The Water Paradox Ed Barbier, 2019-02-26 A radical new approach to tackling the growing threat of water scarcity Water is essential to life yet humankind s relationship with water is complex For millennia we have perceived it as abundant and easily accessible But water shortages are fast becoming a persistent reality for all nations rich and poor With demand outstripping supply a global water crisis is imminent In this trenchant critique of current water policies and practices Edward Barbier argues that our water crisis is as much a failure of water management as it is a result of scarcity Outdated governance structures and institutions combined with continual underpricing have perpetuated the overuse and undervaluation of water and disincentivized much needed technological innovation As a result water grabbing is on the rise and cooperation to resolve these disputes is increasingly fraught Barbier draws on evidence from countries across the globe to show the scale of the problem and outlines the policy and management solutions needed to avert this crisis

Risk Assessment as a Tool for Water Resources Decision-Making in Central Asia Christopher M. Teaf, Bulat K. Yessekin, Mikhail Kh. Khankhasayev, 2004

Water resources both in terms of water quality and water quantity are of critical importance in planning for sustainable development in Central Asia and the Caucasus as well as in other parts of the world This NATO Advanced Research Workshop ARW entitled Risk Assessment as a Tool for Water Resources Decision Making in Central Asia was conducted on September 23 25 2002 in Almaty Kazakhstan The ARW addressed methods and approaches by which risk assessment methodology that has been developed in the United States Europe and elsewhere can be applied to environmental and water resource problems in Central Asia The stated goals of the ARW were to assess the existing state of knowledge in the context of potential applications of risk assessment tools to water resources and other environmental issues in Central Asia to identify research gaps and directions for future research in the area of water resources which may be addressed through the application of risk assessment tools to promote closer working relationships between the scientists and technical experts from Central Asia and the Caucasus as well as the scientists and technical experts from the United States and Europe Based on historical experiences of Central Asian scientists and their colleagues in other parts of the world there is a demonstrated need in the region to provide education training and technical assistance on environmental decision making tools including risk assessment
