D. Mokoena,1998-01-01 A manual that bridges the gap between pure grammar and practical speech A step by step guide that provides examples in Sesotho English and Afrikaans The book is aimed at both first and second language speakers of Sesotho and covers all aspects of grammer and has a detailed list of vocabulary Every chapter begins with an orientation to help the learner The pictorial vocabulary in Chapter 1 enables easy reference and visual associations Aspects of Sesotho

Language Acquisition Katherine Demuth,1983 Sesotho Grammar Source Wikipedia,2013-09 Please note that the content of this book primarily consists of articles available from Wikipedia or other free sources online Pages 25 Chapters Sesotho parts of speech Sesotho verbs Sesotho nouns Sesotho deficient verbs Sesotho concords Excerpt Grammar Verbs Orthography The Sesotho parts of speech convey the most basic meanings and functions of the words in the language which may be modified in largely predictable ways by affixes and other regular morphological devices Each complete word in the Sesotho language must comprise some part of speech There are basically twelve parts of speech in Sesotho The six major divisions are purely according to syntax while the sub divisions are according to morphology and semantic significance Qualificatives qualify substantives Predicatives signify an action or state connected with the substantive Descriptives describe qualificatives predicatives or other descriptives Conjunctives introduce or join up sentencesInterjectives are exclamations As a rule Bantu languages do not have any prepositions or articles In Sesotho locatives are inflected substantives and verb imperatives are treated as interjectives The division of the four qualificatives is dependent solely on the concords that they use Cardinals are nouns but are given a separate section below In form some parts of speech adjectives enumeratives some relatives some possessives and all verbs are radical stems which need affixes to form meaningful words others copulatives most possessives and some adverbs are formed from full words by the employment of certain formatives the rest nouns pronouns some relatives some adverbs all ideophones conjunctives and interjectives are complete words themselves which may or may not be modified with affixes to form new words Therefore the term word classes instead of the somewhat more neutral parts of speech would have been somewhat of a misnomer

QuantitativeQualificative There Umobitalk Makhetha John Nyetanyane,2017 The need to conserve the under resourced languages is becoming more urgent as some of them are becoming extinct natural language processing can be used to redress this Currently most initiatives around language processing technologies are focusing on western languages such as English and French yet resources for such languages are already available The Sesotho language is one of the under resourced Bantu languages it is mostly spoken in Free State province of South Africa and in Lesotho Like other parts of South Africa Free State has experienced high number of migrants and non Sesotho speakers from neighboring provinces and countries such people are faced with serious language barrier problems especially in the informal settlements where everyone tends to speak only Sesotho Non Sesotho speakers refers to the racial groups such as Xhosas Zulus Coloureds Whites and more in which Sesotho language is not their native language As a solution to this we developed a parallel corpus that has English as source and Sesotho as a target language and packaged it in UmobiTalk Ubiquitous mobile speech based learning translator UmobiTalk is a mobile based tool for learning Sesotho for English speakers The development of this tool was based on the combination of automatic speech recognition machine translation and speech synthesis
