Rich Forests Poor People Resource Control And Resistance In Java:

Rich Forests, Poor People Nancy Lee Peluso, 1992 Lots of Javanese peasants live alongside state controlled forest lands Because their legal access and customary rights to the forest have been limited they have been pushed toward illegal use of forest resources This book untangles the peasant and state politics which developed in Java Forest Politics David Humphreys, 2014-04-08 An important and timely book from the Foreword by Stanley Johnson A complete and absorbing history of a decade of intense international politics offers many insights for future negotiators of sustainable solutions Stephen Bass International Institute for Environment and Development Skillfully navigates the jungle of forest politics leaving us in no doubt that the verbal commitment to save the world's forests has yet to be translated into action on the ground The way forward must clearly lie in political commitments and international cooperation if forests are to continue to preserve life on Earth Francis Sullivan World Wide Fund for Nature Global deforestation and its attendant processes including soil degradation climate change and the loss of biological diversity emerged as international political issues during the 1980s prompting politicians to seek consensus on programmes and policies for the conservation and sustainable management of forests Yet global initiatives have been bedevilled by tensions between the North and South and between governments industry local communities and indigenous peoples Meanwhile rates of deforestation in the tropics are increasing and international political efforts are demonstrably failing Forest Politics carefully traces the evolution of international cooperation on forests from the inception of the controversial International Tropical Timber Organization and the failed Tropical Forestry Action Programme in the mid 1980s to the creation of the Intergovernmental Panel on Forests in the mid 1990s The book also provides a detailed analysis of the negotiating stances of the parties involved in the divisive negotiations that took place prior to the 1992 Earth Summit in Rio de Janeiro and the equally factious negotiations for the International Tropical Timber Agreement of 1994 It provides a fascinating insight into the nature of such processes illustrating the difficulties that arise when concepts such as global commons come into conflict with national sovereignty Complete with annexes of important political documents and making extensive use of primary source material and interviews with participants Forest Politics presents case studies of all the major forest negotiations over the last 13 years It is an essential reference point for policy makers environmental campaigners and students and required reading for all those who care about the future of the world's forests David Humphreys is Research Fellow in Global Environmental Change at the Open University Originally published in 1996 Which Way Forward Carol J. Pierce Colfer, 2010-09-30 Indonesia contains some of Asia's most biodiverse and threatened forests The challenges result from both long term management problems and the political social and economic turmoil of the past few years The contributors to Which Way Forward explore recent events in Indonesia while focusing on what can be done differently to counter the destruction of forests due to asset stripping corruption and the absence of government authority Contributors to the book include anthropologists economists foresters geographers human ecologists and policy analysts Their concerns include the effects of government policies on people living in forests the impact of the economic crisis on small farmers links between corporate debt and the forest sector and the fires of the late 1990s By analyzing the nation s dramatic circumstances they hope to demonstrate how Indonesia as well as other developing countries might handle their challenges to protect biodiversity and other resources meet human needs and deal with political change The book includes an afterword by Emil Salim former Indonesian Minister of State for Population and the Environment and former president of the Governing Council of the United Nations Environment Programme A copublication of Resources for the Future and the Center for International Forestry Research CIFOR and the Institute for Southeast Asian Studies ISEAS Taking Southeast Asia to Market Joseph Nevins, Nancy Lee Peluso, 2018-09-05 Recent changes in the global economy and in Southeast Asian national political economies have led to new forms of commodity production and new commodities Using insights from political economy and commodity studies the essays in Taking Southeast Asia to Market trace the myriad ways recent alignments among producers distributors and consumers are affecting people and nature throughout the region In case studies ranging from coffee and hardwood products to mushroom pickers and Vietnamese factory workers the authors detail the Southeast Asian articulations of these processes while also discussing the broader implications of these shifts Taken together the cases show how commodities illuminate the convergence of changing social forces in Southeast Asia today as they transform the terms practices and experiences of everyday life and politics in the global economy Understories Jake Kosek, 2006-12-08 A lively engaging ethnography that demonstrates how a volatile politics of race class and nation animates the infamously violent struggles over forests in the U S Southwest

Southwest Forests and Ecological History of Assam, 1826-2000 Arupjyoti Saikia, 2011-02-07 This book presents a comprehensive account of the transformation of Assam s forests and ecology from early nineteenth century to the end of the twentieth century It locates present day ecological conflicts in the colonial era when contest over forest land and resource began to take new shape Arupjyoti Saikia delineates how forest resources in Assam were mapped and intergrated with mechant capitalism since the early nineteenth century He shows how imperial forestry practices led to changes in traditional resource utilization patterns The book also examines the political economy of conservation practices It explores the question of law and conservation role of institutions and organizations and the changing role of the forests in imperial economy The book argues how the making of forest policy in the postcolonial period was defind by the complexities of the political matrix It discusses plantation silvicultural practices protection and regeneration of forests and livelihood practices The author also analyses public debates surrounding ecology and environmental changes in conservation practices after the 1980 Act

Governing the Provision of Ecosystem Services Roldan Muradian, Laura Rival, 2012-11-13 Founded on the core notion that we have reached a turning point in the governance and thus the conservation of ecosystems and the environment this edited volume features more than 20 original chapters each informed by the paradigm shift in the sector over the last decade Where once the emphasis was on strategies for conservation enacted through instruments of control such as planning and polluter pays legislation more recent developments have shown a shift towards incentive based arrangements aimed at those responsible for providing the environmental services enabled by such ecosystems Encouraging shared responsibility for watershed management developed in Costa Rica is a prime example and the various interests involved in its instauration in Java are one of the subjects examined here Fire Management Notes ,1997 Material Politics in Turkey Duygu Kasdogan,Ekin Kurtiç,Mehmet Ekinci,2025-01-23 This book explores the role of material entities and processes in shaping political lives in Turkey The unifying thread of its chapters is to challenge the rendering of the material world as a mere background to or object in politics revealing the formative role of material entities and processes in political processes of infrastructure construction knowledge production and technical expertise in Turkey Chapters explore the politics of material entities such as roads canals oilfields and mines as well as less elaborated material sites including military bases soccer fields and wetlands In the context of Turkey s ongoing politics of modernisation these interdisciplinary case studies from the fields of anthropology of infrastructure and extraction science and technology studies and environmental humanities provide important new analytical and theoretical approaches to understanding Turkish politics at local national and transnational scales The Politics of Environment in Southeast Asia Philip Hirsch,Carol Warren,2002-01-31 The Politics of Environment in Southeast Asia charts the emergence of the environment as an issue of public debate in the region Through a series of case studies the authors explore the coalescence of social forces around environmental issues the process of alliance formation and the role of state institutions media and NGOs in the complex political battles over resource allocation The volatile tensions between the winners and losers in this struggle for the environment will make Southeast Asia a focus of increased attention
