Really Really Big Questions:

The Big Questions Steven E. Landsburg, 2010-09-02 What's wrong with stealing? What's the best way to blood test a pot bellied pig? Should we tolerate intolerance? In the wake of his enormously popular books The Armchair Economist and More Sex is Safer Sex, Steven Landsburg uses concepts from maths, economics and physics to address the big questions in philosophy. Where does knowledge come from? What's the difference between right and wrong? Do our beliefs matter? Is it possible to know everything? Provocative, utterly entertaining and always surprising, The Big Questions challenges readers to re-evaluate their most fundamental beliefs and reveals the relationship between the loftiest philosophical quests and our everyday lives.

Asking Big Questions Grenville J. R. Kent, 2014-06-27 What do educated urban people think about God and why? What factors—logical, emotional, experiential or intuitive—incline them towards belief or towards unbelief? How do they balance these factors? Why do many seem to be swing voters, comfortable sitting on the fence, unmotivated to move far either way? What common ground do they share with Christianity? What are their objections to Christian belief and practice and their misunderstandings? Why do many people describe intuitive and emotional attraction to believing in God but resist it intellectually? What apologetic approaches would make most sense specifically to educated urban Australians? What media products do they enjoy and trust? And how should these insights influence apologetics? Grenville Kent asks these questions in one Australian demographic to help target Big Questions, a documentary film series for Christian apologetics. Anyone interested in apologetics, evangelical media and the application of marketing research to evangelism will be interested in this study.

Kids' Big Questions about Heaven, the Bible, and Other Really Important Stuff Sandy Silverthorne, 2024-03-19 What is heaven like? Is it going to be fun? Does God answer our prayers? How do I make God smile? Were there really spies in the Bible? Kids have lots of questions. But adults don't always have the answers, especially about the BIG things. Sandy Silverthorne is here to help. In this book, he tackles 101 questions, including some you never thought to ask, offering honest biblical answers. His quirky cartoons and activities make finding the answers fun. And the information he provides helps kids explore their faith, consider God's plans for their lives and understand just how much God loves and cares for them. Perfect for kids ages 6-8, this thoughtful and entertaining book is great for sparking conversation over breakfast, reading before bed and all those in-between times when kids are coming up with more questions to ask.

Creativity and Children's Literature Marianne Saccardi, 2014-07-31 Today's students need to be able to do more than score well on tests; they must be creative thinkers and problem solvers. The tools in this book will help teachers and parents start students on the path to becoming innovative, successful individuals in the 21st-century workforce. The children in classrooms today will soon become adult members of society; they will need to apply divergent thinking skills to be effective in all aspects of their lives, regardless of their specific occupation. How well your students meet complicated challenges and take advantage of the opportunities before them decades down the road will depend largely upon the kind of thinking they are trained and encouraged to do today This book provides a game plan for busy librarians and teachers to develop their students abilities to arrive at new ideas by utilizing children s books at hand Following an introduction in which the author defines divergent thinking discusses its characteristics and establishes its vital importance chapters dedicated to types of literature for children such as fantasy poetry and non fiction present specific titles and relevant activities geared to fostering divergent thinking in young minds Parents will find the recommendations of the kinds of books to read with their children and explanations of how to engage their children in conversations that will help their creative thinking skills extremely beneficial The book also includes a case study of a fourth grade class that applied the principles of divergent thinking to imagine innovative designs and come up with new ideas while studying a social studies science unit on ecology
