New Grub Street George Gissing Ebook:

The Novelist in the Novel Elizabeth King, 2023-11-14 Why do writers so often write about writers This book offers the first comprehensive account of the phenomenon of the fictional novelist as a character in literature arguing that our notions of literary genius and what it means to be an author are implicitly shaped by and explicitly challenged in novels about novelists a genre that has been critically underexamined Employing both close and distant reading techniques to analyse a large corpus of author stories The Novelist in the Novel explores the forms and functions of author stories and the characters within them offering a new theory that frames these works as textual sites at which questions of literary value and the cultural conceptions around authorship are constantly being negotiated and revised in a form of covert criticism aimed directly at readers While nineteenth century novels about novelists reveal a pervasive frustration with the market a starving artist vs commercial sell out dichotomy modernist examples of the genre focus on the development of the individual author as artist entirely aloof from the marketplace and from the literary sphere at large Yet each of these dynamics is gendered with women denigrated to commercial producers and men elevated to artists and while the canon has largely supported the male view of authorship a closer look at the work of women writers from this period reveals concerted attempts to counteract it Silly Lady Novelists are pitted against serious male modernists in a battle to define what it means to be a literary genius

Racing the Street Robert J. Topinka, 2020-08-18 Racing the Street traces the history of how race was used as a technology for gathering assembling and networking the early cosmopolitan city Drawing on an archive that ranges from engineering blueprints and parliamentary committee reports to sensationalistic pamphlets and periodical press accounts Robert J Topinka conducts an original genealogy of the nineteenth century London street demonstrating how race as a technology gathers sorts and assembles the teeming particularities of the street into a manageable network This interdisciplinary study offers a novel approach to the intersections of race rhetoric media technology and urban government

7 Best Short Stories: Work O. Henry, James Joyce, Anton Chekhov, Willa Cather, George Gissing, Gustave Flaubert, Sherwood Anderson, 2019-07-01 Money and the social effects of having it or not is too big a theme in people's daily lives to be ignored by literature. The writers gave the most varied interpretations and looked from the most different angles to the human relationship with money but the final thought is always up to the reader. The critic August Nemo selected seven classic short stories on this subject: Counterparts by James Joyce, The Romance of a Busy Broker by O. Henry, Sleepy by Anton Chekhov, Neighbour Rosicky by Willa Cather, An Old Maid's Triumph by George Gissing, The Egg by Sherwood Anderson, A Simple Soul by Gustave Flaubert.

For Better, For Worse Carolyn Lambert, Marion Shaw, 2017-08-29 This interdisciplinary volume explores the fictional portrayal of marriage by women novelists between 1800 and 1900. It investigates the ways in which these novelists used the cultural form of the novel to engage with and contribute to the wider debates of the period around the fundamental cultural and social building block of marriage. The collection provides an important contribution to the emerging scholarly interest in nineteenth-century marriage, gender studies and domesticity, opening up new possibilities for uncovering submerged, marginalized and alternative stories in Victorian literature. An initial chapter outlines the public discourses around marriage in the nineteenth century, the legal reforms that were achieved as a result of public pressure and the ways in which these laws and economic concerns impacted on the marital relationship. It beds the collection down in current critical thinking and draws on life writing, journalism and conduct books to widen our understanding of how women responded to the ideological and cultural construct of marriage. Further chapters examine a range of texts by lesser-known writers as well as canonical authors structured around a timeline of the major legal reforms that impacted on marriage. This structure provides a clear framework for the collection, locating it firmly within contemporary debate and foregrounding female voices. An afterword reflects back on the topic of marriage in the nineteenth century and considers how the activism of the period influenced and shaped reform post 1900. This volume will make an important contribution to scholarship on Victorian Literature, Gender Studies, Cultural Studies and the Nineteenth Century.

Sounding Modernism Julian Murphet, 2017-03-08 This volume brings together a range of essays by eminent and emergent scholars working at the intersection of modern literary cinema and sound studies. The individual studies ask what specific sonorous qualities are capable of being registered by different modern media and how sonic transpositions and transferences across media affect the ways in which human subjects attend to modern soundscapes. Script, groove, electrical current, magnetic imprint, phonographic vibration as the contributors show, sound traverses these and other material platforms to become an insistent ground note of modern aesthetics, one not yet adequately integrated into critical accounts of the period. This collection also provides a commanding and wide-ranging investigation of the conditions under which modernists tapped technically into the rhythms echoes and sonic architectures of their worlds Railway Reading and Late-Victorian Literary Series Paul Raphael Rooney, 2018-05-11 The railway was one of the principal Victorian spaces of reading This book spotlights one of the leading audience demographics in this late Victorian market the newly empowered readers of the expanding middle class The transactions in which late Victorian readers acquired the books read whilst travelling are reconstructed by exploring the leading determinants of consumers purchasing choices at the railway station bookstalls selling books intended for reading in this zone This exploration concentrates on the impact of forces like the input of the staff running the bookstalls and the commercial environment in which consumers made their purchases At the center of this study is a leading and still relatively under examined genre of Victorian print culture circulating in this reading space the series Rooney examines three leading examples of late Victorian series which sought to satisfy railway passengers need for literary reading matter Many of the period s principal authors and literary genres featured in their lists Each venture is representative of one of the three main pricing tiers of series publishing Employing an eclectic methodological framework combining cultural studies and book history approaches with concepts from the new humanities the reading experiences furnished by the light fiction of these series are reconstructed This study reflects the recent growth in scholarship on historical readership the expansion in the canon of Victorian popular literature and the broader material turn in nineteenth century studies
