Living Right Agnieszka Pasieka, 2024-11-12 Living Right offers an in depth examination of far right youth movements in Poland Italy and Hungary The protagonists include students and young entrepreneurs former skinheads construction workers bohemian musicians and rich kids from the upper class who have all found a nurturing community in far right groups While they focus on local action they are also part of a broader project with global ramifications Agnieszka Pasieka engages in intensive fieldwork in these communities particularly among members of the far right Polish movement National Radical Camp ONR the Italian neofascist movement Lealt Azione Loyalty Action or LA and the FedeRazione Federation which comprises over a dozen movements across Italy along with additional fieldwork among young Hungarian fascists Pasieka makes some startling and counterintuitive discoveries She observes that these groups embrace forms of civic engagement we tend to associate with left wing organizations and movements such as volunteerism in soup kitchens animal shelters and orphanages environmental activism and humanitarian missions to such places as the Balkans and the Middle East Moreover she finds that such groups adopt language that overlaps in significant ways with left leaning progressivism notably a critique of globalization consumerism capitalism mass culture and Americanization as well as a selective embrace of the welfare state so long as the benefits of public assistance are limited to white Christian compatriots Members of these youth groups are often enthusiastic but selective readers of modern social science and embrace notions of cultural autonomy cultural rights and diversity This language though buttresses an understanding of the world as made up of demarcated ethno cultural entities in which each entity should not mix with others Taken together her findings lead her to consider the far right's rejection of a hegemonic liberal order

Invective Discourse Simon Meier-Vieracker, Heidrun Kämper, Ingo Warnke, 2023-12-18 Invective phenomena with the purpose or effect of marginalization and exclusion of insult and debasement of discrimination and verbal aggression have long been in the focus of discourse analytical research Among the various linguistic disciplines that deal with invective communication discourse approaches have a particular analytical potential They shift the focus to discursive conditions and the effects of power relations which make invective practices possible in the first place and shed light on their contextual and epistemic embeddings The interdisciplinary volume is devoted to the forms formats and effects of invective communication in both contemporary and historical discourse constellation from different cultural contexts and in diverse media constellations The contributions from the fields of linguistics literature and sociology thus demonstrate the potentials of discourse analytical approaches in the study of invectives and invectivity

Returning to Reims Didier Eribon, 2013-09-13 A memoir and a meditation on individual and class identity and the forces that keep us locked in political closets On thinking the matter through it doesn't seem exaggerated to assert that my coming out of the sexual closet my desire to assume and assert my homosexuality coincided within my personal trajectory with my shutting myself up inside what I might call a class closet from Returning to Reims After his father dies Didier Eribon returns to his hometown of Reims and rediscovers the working class world he had left behind thirty years earlier For years Eribon had thought of his father largely in terms of the latter's intolerable homophobia Yet his father's death provokes new reflection on Eribon's part about how multiple processes of domination intersect in a given life and in a given culture Eribon sets out to investigate his past the history of his family and the trajectory of his own life His story weaves together a set of remarkable reflections on the class system in France on the role of the educational system in class identity on the way both class and sexual identities are formed and on the recent history of French politics including the shifting voting patterns of the working classes reflected by Eribon's own family which changed its allegiance from the Communist Party to the National Front Returning to Reims is a remarkable book of sociological inquiry and critical theory of interest to anyone concerned with the direction of leftist politics in the contemporary world and to anyone who has ever experienced how sexual identity can clash with other parts of one's identity A huge success in France since its initial publication in 2009 Returning to Reims received enthusiastic reviews in Le Monde Libération L'Express Les Inrockuptibles and elsewhere

The Life, Old Age, and Death of a Working-Class Woman Didier Eribon, 2025-03-25 A personal and philosophical reflection on the question of old age as a limit concept of Western thought A few years ago Didier Eribon's mother entered a retirement home Over the course of several months she lost her physical and cognitive autonomy and despite his resistance Eribon and his brothers were compelled to place her in a nursing home The doctor had warned that she'd rapidly decline And indeed refusing the degradation and humiliation of her condition Eribon's mother died just a few weeks later In The Life, Old Age, and Death of a Working-Class Woman Eribon furthers the archeological historical sociological political and personal reflection he began with Returning to Reims this time to look at the question of old age How does our society treat the elderly especially the very elderly What are the daily humiliations the elderly are forced to suffer What are the conditions at the end of life Threaded through an erudite engagement with the works of Simone de Beauvoir Annie Ernaux Albert Cohen Michel Foucault Norbert Elias and many others the question of old age is shown here as a limit concept of Western thought and political philosophy What is the place of bodies that can no longer assemble discuss freedom or protest How do we hear those who can no longer say us What does it mean not to project into the future Can the absolutely dependent speak for themselves and if not who can speak for them Eribon left behind his prejudiced working class family to become an intellectual Looking back on his relationship with his mother he transmutes his rage sadness and shame over her death into a portrait of being reunited beyond unbridgeable difference
