government who are collectively responsible for the legislature Over 50 countries in the world have adopted such a system This book examines the politics of semi presidentialism in East Timor from 2002 2012 and post 2012 political developments It analyses the impact of semi presidentialism on the performance of East Timor's democracy and looks at whether semi presidentialism encourages power sharing between competing forces or whether it provoke a power struggle that threatens democratic stability Using East Timor as a case study the author explains whether the adoption of semi presidentialism helps or hinders the process of democratisation in new democracies It is of interest to researchers in the fields of Political Science Conflict Resolution and Asian Studies in particular Southeast Asian Politics
