Road To Tokyo World War II:

The High Road To Tokyo Bay — The AAF In The Asiatic-Pacific Theater [Illustrated Edition] Daniel Haulman, 2014-08-15 Includes over 10 photos and maps In early 1942 Japanese military forces dominated a significant portion of the earth's surface stretching from the Indian Ocean to the Bering Sea and from Manchuria to the Coral Sea Just three years later Japan surrendered having lost most of its vast domain Coordinated action by Allied air naval and ground forces attained the victory Air power both land and carrier based played a dominant role Understanding the Army Air Forces role in the Asiatic Pacific theater requires examining the context of Allied strategy American air and naval operations and ground campaigns Without the surface conquests by soldiers and sailors AAF fliers would have lacked bases close enough to enemy targets for effective raids Yet without Allied air power these surface victories would have been impossible The High Road to Tokyo Bay concentrates on the Army Air Forces tactical operations in Asia and the Pacific areas during World War II A subsequent pamphlet will cover the strategic bombardment of Japan Richard Tregaskis Ray E. Boomhower, 2021-11-15 In the late summer of 1942 more than ten thousand members of the First Marine Division held a tenuous toehold on the Pacific island of Guadalcanal As American marines battled Japanese forces for control of the island they were joined by war correspondent Richard Tregaskis Tregaskis was one of only two civilian reporters to land and stay with the marines and in his notebook he captured the daily and nightly terrors faced by American forces in one of World War II's most legendary battles and it served as the premise for his bestselling book Guadalcanal Diary One of the most distinguished combat reporters to cover World War II Tregaskis later reported on Cold War conflicts in Korea and Vietnam In 1964 the Overseas Press Club recognized his first person reporting under hazardous circumstances by awarding him its George Polk Award for his book Vietnam Diary Boomhower's riveting book is the first to tell Tregaskis's gripping life story concentrating on his intrepid reporting experiences during World War II and his fascination with war and its effect on the men who fought it The Origins of World War Two Robert Boyce, Joseph A. Maiolo, 2017-03-14 No issue in modern history has been more intensively studied or subject to wider interpretation than the origins of the Second World War A conflict involving three arguably four major aggressor Powers operating simultaneously but largely separately on two continents inevitably raises complex theories and debates Each participating power has its own history and each one must take account of various influences upon the behaviour of its soldiers and statesmen His wide ranging collection of original essays each by an international expert in their field covers all aspects of the subject and highlights the controversy that continues to characterise current thinking on the origins of the war Going beyond the usual Eurocentric approach Part I examines the roles of all seven of the Great Powers including Japan and the USA as well as the parts played by several of the lesser Powers such as Czechoslovakia Poland and China Part II contains chapters which explore key themes that cannot be fully understood within the context of any single country These themes include the role of ideology propaganda intelligence armaments economics diplomacy the neutral states peace movements and the social science approach to war Written in clear jargon free prose together these essays provide a comprehensive single volume text for students and teachers and are essential reading for all with an interest in the debates surrounding the causes of World War Two Road to Tokyo; World War II. Keith Wheeler,1979 History of U.S. Marine Corps Operations in World War II: Central Pacific drive United States. Marine Corps,1958

Communiques of General MacArthur Douglas MacArthur and His General Staff,2024-09-13 After defeat by Japanese invaders and a harrowing escape from the Philippines General Douglas MacArthur arrived in Australia in March 1942 Placed in charge of the newly created Southwest Pacific Area MacArthur was desperate to retain his new post so that he might reconquer the Philippines and in so doing reclaim his honor Thus began the daily issuance of communiques from his headquarters that related a grueling World War II campaign of more than a thousand days as Allied forces fought a relentless enemy from the northern shores of Australia to the heart of Manila Never before available in print this volume of communiques brings to life the regular updates issued to a public anxious for news of the great advance across the Southwest Pacific These daily pronouncements present not only a record of the campaign but also a master class of public relations management as MacArthur attempted to portray himself as the great hero deserving of enduring fame regardless of the truth prevailing on the battlefield Navy Medicine ,1995 The Turn of the Tide in the Pacific War Sean M. Judge,Jonathan M. House,2018-03-15 Midway through 1942 Japanese and Allied forces found themselves fighting on two fronts in New Guinea and the Solomon Islands These concurrent campaigns conducted between July 1942 and February 1943 proved a critical turning point in the war being waged in the Pacific as the advantage definitively shifted from the Japanese to the Americans Key to this shift was the Allies seizing of the strategic initiative a concept that Sean Judge examines in this book particularly in the context of the Pacific War The concept of strategic initiative in this analysis helps to explain why and how contending powers design campaigns and use military forces to alter the trajectory of war Judge identifies five factors that come into play in capturing and maintaining the initiative resources intelligence strategic acumen combat effectiveness and chance all of which are affected by political will His book uses the dual campaigns in New Guinea and the Solomon Islands as a case study in strategic initiative by reconstructing the organizations decisions and events that influenced the shift of initiative from one adversary to the other Perhaps the most critical factor in this case is strategic acumen without which the other advantages are easily squandered Specifically Judge details how General Douglas MacArthur and Admiral Chester Nimitz in designing and executing these campaigns provided the strategic leadership essential to reversing the tide of war whose outcome Judge contends was not as inevitable as conventional wisdom tells us The strategic initiative once passed to American and Allied forces in the Pacific would never be relinquished In its explanation of how and why this happened The Turn of the Tide in the Pacific War holds important lessons for students of military history and for future strategic leaders Air University Periodical Index ,1949 A Bibliography of Military Geography Eugene J. Palka,1988

This four volume document is designed to enhance scholarly research in the area of military geography and to serve as a reference tool. It is anticipated that this will meet the research needs of professors and students of military science, geography and history, along with members of the Armed Forces, government officials and planners. This bibliography is organized following the accepted scheme for military geography, utilizing three main categories: systematic, topical and regional. Volume I is a complete alphabetized list. Volume II is organized systematically. Volume III is organized topically and Volume IV collects regional sources.
