

Seven Basic Principles of Government

Popular Sovereignty	The principle that government gets its authority from the people, therefore people have a right to change or abolish their government.
Limited Government	The principle that government has only the powers that the Constitution gives it. Everyone, no matter how important, must obey the law.
Separation of Powers	The idea of limiting government power by dividing it among different branches of government.
Checks and Balances	Each branch of government has power to check, or limit, actions of the other branches.
Federalism	The principle of dividing power between the federal government and the states.
Republicanism	A form of government in which citizens elect representatives to carry out their will.
Individual Rights	Individual rights include freedom of speech, freedom of religion, and the right to trial by jury.

Principles Of Government

William Ewart Gladstone

Principles Of Government:

The New Constitutional Law of Kenya. Principles, Government and Human Rights Kiwinda Mbondenyei, Osogo Ambani, 2012 The golden thread that cuts across the various chapters of the book is the emphasis that good constitutions anchor certain tenets that have garnered recognition as hallmarks of democratic dispensation These hallmarks include the concept of separation of powers the doctrine of the rule of law constitutionalism and human rights These attributes have largely been secured by the 2010 Constitution Thus this book is expected to contribute to this new promise by making knowledge on the Constitution accessible through breaking down and contextualising its provisions It is certain to be useful to law and government students lawyers researchers and other persons who seek to understand the new constitutional order
