NGO Field Workers in Bangladesh Mokbul Morshed Ahmad, 2017-11-22 This title was first published in 2002 NGOs are receiving increasing international attention and resources from policy makers donors academics and others The New Policy Agenda accepts NGOs as agents for social welfare alongside the state and as fostering democracy in the Developing World Astonishingly however there have been very few studies and no books on NGO field workers This study of field workers in Bangladesh provides excellent insights into this neglected field Bangladesh is an excellent example as since independence in 1971 it has been a donor dependent country both financially and functionally and since the 1980s has concentrated this funding towards NGOs rather than to the state The book shows how field workers are seen simply as implementers carrying out directions given by their superiors and never being consulted on how best to achieve their goals The book examines four types of NGOs international national regional and small local in a number of sample locations It compares the benefits and facilities provided by each NGO to their field workers then explores the socio economic background of both field workers and their mid level managers and examines the interactions between these two groups and between field workers and their clients It also looks at the field workers personal and professional lives and problems and details their opinions on their NGO s activities and policies and on development The findings show that NGO managers and donors lack knowledge of the realities in the field and do not realise how certain policies such as their positive discrimination of women can have negative results It proposes that NGO field workers should be more active in policy making and puts forward several recommendations for changes in the management and structure of future NGOs Bangladesh International Monetary Fund. African Dept., 2012-10-31 Poverty Reduction Strategy Papers are prepared by member countries in broad consultation with stakeholders and development partners including the staffs of the World Bank and the IMF Updated with annual progress reports they describe the countries macroeconomic structural and social policies in support of growth and poverty reduction as well as associated external financing needs and major sources of financing This country document for Bangladesh is being available on the IMF website by agreement of the member country as a service to users of the IMF website Human Resources for Health Country Profile, Bangladesh ,2013 Detailed data on human resources for health in Bangladesh World who is who and Does what in Environment & Conservation Nicholas Polunin, Lynn M. analysis at the edge of the network instead of interacting with cloud based servers Therefore more and more devices need to be added in remote locations without any substantial monitoring strategy This increased connectivity and the devices used for edge computing will create more room for cyber criminals to exploit the system s vulnerabilities Ensuring cyber security at the edge should not be an afterthought or a huge challenge The devices used for edge computing are not designed with traditional IT hardware protocols There are diverse use cases in the context of edge computing and Internet of Things IoT in remote locations However the cyber security configuration and software updates are often overlooked when they are most needed to fight cyber crime and ensure data privacy Therefore the threat landscape in the context of edge computing becomes wider and far more challenging There is a clear need for collaborative work throughout the entire value chain of the network In this context this book addresses the cyber security challenges associated with edge computing which provides a bigger picture of the concepts techniques applications and open research directions in this area In addition the book serves as a single source of reference for acquiring the knowledge on the technology process and people involved in next generation computing and security It will be a valuable aid for researchers higher level students and professionals working in the area
