Knowledge Production in Cold War Asia Yuka Tsuchiya Moriguchi, Shin Kawashima, Somei Kobayashi, 2025-04-01 From the end of the Second World War to the early 1970s new paradigms began to form in academic scientific and professional knowledge in various disciplines and fields not only in the United States but also in East Asia. Drawing on a wealth of archival documents from East Asia, Knowledge Production in Cold War Asia focuses on the building and rebuilding of these different forms of knowledge in or about East Asia during the first half of the Cold War. It explores how this newly constructed knowledge came to assume certain norms; professionals and bureaucrats of these countries tried to comply with and sometimes wrestled with. The essays within this collection explore a wide variety of this knowledge production state-centered promotions of construction and normalization of knowledge, the ways in which non-state actors were involved in the construction and normalization of knowledge, and how individuals and groups who resisted or protested the hegemonic knowledge were constructed by state or non-state actors. A distinctive look at the Cold War through the research and perspectives of scholars from East Asia, Knowledge Production in Cold War Asia insightfully highlights the role of knowledge production, normalization, and resistance in the Cold War era, contributing to a fuller understanding of international relations.

The Routledge Companion to American Journalism History Melita M. Garza, Michael Fuhlhage, Tracy Lucht, 2023-09-20 The Routledge Companion to American Journalism History revisits media history across forms, formats, and multiple fault lines including gender, ethnicity, race, and citizenship status. Original contributions highlight areas of journalism history in desperate need of further treatment with a special focus on diversity, equity, and accountability. Sections cover the early origins and development of journalism in the United States, pivotal moments and personalities in various strands of journalism, underrepresented groups and formats in journalism history, and key issues in doing journalism history. Authors aim to fill in the gaps left by traditional historical narratives by examining overlooked subjects such as labor reporting and overdue theoretical perspectives such as intersectionality. Collectively, the voices in this book offer a more inclusive paradigm for the field. Written by a range of recognized journalism scholars, both well-established and emerging, this collection offers a thought-provoking starting point for researchers and advanced students seeking a critical understanding of American journalism history as conceived in the current era. American Journalism and International Relations Giovanna Dell'Orto, 2013-03-29 American Journalism and International Relations argues that the American press disengagement from world affairs has critical repercussions for American foreign policy. Giovanna Dell'Orto shows that discourses created, circulated, and maintained through the media mold opinions about the world and shape foreign policy parameters. This book is a history of U.S. foreign correspondence from the 1840s to the present, relying on more than 2,000 news articles and twenty major world events from the 1848 European revolutions to the Mumbai terror attacks in 2008 Americans perceptions of other nations combined with pervasive and enduring understandings of the United States role in global politics act as constraints on policies Dell Orto finds that reductive media discourse as seen during the 1967 War in the Middle East or Afghanistan in the 1980s has a negative effect on policy whereas correspondence grounded in events such as during the Japanese attack on Shanghai in the 1930s or the dissolution of the Soviet Union in 1991 fosters effective leadership and realistic assessments
