Realising Farmers Rights To Crop Genetic Resources Success Stories And Best Practices:

Realising Farmers' Rights to Crop Genetic Resources Regine Andersen, Tone Winge, 2013-07-18 Farmers Rights are essential for maintaining crop genetic diversity which is the basis of all food and agricultural production in the world The International Treaty on Plant Genetic Resources for Food and Agriculture recognizes Farmers Rights and provides for relevant measures However implementation is slow and in many countries there is resistance This book shows the necessity of realizing Farmers Rights for poverty alleviation and food security the practical possibilities of doing so and the potential gains for development and society at large It provides decision makers and practitioners with a conceptual framework for understanding Farmers Rights and success stories showing how each of the elements of Farmers Rights can be realized in practice The success stories have brought substantial achievements as regards one or more of the four elements of Farmers Rights the rights of farmers to save use exchange and sell farm saved seed the protection of traditional knowledge benefit sharing and participation in decision making This does not mean that these examples are perfect Challenges encountered on the way are conveyed and offer important lessons The stories represent different regions and localities including Europe Asia Africa and Latin America as well as various categories of stakeholders and types of initiatives and policies TRIPS plus

20 Hanns Ullrich, Reto M. Hilty, Matthias Lamping, Josef Drexler, 2016-01-29 This book examines the impact and shortcomings of the TRIPS Agreement which was signed in Marrakesh on 15 April 1994 Over the last 20 years the framework conditions have changed fundamentally New technologies have emerged markets have expanded beyond national borders some developing states have become global players the terms of international competition have changed and the intellectual property system faces increasing friction with public policies The contributions to this book inquire into whether the TRIPS Agreement should still be seen only as part of an international trade regulation or whether it needs to be understood or even reconceptualized as a framework regulation for the international protection of intellectual property The purpose therefore is not to define the terms of an outright revision of the TRIPS Agreement but rather to discuss the framework conditions for an interpretative evolution that could make the Agreement better suited to the expectations and needs of today's global economy

Routledge Handbook of Biodiversity and the Law Charles R. McManis, Burton Ong, 2017-11-27 This volume provides a reference textbook and comprehensive compilation of multifaceted perspectives on the legal issues arising from the conservation and exploitation of non human biological resources Contributors include leading academics policy makers and practitioners reviewing a range of socio legal issues concerning the relationships between humankind and the natural world The Routledge Handbook of Biodiversity and the Law includes chapters on fundamental and cutting edge issues including discussion of major legal instruments such as the Convention on Biological Diversity and the Nagoya Protocol The book is divided into six distinct parts based around the major objectives which have emerged from legal frameworks concerned with protecting biodiversity Following introductory chapters Part II examines issues relating to conservation and sustainable use of biodiversity with Part III focusing on access and benefit sharing Part IV discusses legal issues associated with the protection of traditional knowledge cultural heritage and indigenous human rights Parts V and VI focus on a selection of intellectual property issues connected to the commercial exploitation of biological resources and analyse ethical issues including viewpoints from economic ethnobotanical pharmaceutical and other scientific industry perspectives Fair and Equitable Benefit-Sharing in Agriculture (Open Access) Elsa Tsoumani, 2020-07-16 This book explores the emergence and development of the legal concept of fair and equitable benefit sharing and its application in agriculture Developed in the 1990s the concept of fair and equitable benefit sharing has been deployed in an ever wider variety of international instruments including those on biodiversity climate change and human rights A lack of clarity persists however on what fair and equitable benefit sharing requires and entails and whether its implementation supports or eventually undermines equity and justice This book examines these questions in the area of land food and agriculture addressing for the first time several instances of the agricultural production chain including research and development land governance and land use and access to markets It identifies challenges regarding implementation of the concept as enshrined in environmental treaties and soft law instruments with a focus on the International Treaty on Plant Genetic Resources for Food and Agriculture the Voluntary Guidelines on Tenure and the UN Declaration on the Rights of Peasants It investigates its role enabling conditions and limitations in a contradictory policy context involving environmental food security and human rights objectives but also a growing web of multilateral and bilateral trade and investment agreements Linking international law research with a socio legal analysis the book addresses four grassroots examples which offer ideas for institutional and legal innovation from the local to the global level This interdisciplinary title will be of great interest to students and scholars of international environmental law agriculture land law development studies and global governance as well as policymakers and practitioners working in these fields The Open Access version of this book available at <https://doi.org/10.4324/9780429198304> has been made available under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives 4.0 license Farmers' Rights - Educational Module V Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations, 2021-09-27 The role of farmers as custodians and innovators of plant genetic diversity that feeds the world population was not formally recognized at the international level until the adoption of the International Treaty on Plant Genetic Resources for Food and Agriculture The International Treaty is the first legally binding instrument that recognizes the enormous contribution of local and indigenous communities and farmers worldwide to the development and conservation of crop diversity This module examines its origins and provisions in the International Treaty and presents some practical activities for the realization of Farmers Rights It aims to i understand the crucial role of farmers in the conservation and sustainable use of plant genetic resources for food and agriculture ii describe the evolution of Farmers Rights up to their recognition by the International Treaty iii explain the components of Article 9 of the International Treaty iv illustrate the implementation of Article 9 at the national level with practical examples and best practices and v strengthen stakeholders capacities for implementing Farmers Rights as reflected in Article 9 of the International Treaty The realization of Farmers Rights falls under the responsibility of national governments and the adoption of measures for the promotion of Farmers Rights therefore remains at the discretion of national authorities Although there is no binding agreement for the implementation of Farmers Rights it is clear that farmers need to be supported to continue their role as stewards of plant genetic diversity in agriculture

Farmers' rights Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations,2018-06-05 Farmers rights refer to rights arising from the past present and future contributions of farmers in conserving improving and making available plant genetic resources This educational module explains the foundation of the concept and outlines the important role played by farmers and local and indigenous communities in the conservation and sustainable management of plant genetic resources for food and agriculture

Survey of access and benefit-sharing country measures accommodating the distinctive features of genetic resources for food and agriculture and associated traditional knowledge Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations,2021-09-01 The Commission on Genetic Resources for Food and Agriculture at its Seventeenth Regular Session requested its Secretary to prepare for review by the intergovernmental technical working groups on animal aquatic forest and plant genetic resources to produce an up to date survey of existing legislative administrative and policy approaches including best practices for ABS for the different subsectors of GRFA and traditional knowledge associated with GRFA held by indigenous peoples and local communities with the aim of identifying typical approaches and lessons learned from their implementation as well as challenges and possible solutions The current survey comprises a baseline desktop review of legislation policy and literature It provides a review of how countries address the distinctive features of GRFA and TKGRFA based on the letter of their ABS legislative administrative and policy measures rather than on how these measures have been implemented in practice It therefore does not provide an analysis of the state of implementation the challenges involved and possible solutions to these challenges As such it aims to provide a basis for future empirical research on how ABS measures work in practice for GRFA subsectors A specific objective is to provide a typology of legislative administrative and policy measures applying to ABS for GRFA and TKGRFA

Sustainable Practices in Higher Education Thomas Walker,Khaled Tarabieh,Sherif Goubbran,Gabrielle Machnik-Kekesi,2023-06-14 This edited collection presents reviews and critically analyzes sustainable practices and long term oriented decision making in Higher Education Institutions HEIs Campus closures and the quick transition to hybrid or e learning as a result of the COVID 19 pandemic caused HEI stakeholders including students faculty and staff to swiftly adopt new ways of learning teaching and administering that were unfathomable only months before This radical and challenging shift left many in academia with a sense that there is tremendous potential for HEIs to take the lead both from an educational and practical standpoint in fostering on and off campus sustainability and combatting climate change In this book the editors and their contributors systematically highlight current challenges that are slowing or

derailing HEIs finance related initiatives and practices geared toward sustainability The case studies collected in this book provide a holistic overview of the ways in which financial and other long term decisions can lead to more sustainable practices in higher education Towards an Ecological Intellectual Property David J Jefferson, 2020-06-08 This book focuses on analysing how legal systems set the terms for interactions between human beings and plants The story that the book recounts is one of experimental lawmaking in Ecuador a country where over the past decade governmental officials and civil society advocates have attempted to reconfigure how human individuals and institutions relate to nature by following an eco centric approach to lawmaking In doing so Ecuadorian legislators administrators and judges have taken seriously the ontologies of non human entities including plants through a process that has required the continuous navigation of tensions with certain logics that pervade conventional legal regimes The book endeavours to disrupt these conventional assumptions and approaches to lawmaking by taking seriously alternative strategies to reconstitute interactions between people and plants In doing so the book argues in favour of an ecological turn in laws that govern vegetal life The analysis is based on a close examination of the experiences that lawmakers in Ecuador have had when experimenting with innovative approaches to re form relationships between human and non human beings Concretely these experiments have yielded constitutional legislative and regulatory changes that inform the inquiry of how intellectual property and plant genetic resources laws both in Ecuador and worldwide could become more ecological in nature The argument that the book develops is based on extensive ethnographic fieldwork and empirical research in Ecuador complemented by archival and doctrinal legal analysis The contents of the book will be of interest to an academic audience of legal scholars and postgraduate students in law in addition to scholars and students in the fields of anthropology sociology socio legal studies and science and technology studies The Commons, Plant Breeding and Agricultural Research Fabien Girard, Christine Frison, 2018-03-09 The joint challenges of population increase food security and conservation of agrobiodiversity demand a rethink of plant breeding and agricultural research from a different perspective While more food is undeniably needed the key question is rather about how to produce it in a way that sustains biological diversity and mitigates climate change This book shows how social sciences and more especially law can contribute towards reconfiguring current legal frameworks in order to achieving a better balance between the necessary requirements of agricultural innovation and the need for protection of agrobiodiversity On the assumption that the concept of property can be rethought against the background of the right to include so as to endow others with a common right to access genetic resources several international instruments and contractual arrangements drawn from the plant breeding field including the Convention on Biological Diversity technology exchange clearing houses and open sources licenses receive special consideration In addition the authors explore the tension between ownership and the free circulation and exchange of germplasm and issues such as genetic resources managed by local and indigenous communities the ITPGRFA and participatory plant breeding programmes As a whole the book demonstrates the relevance of the Commons for plant breeding and agricultural innovation
