New Directions In Social Theory Race Gender And The Canon:

New Directions in Social Theory Kate Reed, 2006 Beyond Social Theory offers a passionate contribution to the debate about social theory its role using as a medium a discussion of the ways in which gender race have contributed to the exclusion of important thinkers from the sociological canon New Directions in Social Theory Kate Reed, 2006-05-18 This book contributes to the growing debates about social theory and its role through a discussion of the ways in which gender and race contributed to the exclusion of important thinkers from the sociological canon John Hughes Lancaster University Who makes up the canon of sociology and who doesn't Does sociology need a canon in the first place Beyond Social Theory offers an innovative and passionate contribution to debates on the history and development of sociology and the exclusion of theorists who are female black or both from the mainstream of social theorizing With compelling biographical sketches bringing the dynamics behind the canon to life Kate Reed focuses sharp analysis on the exclusion of theorists on race and gender from important debates on inequality An important contribution to the debate on non exclusionary theory this book critically examines existing accounts of the history of the discipline situating the development of social theory within a wider social and political context New Directions in Social Theory Nadya Sewick, 2017-06 Today early in the twenty first century all that is changed Individuals may strive for stability societies may create the illusion of permanence the quest for certainty may continue unabated yet the fact remains that society is an ever changing phenomenon growing decaying renewing and accommodating itself to changing conditions and suffering vast modifications in the course of time Our understanding of it will not be complete unless we take into consideration this changeable nature of society study how differences emerge and discover the direction of change Social theory has at least become a deliberated object of contempt in academic quarters while standing as an icon for a host of seriously interesting intellectual labours by the younger citizens of those quarters The business of social theory might therefore be said to be thinking ideas about social things that have not previously been thought Social theory thereby would be the work of thinking the Unthinkable Gone are the days when the theoretical underpinnings of sociological research could be neatly confined to the conceptual terrain of say structural functionalism symbolic interactionism or ethnomethodology Today theoretical innovation in sociology results from a cross referencing of disciplinary perspectives a cross referencing that scoops up and reconfigures many of the new social theories poststructuralism postmodernism post feminism postcolonialism psychoanalysis and deconstruction To advocates of the interdisciplinary turn in sociology these new social theories are primarily valuable because they disrupt traditional disciplinary boundaries The new theories it is said inflame a novel arrangement with current social processes and promote an intellectual process of expansion and transformation When social theorists today reflect on the changing relations between the individual and society they generally do so in ways that are intensely shaped by methodological concerns that underscore actor and or system based models of analysis New Directions in Social Theory Race Gender and the Canon sociological concerns from the investigation of power and status processes to social movements and revolutions to organisational and institutional structures to world system analysis It outlines current developments in thinking in the field of Social Impact Assessment SIA This book will be an invaluable introduction for graduate students academics consultants and practitioners concerned with social studies Racism and Ethnicity Ian Law, 2013-09-05 Racism and Ethnicity Global Debates Dilemmas Directions examines in detail the theories histories and principal debates of race racism and ethnicity within a global context The text offers critical evaluation of the work of major figures from Du Bois to Goldberg and presents new research on pre modern racisms contemporary scientific racisms racist violence racism reduction ethnicity in the UK and European patterns of exclusion and discrimination Richly illustrated throughout with examples and case studies drawn from across the world and time the book also offers a range of in text features to aid study including chapter summaries key concept boxes chapter activities and further reading Racism and Ethnicity Global Debates Dilemmas Directions will be core reading for students at all levels across the social sciences and the humanities ranging from history and cultural studies through sociology to political and policy analysis It will also be of significant interest to researchers and policy makers in a range of fields

Restoring the Classic in Sociology Alan R. How, 2016-06-30 This book demonstrates that classical sociology is essential to cutting edge debates in the contemporary social sciences It has become fashionable to play down the importance of the classic text in sociology and critique the ideas of Weber Marx and Durkheim as ideologically outdated The author mounts a strong challenge to this view criticising such notions as de traditionalization structuration and postmodernism emphasizing instead the relevance of habit re traditionalization and social integration across time Arguing that sociology has eliminated the importance of the past history and tradition in favour of the transience of the present he revisits the Habermas Gadamer debate to argue that tradition is the ground of the classic and the classic something that must prove itself anew in subsequent situations He uses the work of Durkheim Simmel and Weber to illustrate this process Making a distinction between classic and canon which parallels that between agency and structure he allows the reader to appreciate the separate value of both This major contribution to the field is essential reading for scholars and students of sociology and social theory Gender and Genetics Kate Reed, 2012 Prenatal screening for genetic disorders is becoming an increasingly widespread phenomenon across the globe While studies have highlighted the importance of women s experiences of such screening little is known about men s roles and direct involvement in this process With a focus on the experiences of both women and men this text offers an innovative and passionate account of the gendered nature of prenatal screening Drawing on interview data with pregnant women and their male partners in a UK city Reed provides a compelling analysis of maternal and paternal roles in prenatal screening Through this analysis the book raises important issues around genetics gender and screening practice With a focus on the gendered production of good and bad genes the book explores differences between visual technologies and blood screening It also explores the gendered nature of genetic responsibility and the impact this has on parenting roles Extending its arguments into other key debates in prenatal genetics including a focus on the impact of screening on other types of stratification including ethnicity and class Reed provides an original and comprehensive analysis of some of the most pressing concerns in the field to date This book will be of interest to students and scholars of the sociology of health and illness science and technology studies gender studies feminist bioethics and medical anthropology as well as professionals in the fields of midwifery and genetic counselling

Social Life Matthias Benzer, Kate Reed, 2019-09-02 In Social Life the authors highlight explain and scrutinize socio theoretical analyses of contemporary social relations and conditions put forward by eight modern social theorists and analyse how these have informed sociological inquiries into people's lives in today's social world The book discusses the works of the following social theorists Anthony Giddens Pierre Bourdieu Bruno Latour Donna Haraway Zygmunt Bauman Jean Francois Lyotard Michel Foucault Jean Baudrillard In each chapter the authors identify the key components of each theorist's conception of society and apply the theories outlined to specific modern phenomena This connection with modern day phenomena allows for a critical interrogation of issues in contemporary society including Inequality and Capital Power Fear and Terrorism Immune System Discourse Suffering and Climate Change Essential reading for all sociology students studying social theory and the works of modern social theorists

Power, Knowledge and Feminist Scholarship Maria do Mar Pereira, 2017-02-10 Feminist scholarship is sometimes dismissed as not quite proper knowledge it's too political or subjective many argue But what are the boundaries of proper knowledge Who defines them and how are they changing How do feminists negotiate them And how does this boundary work affect women's and gender studies and its scholars and students' lives These are the questions tackled by this ground breaking ethnography of academia inspired by feminist epistemology Foucault and science and technology studies Drawing on data collected over a decade in Portugal and the UK US and Scandinavia this title explores different spaces of academic work and sociability considering both official discourse and corridor talk It links epistemic negotiations to the shifting political economy of academic labour and situates the smallest but fiercest departmental negotiations within global relations of unequal academic exchange Through these links this timely volume also raises urgent questions about the current state and status of gender studies and the mood of contemporary academia Indeed its sobering yet uplifting discussion of that mood offers fresh insight into what it means to produce feminist work within neoliberal cultures of academic performativity demanding increasing productivity As the first book to analyse how academics talk publicly or in off the record humour about feminist scholarship Power Knowledge and Feminist Scholarship is essential reading for scholars and students in gender studies LGBTQ studies post colonial studies STS sociology and education Winner of the FWSA 2018 Book Prize competition The Open Access version of this book available at <https://doi.org/10.4324/9781315692623> has been made available under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives 4.0 license

Genetics and Global Public Health Simon M. Dyson, Karl Atkin, 2014-06-11 Sick cell and thalassaemia are among the world's most common genetic conditions. They are especially common in Africa, Brazil, the Caribbean, the Middle East, and Asia. They affect all ethnic groups but they particularly impact on minority ethnic groups in North America, Europe, and Australasia. Much research has focused on clinical laboratory and genetic studies of these conditions. Through a wide-ranging selection of readings based on social scientific research into sickle cell and thalassaemia, this book seeks to redress this imbalance. This is important as, through an examination of the different social, economic, and cultural contexts of the lives of people living with sickle cell or thalassaemia, the contributors demonstrate that people are more than the sum of their genes and that their life experiences are rarely derived solely from the clinical severity of their condition but depend on the social context of their lives. Genetics and Global Public Health presents a new concluding chapter which highlights the critical nature of social science research for sickle cell and thalassaemia communities, providing key insights into the social contexts of human behaviour and analysing how societal arrangements could change to assist people living with either condition. It will be of great interest to postgraduate and research students as well as professionals working in the field of public health. This book was originally published as a special issue of the journal Ethnicity and Health. Conversations in Postcolonial Thought

K. Sian, 2016-04-30. Offering 12 interviews with postcolonial thinkers in the social sciences and humanities, this collection features theorists such as Sara Ahmed and Paul Gilroy. Topics range from Bob Marley to the Black Panthers, Fanon to feminism and anti-apartheid to the academy, uncovering thought-provoking adventures about resistance and empowerment.
