is allowing us to live longer and fuller lives than ever before And for the most part that is good news But with changes in the way we understand medicine come changes in the way we understand death Once a familiar peaceful and gentle if sorrowful transition death has come to be something from which we shield our eyes as we prefer to fight desperately against it rather than accept its inevitability Dr Kathryn Mannix has studied and practiced palliative care for thirty years In With the End in Mind she shares beautifully crafted stories from a lifetime of caring for the dying and makes a compelling case for the therapeutic power of approaching death not with trepidation but with openness clarity and understanding Weaving the details of her own experiences as a caregiver through stories of her patients their families and their distinctive lives Dr Mannix reacquaints us with the universal but deeply personal process of dying With insightful meditations on life death and the space between them With the End in Mind describes the possibility of meeting death gently with forethought and preparation and shows the unexpected beauty dignity and profound humanity of life coming to an end Had Me a Real Good Time: The Faces Before During and After Andy Neill, 2011-03-31 Be Still Brian Heasley, 2023-08-22 For some finding the space to slow down seems impossible This book explores the rhythms of prayer and devotion available to every believer which show that quiet times don't need to be static for our hearts to be still Adapted from back cover
