Rethinking Sustainability Power Knowledge And Institutions Evolving Values For A Capitalist World:

Rethinking Sustainability Jonathan M. Harris, 2003-03-05 DIV Provides important guideposts toward a more complete theory of sustainable human and economic development div It's Legal but It Ain't Right Nikos Passas, Neva R. Goodwin, 2010-02-22 It's Legal but It Ain't Right chronicles the abuse of power and privilege by businesses that defy the strictures of law and limits of regulation Contributors stretch the conceptual boundaries of corporate deviance across a wide range of industries at a time when standards of corporate social responsibility and good corporate citizenship are in flux William S. Laufer Professor The Wharton School of Business This delightful and serious book involves a matter I have long felt of first importance That is our tendency to make social truth and acceptance conform to personal or larger corporate interests On this I have written but gladly yield to this persuasive parallel No one concerned with literate informed and relevant as distinct from self-serving truth should miss It's Legal but It Ain't Right John Kenneth Galbraith This absorbing and well-written book of essays on the harmful consequences of legal industries skillfully illuminates the ways in which some corporate harms fail to be transformed into criminal law making and enforcement and offers cogent suggestions for better regulation in the public interest Dr Michael Levi Professor of Criminology Cardiff University Many U.S. corporations and the goods they produce negatively impact our society without breaking any laws We are all too familiar with the tobacco industry's effect on public health and health care costs for smokers and nonsmokers as well as the role of profit in the pharmaceutical industry's research priorities It's Legal but It Ain't Right tackles these issues plus the ethical ambiguities of legalized gambling the firearms trade the fast food industry the pesticide industry private security companies and more Aiming to identify industries and goods that undermine our societal values and to hold them accountable for their actions this collection makes a valuable contribution to the ongoing discussion of ethics in our time This accessible exploration of corporate legitimacy and crime will be important reading for advocates journalists students and anyone interested in the dichotomy between law and legitimacy Rethinking Sustainability Jonathan M. Harris, 2000 After the End of History Robert E. Lane, 2009-11-16 Robert E. Lane is one of the most prominent and distinguished critics of both the human impact of market economies and economic theory arguing from much research that happiness is more likely to flow from companionship enjoyment of work contribution to society and the opportunity to develop as a person than from the pursuit of wealth and the accumulation of material goods in market economies This latest work playfully personalizes the contrast through a dialogue between a humanistic social scientist Dessi and a market economist Adam It is all too rare to have the two sides talking to each other Moreover in Lane's witty and literate hands it is an open-minded and balanced conversation in which neither side has all the answers His unparalleled grasp of interdisciplinary social scientific knowledge is brought to bear on the largest questions of human life What genuinely makes people happy How should human society be organized to maximize the quality of human lives David O. Sears Professor of Psychology and Political Science UCLA Lane's deep knowledge of the sources of human happiness enables him to develop a powerful critique of economic theory Robert A Dahl Sterling Professor Emeritus of Political Science Yale University Robert E Lane is the Eugene Meyer Professor Emeritus of Political Science at Yale University His previous publications include The Loss of Happiness in Market Democracies 2000 and The Market Experience 1991

Helping People Help Themselves David Ellerman, 2009-04-15 David Ellerman relates a deep theoretical groundwork for a philosophy of development while offering a descriptive practical suggestion of how goals of development can be better set and met Beginning with the assertion that development assistance agencies are inherently structured to provide help that is ultimately unhelpful by overriding or undercutting the capacity of people to help themselves David Ellerman argues that the best strategy for development is a drastic reduction in development assistance The locus of initiative can then shift from the would be helpers to the doers recipients of development Ellerman presents various methods for shifting initiative that are indirect enabling and autonomy respecting Eight representative figures in the fields of education community organization economic development psychotherapy and management theory including Albert Hirschman Paulo Freire John Dewey and S ren Kierkegaard demonstrate how the major themes of assisting autonomy among people are essentially the same David Ellerman is currently a Visiting Scholar in the Economics Department at the University of California at Riverside
