Principles of Ecosystem Stewardship F Stuart Chapin III, Gary P. Kofinas, Carl Folke, 2009-06-12 The world is undergoing unprecedented changes in many of the factors that determine its fundamental properties and their influence on society These changes include climate the chemical composition of the atmosphere the demands of a growing human population for food and fiber and the mobility of organisms and trade products cultural perspectives and information flows The magnitude and widespread nature of these changes pose serious challenges in managing the ecosystem services on which society depends Moreover many of these changes are strongly influenced by human activities so future patterns of change will continue to be influenced by society's choices and governance The purpose of this book is to provide a new framework for natural resource management a framework based on stewardship of ecosystems for human well being in a world dominated by uncertainty and change The goal of ecosystem stewardship is to respond to and shape change in social ecological systems in order to sustain the supply and opportunities for use of ecosystem services by society The book links recent advances in the theory of resilience sustainability and vulnerability with practical issues of ecosystem management and governance The book is aimed at advanced undergraduates and beginning graduate students of natural resource management as well as professional managers community leaders and policy makers with backgrounds in a wide array of disciplines including ecology policy studies economics sociology and anthropology
